Urges Fire Observance Next Week

Chief John E. Corcoran urges observance of Fire Prevention Week, October 7 to the 13th.

"Carelessness and indifference to common fire dangers is mainly responsible for steadily rising fire losses," declared Fire Chief John E. Corcoran in an appeal to Newton residents for all-out participation in Fire Prevention Week, to be observed October 7-13 by proclamation of President Truman.

Fire losses last year totaled $688,460,000, second highest in the nation's history, Chief Corcoran pointed out. In addition, he said, 11,000 people were killed and 29,000 others were seriously injured or maimed. With losses of $375,194,000 reported for the first six months of this year, the fire chief said the 1951 total might even exceed the all-time peak of $711,114,000 recorded in 1948.

"Fire prevention is the responsibility of all," asserted Chief Corcoran. "Only by a conscientious effort to rid our homes and places of business of the ordinary hazards which cause most fires can we hope to cut down

Renovated House Gives Excellent Facilities

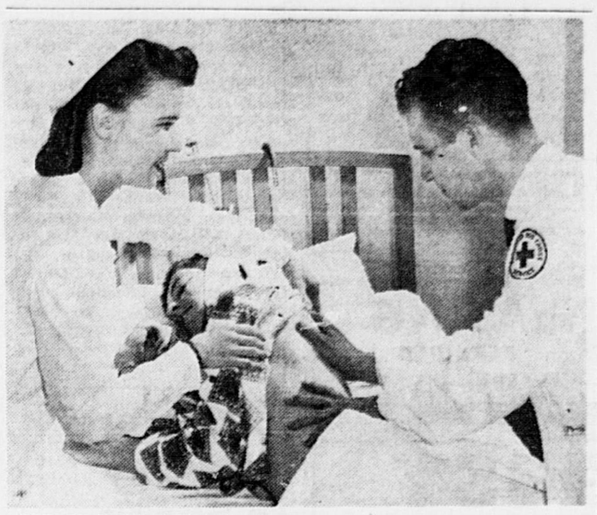

Although the Newton Highlands Branch of the Newton Free Library was in operation last week, the formal opening of the "new" library at 20 Hartford street was held Monday of this week, when "open house" was observed Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, with special exhibits and hostesses from prominent Newton Highlands organizations.

Monday afternoon the hostesses were Miss Sarah A. Thompson and Miss F. Mabel Hurd, representing the Newton Highlands CLSC and Mrs. Albert Walker of the League of Women Voters was hostess Monday evening. Tuesday the hostesses were Mrs. Edward Fletcher and Mrs. Harris W. Langley of the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D.A.R., in the afternoon and Mrs. Leonard T. Jenney and Mrs. Warren B. Kennedy of Newton Highlands Garden Club in the evening. Wednesday's hostesses were all members of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands and included Mrs. Kenneth J. Waite and Mrs. William Eagan, in the afternoon, and Mrs. Donald Whitney, and Mrs. Allston Budgell in the evening.

The Highlands Branch of the Newton Free Library was opened in the Hyde School in January, 1908, and its first branch librarian was Miss Mabel Singleton who held this office for 39 years until her death in 1947. In her memory her friends established a book collection and this includes books from her own library.

A major change has just taken place. Due to the pressure for classroom space, the School Committee requested the Board of Library Trustees to give up the library room at the Hyde School that it might be used as a classroom. After careful consideration of the various possibilities of maintaining and improving library service in Newton Highlands and consultation with the Newton Highlands Improvement

NURSE ELIZABETH SLAYTON helps Mr. George MacNair, of Newton Centre, give a patient a back-rub. Mr. McNair is a member of the first group of men in the country to complete the standard 80-hour Nurse's Aide training program given at Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Study of the group by American National Red Cross has resulted in approval for nation-wide training of similar groups.

Hospital Group Plan Authorized

National Red Cross Urges Its Adoption

An announcement to all chapters of the American Red Cross by National Red Cross headquarters in Washington, D. C., marks success for a local group of Red Cross workers at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital and with the announcement comes authorization to all interested chapters for active recruiting of similar groups of men wherever they can prove useful to the nation's hospitals.

Seven local men, four from Newton and three from Wellesley, were members of the first group of men ever to be granted permission to complete the standard 80-hour training course for nurse's aides. Approval of the program came only after prolonged evaluation and study by the national organization.

Underscoring the contribution that trained men can make to the nursing program in hospitals, Mrs. Robert W. Moore Jr., chairman of Volunteer Services of the Newton Chapter and a veteran of more than 21 years of active Red Cross work, states,

Urge Contributions To Aid Cost Of Halloween Parties

The Newton Chamber of Commerce, which has long actively participated in the preparations necessary for the smooth-running of the City's gigantic Hallowe'en celebration is again lending its invaluable cooperation to this annual civic enterprise conducted for more than 12,000 school children of all ages.

According to Rupert C. Thompson, the Chamber's secretary, this organization is again assuming the cost of soliciting donations from citizens and business houses throughout the city to help defray the expense of this mammoth event. While it is true that part of the cost of the Halloween parties is met by the small "token" fees all the children pay, there is still a vacuum which must be filled by direct appeal to individuals, merchants and manufacturers. This vital appeal, handled by the Chamber of Commerce, is made entirely by letters which emphasize that since Halloween is an all-city affair, it is preferable that great numbers of moderate contributions be received rather than a lesser number of large ones. "We can't however," said Mr. Thompson, "send letters to everyone. So I earnestly hope those not directly solicited will, nevertheless, share in this praiseworthy celebration, by vol-

World-Vision Missionary Conference Is Announced

The Immanuel Baptist Church of Newton announces its faculty of speakers for the Third Annual World-Vision Missionary Conference to be held the week of October 7 through 14. Advance folders indicate a vigorous eight day schedule that will see 20 outstanding speakers from 15 sections of the world address the 24 sessions of this unique conference.

This conference was started in 1949 by the pastor, Rev. Rev. Douglas B. MacCorkle and his able missionary committee, with a view to presenting Christians with up-to-the-minute reports on the progress of Christianity around the world. Having achieved notable success in the first two ventures of this kind, which the Immanuel Baptist Church has shared with the Western area of Greater Boston, the aim of this year's conference is to widen the vision of Christians in obedience of our Lord's command to "Go . . . into all the world and preach the Gospel."

The general theme of the conference this year is "The Cross The World Shall Sway."

Several outstanding films will be shown such as: "Japan Welcomes the Word," a recent Pocket Testament League release; "The 38th Parallel," a 1951 picture produced by World Vision Inc.; "Three Miles High" (Behind the Ice Curtain of Tibet), produced by World-wide Evangelization Crusade. These films will be supplemented by films on Africa, Japan, India, China and various full-colored slides on lands from which the speakers come.

The staff of speakers includes such missionary statesmen as E. A. Shank, Director of South Africa General Mission, who will direct the conference; Elmer V. Thompson, Director of the West Indies Mission; Alfred Kunz, Director of the Pocket Testament League; and Bob Williams, famous missionary to Borneo.

Other speakers for the conference include Rev. Don Hulin, missionary to India, under the Evangelical Alliance Mission and organizer of Youth For Christ in India; Rev. Leonard Brain of South Africa General Mission.

Editor of Graphic to Be Speaker

Newton Lodge of Elks will observe National Newspaper Week at its regular meeting, which will be held at the clubhouse next Thursday night.

John W. Fielding, Editor of The Newton Graphic, has been invited to speak at this meeting and he will take as his subject: "The Role of the Suburban Newspaper."

Each year Elks Lodges throughout the country devote a night to a consideration of the important role played by newspapers in the life of the public and the necessity of maintaining a free press in this country.

Prior to the talk, a supper will be served for the membership of the Lodge and following the address, the regular meeting of the Lodge will be held.

Civil Defense to Soon Issue Two Important Fliers

Tuesday the Administrative Services of the Newton Civil Defense will make its debut as an integral working part of the Department of Civil Defense. This first chore is to distribute two important fliers to every home in the city. One is "Air Raid Instructions" published by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. This lists clearly and concisely the type of signals used for the warning alert and the all-clear in case of enemy air raid and what to do in various situations when these are sounded. These fliers should be posted conspicuously in each home for the safety of the family.

The second flier listing Red Cross Home Nursing courses is also of importance to each household in the city. To quote Mrs. Ruth B. Taylor, Director of Red Cross Nursing Services, "It is estimated that of the casualties surviving the first day following an atomic bombing, about one-third would have to receive care in emergency medical stations, homes, or shelters. Nursing care in the home will be absolutely a home and community problem and dependent on the ability of individual families to provide care. With the possibility of thousands of burns and injuries and infected wounds to be dressed daily and bed care to be given, home nursing skills and understanding by our adults has become an urgent necessity. It is home nursing or else—home nursing or nothing! The time is now. The need is great. The responsibility for yourself and community is your job."

USO and Defense Fund Included In '52 Red Feather Campaign

USO and the United Defense Fund are included in the 1952 United Red Feather Campaign which starts in the Residential Division in Newton, October 25, and which for other divisions is now under way. Of the Metropolitan Boston total goal of $7,275,000, $1,300,000 more must be raised than a year ago. Of this amount, $505,000 will go to USO USO Camp Shows, services to civilians in defense impact areas, and American Aid to Korea. Of Newton's goal of $320,000, a proportionate amount will go to these agencies.

"One thousand seven hundred and sixteen Newton youths in the Armed Services are now being served by the USO," states Newton Campaign Chairman Robert R. Walker, "and I am confident that Newton citizens will add to their subscriptions this year additional amounts to provide funds for these very important defense services and to meet the additional increased cost of operating our Red Feather services."

The present week is an active one in the local Red Feather Campaign. Tuesday the Mercantile Men's Division leaders met with the Division Chairman, Dwight Colburn, at Brae Burn Country Club, and this noon (Thursday) the committee members of the Manufacturing Division are meeting with Chairman William F. Wingard, also at Brae Burn. This afternoon at 3 o'clock the Captains of the Public Schools Division will meet with S. Everett Pollard, Chairman, at the Trade School, and at 4:30 p. m.,

Junior Aid Votes to Buy Respirator for Hospital

If your child should get polio, if your husband should break his neck in an automobile accident, or perhaps get a certain kind of brain injury, the Newton-Wellesley Hospital will soon be better prepared to care for them. The present respirator, or Iron Lung at the Hospital is more than 25 years old. It has become obsolete and unreliable. This was the second respirator ever built, and can not be depended upon in an emergency, which is, of course, just when workable equipment may be the difference between life and death. Respirators are used for cases other than polio.

For this reason, the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Junior Aid at its first meeting of the year, last week, voted unanimously to purchase immediately a new $1600 respirator for the Hospital. A gift of $600 was given as a down-payment, with the balance pledged by the Junior Aid. Also given was approximately $200 for other badly needed equipment such as noiseless suction-pumps, etc. Dr. Hamilton, Director of the hospital, will purchase the equipment through hospital sources.

Dr. Herbert G. Dunphy, noted surgeon, gave a most informative talk on cancer. This was the first of a series of medical lectures. Dr. Dunphy told of the need for complete medical check-ups periodically, particularly after the age of 40. He explained why he felt that the more we knew about cancer the less we need fear it. He also told about the diagnosis and treatment.

Mrs. George Prather of the Senior Hospital Aid invited talent to help with the coming show to be given jointly by the Junior and Senior Hospital Aids.

Book Reviews by Margaret Bailey Tims to Be Resumed

In these streamlined days that make it almost possible "to make a meal in a minute" we go a step further by being able to assimilate four books in one hour.

This is what happens when Margaret Bailey Tims, known for her sparkling and scintillating comments on current best sellers, inaugurates her fall series of Book Talks at St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls, October 11 and continuing the second Thursday of each month thereafter at 10:15 a.m.

literary feast when, by simply sitting quietly and listening, one became acquainted with the personal life of Florence Nightingale, her years at home, her idiosyncrasies, her family wealth, each a side other than that of nurse with which most of us were satisfied because we knew so little. Mrs. Tims' audience also learned of Henry Gross and his Dowsing Rod a true story written by Kenneth Roberts who has made the Divining Rod a vital issue at home and in parts far afield. The life of Martin Luther was described in terms that were human and satisfying and many other biographies were brought to life in a manner both startling and unexpected.

However, this reviewer does not specialize in biography but varies her titles with adventure "Operation Cicero," a spell-binder; "Merchant of the Ruby," "The Adventurer" and others. Music was included as in the story of Boston's own Symphony Hall and "My Life in Music" by John Erskine; romance was the key note in the tender and poignant "Operation Heartbreak" and interest was further sustained in satire, philosophy and messages for the spirit.

A preview of three of the four books included in Mrs. Tims' first Review Thursday October 11 discloses that each is at the top of the list and will give the listener a feeling that she is among the "avant garde" when a glance at the Book Section of the New York Times or Saturday Review of Literature has previously sufficed.

The much discussed and well received "The Sea Around Us" by Rachel Carson . . . the colorful life of the English statesman Disraeli which its author, Hesketh Pearson has titled "Dizzy" and a thought provoking suggestion brought to us by Frank Laubach titled "Wake Up" or Blow Up" comprise three of the four books covered. Book lovers will find the coffee period pleasant and the review that follows rich and rewarding.

A Living Example

In recent years there has been much written and spoken about the need for tolerance and the crushing of intolerance in this country.

Laudable as the purpose has been and as frequently as words have been written and uttered about the need, it has remained for the members of the Unitarian Church in West Newton to actually make a living example of the spirit of tolerance and co-operation.

This week the members of that church turned over to the congregation of Temple Shalem, the use of its church in order to accomodate all of the Temple's congregation who observed Rosh Hashonah and would have been unable to do so due to the lack of seating accommodations at the Temple.

This action typifies a true spirit of tolerance, co-operation and fellowship and the members of the Unitarian Church in West Newton have set a living example for others to follow and live up to in an era when tolerance, cooperation and fellowship is so sorely needed for the survival of mankind.

Nature Best Artist

Autumn foliage in the next few weeks promises to be the most brilliant in years. The foliage is thick and lush. And already warm sunny days followed by cool nights (with temperatures in the low 40's) have brought a riot of colors to trees.

Ultra-violet rays absorbed during sunny days transform, in the cool of the night, the green leaves into riotously rich pigments of golds, scarlets, crimson and bronze. When the days are overcast, the Fall color parade is dull, with yellows predominating. Autumn colors, contrary to popular belief, do not depend upon frost.

If you take pictures of trees this Fall, or if you merely drive in the country to enjoy the mosaic of foliage, or if you're planning to plant some trees on your property, you'll want this color guide to the trees.

The sugar maple outdoes all other trees. It combines the most brilliant oranges, the richest crimsons, the most riotous scarlets, the clearest yellow into a picture of awe.

The reds hit the eye next. The red maple is robed in rich crimson, sometimes a winey red. The dogwood has a deep crimson all its own. The scarlet oak is burning scarlet, the red oak deep brown red to bright orange. Sweetgum leaves are a deep winey crimson.

Sassafras trees wave blood-orange banners blotched with vermillion. Sumac leaves are like leaping flames along a highway. Black gums are deep burgundy. Sorrel trees show off gorgeous scarlets and crimson.

Oaks wear war paints, brown and tan, majestically. Hickories tend toward soft, dull yellows and leathery browns.

The redbud and gingko wrap themselves in a brilliant yellow, a tulip tree in gladdening gold, a beech in golden light. Gray birches, with their pretty white legs carry soft gold in their hair. The first hues of pale yellow of a sycamore soon turn to brown. A willow yellow is flashier than the dull yellow of a Norway maple, but lacks the clearness of the yellow of a trembling aspen or a silver maple.

A mountain ash has a color all its own, a royal robe of purple or tints of mauve. When the color parade is on, no two days are alike in brilliance. The tints and hues seem to change almost hour by hour as the leaves of trees reach maturity.

MTA Apparently About to Boost Fares . . . Eisenhower Will Have to Speak Up Soon . . .

Shiny new turnstiles, which will operate when a coin or token of the proper size is deposited in them, have been and are being installed at the MTA subway stations in downtown Boston.

While nobody has come right out and said so yet, we suspect that this means that the MTA is getting ready for another fare boost and that when it comes time for the passengers of the road to purchase tokens, they will find them priced at 20 cents.

The other conclusion we have reached is that the MTA masterminds have decided, after trying it for almost two years, that the idea of open coin boxes at the busiest terminals is something less than a master stroke.

That particular conclusion is a fairly obvious one because if it was a practicable system to have passengers drop 15 cents in a coin box it would be just as good an idea to have them depositing 20 or 25 cents.

Of course, it has been apparent to almost any MTA rider for a long time that it was a very poor system, and it might well have been discarded long ago except that the gentlemen who direct the MTA destinies presumably don't get to ride very often on the line and only hear second-hand about such things.

In the first place, a maximum of coin boxes was needed at the rush hours, with an attendant on duty to see that the customers dropped in the proper amount, and between the rush hours there wasn't much to keep the attendants busy.

Quite often the attendant had his back turned to the coin box or was engaged in an animated conversation with some other MTA employee so that the passenger was left on his honor to toss in the right amount.

Now, after discarding the turnstiles which formerly operated when a dime was deposited in them, the MTA officials in a burst of genius are installing new ones which will work on tokens.

It doesn't exactly require any genius on our part either to forecast a higher fare in the not too distant future. The MTA probably will lose about $5,000,000 this year and will face an even heavier loss in 1952 which will have to be made up in taxes paid by the already over-burdened homeowner.

The law says, in effect, that the MTA trustees shall fix whatever fare is necessary to place the road on a self-supporting basis. Up to now the MTA officials have maintained that a fare increase wouldn't do much good because fewer people then would ride on the system and there would be little rise in the over-all revenue.

There undoubtedly is some sound logic behind that reasoning, but it also is fairly evident that the cities and towns aren't going to be very happy about increasing their tax rates $3 or $4 next year to bail out the MTA and that something must be done to solve the road's troublesome financial problems.

A good many prominent Republican leaders are beginning to hint quite broadly that if General Dwight D. Eisenhower wants the G.O.P. nomination for President next year, he had better speak up and say so pretty soon and not be too coy about it.

Several of the Republican chieftains have intimated that they are willing to wait until about the first of the year but not long after that and that if Eisenhower isn't in a position by then to say whether he is or isn't running they'll have to look elsewhere for their candidate.

Their attitude is fairly understandable. Few politicians want to place themselves in a position where they suddenly discover that they are backing a candidate who isn't going to run, and just as few wish to be left without a bandwagon to board.

The opponents of Senator Robert A. Taft also realize that if the contest for the Republican nomination remains a two-man race between Taft and General Eisenhower and that Eisenhower at the last moment removes himself from the picture, there'll be little, if any, way of stopping Taft.

Eisenhower's actual attitude toward the Presidential race becomes a little more vague and confused with each passing day because just about every politician who comes home from Paris has a different report and a new idea on the situation.

One observer pointed out this week that even if Eisenhower didn't want the Presidency and had no intention whatever of running, it would hurt his present program for him to say so. That undoubtedly is true, but it also is a fact that Eisenhower might run for President in order to carry forward his program.

Republican members of the United States Senate are in something of an unusual predicament in the current controversy over Wisconsin's Senator Joseph R. McCarthy.

There is a growing impatience with McCarthy's tactics of making allegations by name in the Senate only, where he is immune to lawsuit for slander.

Most members of his own party feel that he blundered badly last June when he charged that General George C. Marshall was connected with a communist "conspiracy." They consider that a ridiculous statement completely unsupported by facts.

But they also have a very healthy respect for the political influence wielded by McCarthy who is credited with being primarily responsible for the defeat of several Senators last November.

Senator William Benton of Connecticut, who is pressing a move for action against McCarthy in the upper chamber of Congress, has denounced him in what comes pretty close to being the most vehement language ever used by one Senator against another.

He accused McCarthy of "calculated falsehood and deceit," "corruptibility and mendacity," and "gross irresponsibility."

There is no chance whatever that McCarthy will be expelled from the Senate, though a good many of his critics would like to see that happen. That, however, would take a two-thirds vote. Benton would settle for a vote of censure which is within the realm of possibility.

This still poses a tricky question for the G.O.P. Senators. They don't want to vote against censuring McCarthy and by so doing endorse him. It also is embarassing to vote against a fellow Republican. Some of them may remain silent and do nothing.

Spotlight on the Newtons

By RALPH AND TUNNI COOLIDGE

The picture of a man at his hobby is an inspiring one, especially if the man happens to be 31 year old Walter A. Maguire of Newtonville, and the hobby, leathercraft.

Wally, as his friends call him, hand-carves original designs on leather. This is infinitely more difficult than hand-tooling, but more elegant.

He creates such useful items as book covers, wallets, picture album covers, coasters, knife sheaths, and pipe holders that are designed to fit into belts. The lucky womenfolk in his family get something different in handbags; the men are recipients of his belts.

This ex-G. I. intends to make a career of leathercraft. He has studied for 2 years with Mr. Van Dell, of Medford. "Leathercraft has so many possibilities, there's a long road ahead; I expect I'll always be studying some phase of leather-work," says Wally, with a patient grin.

He gets much of the latest information from Colorado, and Texas, great leathercraft centers. Cowhide or calfskin are used. Tools used in this craft are innumerable. They fill many drawers, cabinets, and hand stitched tool holders that line Wally's work-bench.

A completed item is the result of many stages of workmanship. The design, which will be later transferred to leather, is first worked out on paper.

The plain leather must be soaked for 15 minutes in water. (Wally soaks his leather and keeps it wrapped in a towel overnight; then it's ready for work the next day).

The design is traced on the now pliable leather. Now for the carving. This is where the craftsman turns artist. An intricate design requires deft hands. The background is important too. Wally sometimes dyes the background to bring out his design.

The next stage is to apply a finish. He usually "lacquers," or "antiques."

Now the article must be laced, or stitched together. Wally is still waiting for a special sewing machine! now stitches by hand. He straddles his "stitching horse" clamps the article, and expertly works the needle through the leather.

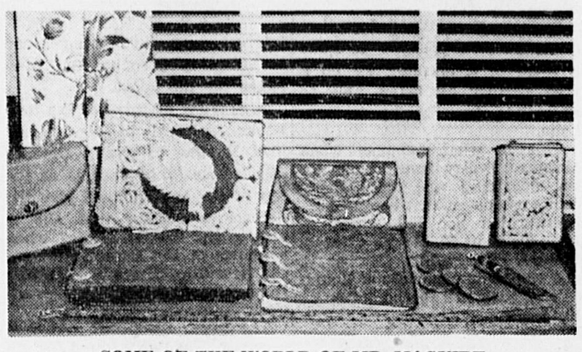

Wally came by his hobby the "hard way." Staff Sgt. Maguire was wounded in Northern Luzon, in April, 1945, after serving 3 years in the South Pacific. He received the Soldier's Medal for Heroism in New Ginea. He first studied leathercraft in Cushing General Hospital. When he was released in September of 1947, he was determined to further his knowledge of leathercraft.

While in the hospital, he completed designs for a home and workroom. A local contractor, Douglas Corrigan, Jr., bulldozed these plans into reality. Now Wally may drive his specially-equipped car into his garage, and roll his wheel-chair up a ramp into the kitchen. The house has no thresholds. This permits him to roll freely about the house. The doors slide into the walls; this is not only practical for Wally, but space-saving as well. His work-room is a model of efficiency. Everything is at finger-tip height.

Wally was married Sept. 8, 1945, in the Chapel at McGuire Hospital, in Richmond, Va. His wife, Mary, is his ardent admirer of his ingenuity. She is also his constant companion; that is, excepting when he goes fishing, or plays basketball.

He plays on the New England Paraplegic Team, which recently won the National Paraplegic Championship, in basketball. Sports are an old story to Wally. His scrap-book holds a 1938 picture of his basketball team at Newton High, where he also played football.

The sporting spirit that "carried the ball" for Newton, and "carried the gun" for his country, makes Wally Maguire a credit to his fellow men. A hero in time of war, he is truly an inspiration in labors of peace.

Parke Snow's Celebrates Its 69th Birthday Sale

Again this year, Parke Snow's celebrates its birthday with a store-wide, nine-day sale, featuring unusually low prices. Parke Snow's buying staff has been preparing for this sale for many weeks, scouring the markets for timely, wanted merchandise. Every department in the store is represented in the sale.

Parke Snow's has a long record of dependable service to the community. Founded in 1882, by Mr. Parke Snow, a young Manchester, N. H., man, the original store was located on Washington street, near Dover street, in Boston. This small, thriving dry goods business was moved in the nineties to Harvard square, Cambridge. In 1902, Mr. Parke Snow opened his first department store in Davis square, Somerville.

In 1919 the business was incorporated, Mr. Parke Snow retired, and Mr. Charles A. Whipple, of Lexington, a former William Filene's Sons Company executive, assumed the management, at first as vice president and general manager. Now, for many years, Mr. Whipple has been the corporation's president and treasurer.

After 1919 the business began to grow more rapidly, and a number of new stores were added gradually, until today there are nine stores in the group, and the volume of business and number of customers has increased to approximately 60 times what it was when the business was incorporated in 1919. During the years since 1919, many of the stores have been increased in size by the addition of new selling space, or by moving to larger quarters. All of the stores have been modernized; new lighting, new fixtures, new selling equipment installed; many building improvements made.

Parke Snow's has long operated stores in Somerville, Fitchburg, Roslindale, Waltham, and Gardner. In August 1949, the completely modern Wakefield store was added; in May, 1951, the Norwood store was opened; and in August, 1951, the new store in Newton Centre was added. The corporation also operates, as a wholly owned subsidiary, the old established department store of William G. Webber Company, in Salem, Mass., which it acquired in 1935, when it was then fifty years old.

Official headquarters of the corporation are in the Parke Snow Building at 724 Main street, Waltham, which houses the executive and buying offices and the warehouse.

Mrs. Margaret Wanberg, who has managed the Newton Centre store since it was opened in August of this year, has long been associated with Parke Snow, Inc., and the retail department store business. She came to Newton Centre from the Waltham store, where she had been assistant manager for many years.

Mrs. Wanberg reports that this year a special effort has been made to bring customers wanted, high quality merchandise, in many cases impossible to duplicate once quantities are depleted, at the lowest prices of the year.

Urges Care In Driving

—o—

Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Rudolph F. King, and Chief of Police Philip Purcell of Newton Police Department, in a joint release today said, "Motorists and pedestrians must revise their driving practices to meet one hour more of darkness brought about when Daylight Saving ended last Sunday, September 30, 1951.

"The rush hour peak load of traffic flow will be hurrying homeward in the early dusk of evening. The adjustment from daylight driving to the deceptive shadows of early evening is difficult for many drivers.

"Everyone is hurrying home after a tiring day," commented Registrar King and Chief Purcell. "Careless pedestrians dodge through the shadows. Every driver must be alert until his eyes become adjusted to this sudden change from daylight to dark. We hope that tired drivers impatient to get home will not cause an increase in pedestrian accident frequency."

Mail Parcels Now to Men Overseas

Plans for sending Christmas parcels to our armed forces overseas should be made now, according to postal officials. With thousands of our military stationed in both Europe and the Pacific the problem of movement and delivery of these Christmas gifts is a substantial one. The following regulations have been issued with respect to the mailing of these gifts and greetings to U. S. forces overseas.

Time of Mailing: Parcels for Navy and Marine Corps personnel in remote areas should be mailed not later than October 15. Parcels for Japan, Korea and the islands in the Pacific should be mailed October 15th but definitely not later than November 1. Parcels for all other overseas destinations should be deposited by Nov. 15th.

Size and Weight: The weight limit is 70 pounds, 100 inches length and girth combined. However, parcels for A.P.O.'s 124, 125, 147 and 179, c/o Postmaster, New York are limited to 50 pounds.

Preparation: Heavy double-thick cartons should be used and tied with strong cord or rope. Gummed tape is not acceptable alone. Be sure contents are well cushioned.

Prohibited Articles: Perishable foods, matches of all kinds, lighter fluids, liquors and intoxicants. Cigarettes and other tobacco products are prohibited for many A.P.O.'s located in Austrial England, France, Germany, Italy and Trieste. This is a very important prohibition. Consult your local postoffice for A.P.O. numbers before including cigarettes and other tobacco products.

Postage: Domestic parcel post rates will apply from postoffice where mailed to postoffice in care of which parcel is addressed. Air mail articles not exceeding 8 ounces—6 cents per ounce. Air parcels over 8 ounces chargable at rate of 80 cents per pound.

Addressing: Use ink or typewriter. Do not use pencil. Print directly on wrapper. Labels not generally acceptable. Sales slips of stores not acceptable. Place a duplicate copy of address inside package along with list of contents. Address must be complete including full first name, grade, service number, branch of service, organization, A.P.O. or F.P.O. number and postoffice through which mail is to be routed.

Christmas Cards: Cards prepaid at first-class rate to go by surface means should be mailed by Nov. 15th. If to be flown overseas by Dec. 1.

Registry Insurance: Christmas gift parcels may be insured. Valuable letters or gifts may be registered.

Money Orders: Gifts of money should be sent by U. S. Money Orders. Many countries prohibit importation of U. S. currency. U. S. Postal Money Orders can be cashed at all A.P.O. or F.P.O.'s.

baby shoes, dickie birds and anything else that might be attached to the inside of the windshield to interfere with the operator's vision must also be removed.

Newton motorists are urged to have their cars inspected immediately and not wait until the last minute to do so. New inspection stickers must be on all cars before November 1.

Male Nurses—

"We are very proud that the Newton and Wellesley Chapters of Red Cross have been given this opportunity to participate in this major new venture. For some time we have felt that there was a real place for men volunteers in our Nurse's Aides picture. This first group of men has demonstrated exceptional ability in grasping the principles of nursing techniques. Their instructress, Mrs. Daphne Meserve, R.N., has said that many of them even make better beds than many of her women students. Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, Director of Newton-Wellesley Hospital and Miss Myrtice L. Fuller, R.N., Director of Nursing at the hospital, have both been most enthusiastic in their endorsement of the activities of this first group."

Said Dr. Hamilton recently, "The well-remembered Waltham explosion disaster which sent some 28 hideously burned men to us for emergency treatment served first to point up the need for trained volunteer personnel. At that time we were the grateful recipients of many hours of volunteer assistance and Red Cross Nurse's Aides proved invaluable in lightening a staggering work load which had suddenly been thrust upon us. Realizing that any enemy attack upon us or nearby Boston would produce an immediate and greatly amplified demand for our services we began to make plans for disaster in conjunction with the Disaster Committee of Red Cross and with Civil Defense. We soon saw there was a serious need for male volunteers to help with some of the heavier duties involved in nursing. Men could lift and carry, could set up heavy oxygen equipment, could help in emergency treatment stations, could help supervise mentally disturbed patients. But any group of men would be much more valuable to us if they had received some formal training. In this way the hospital would know what to expect of the volunteer and the volunteer would know what the hospital expected of him. From the enthusiastic reports received from floor nurses, we are sure that many other hospitals could use similar groups to good advantage. We have attempted to incorporate this new group into our patient care program at a level above those duties ordinarily performed by our orderlies. The men help our nurses change bedding on seriously ill patients who cannot move by themselves; they have already given thousands of back-rubs; they help us give out nourishments; they help set up oxygen equipment and drainage equipment under supervision; they help with orthopedic patients and those who are in traction devices; they take patients to and from the operating room and X-Ray and help hold them in position while various procedures are being performed; some of them work in our emergency ward and help provide supervised emergency treatment for our patients. Without exception they have shown themselves capable of taking direction and accepting their own limitations. They realize that their job is to supplement the efforts of our professional staff."

Mrs. Meserve, instructor of this pilot group, stressed the morale value that the men bring to the hospital. "Such a cheerful, willing group of workers is bound to reflect on the patient's feelings. There are a number of duties which men can best perform for men. Many of our patients wait for the male aide to give him a shave or a rub or a clean bed. Children respond particularly well to the men, seeming to recognize an almost parental authority. Disoriented patients react well to the presence of the men and they can be of great help with those who are temporarily clouded mentally."

That Mrs. Meserve was popular with her class was attested to by the fact that the members of the group presented her with an oil painting at a party following their graduation exercises. Mrs. Meserve is the widow of Dr. Edward Meserve, who was a member of the staff at Newton-Wellesley Hospital. She was one of the first to instruct nurse's aide classes under the direction of the Newton Chapter of the Red Cross. Altogether some 26 classes of Nurse's Aides have received their training at the hospital and 367 graduates of these classes have contributed 131,491 hours of work to the hospital. Since the inception of the Nurse's Aide training program at the hospital in 1941 women from Newton and Wellesley chapters have worked continuously at the hospital. Mrs. Kenneth Craft has contributed over 3000 hours as a volunteer Nurse's Aide.

The group was recruited by Mr. Robert W. Walker, son of Mr. Clifford H. Walker, a former president of the hospital.

Members of the pilot men's group are: Mr. Stanley Harunk of Wellesley, Mr. William Whitcomb of Wellesley, Mr. Joseph Montanari of Wellesley, Mr. E. Graham Bates of Newton, Mr. Will Wilton, Mr. George MacNair and Mr. Robert R. Walker, all of Newton.

A new group of men is being actively recruited for training at Newton-Wellesley Hospital. All interested men between the ages of 25 and 50 may receive information about the program by contacting Mrs. Joseph MacDonald, Nurse's Aide chairman in Newton at DEcatur 2-0293 or Mrs. Arthur Baldwin at WEllesley 5-4152.

Library—

Council, the recommendation was made to the Mayor and Board of Aldermen that the children's library service be continued in its room on the basement floor of the Hyde School and that the Dr. Frederick Keith house be purchased and renovated for branch library purposes. Dr. Keith lived at 20 Hartford street for a half century, the house is well built, there is a good sized yard and it is located just at the edge of the business district. The cost of the property, including complete renovations, is just over twenty thousand dollars.

The "new" branch library is for library service to adults and is arranged as follows: on the first floor, a circulation desk room, a reference room, non-fiction room and fiction. There are as many books on the first floor as there were in the adult room in the Hyde School. On the second floor there is a periodical reading room, a study room with a collection of standard literature, an alcove containing the Mabel Singleton collection, and a "Committee Room" for community use.

The house has hardwood floors, abundant natural light and with the change from doors to arches on the first floor, is well adapted to library use.

Contributions—

untarily mailing their contributions, no matter how small, to the Newton Chamber of Commerce, Newtonville 60, making checks payable to Warren W. Oliver, who is again serving as the Halloween Committee's treasurer. In asking all citizens to lend their support, I should like to point out that the parties are proving their worth in many ways, principally in that they're actually teaching young people the true meaning of citizenship. And that, as every thoughtful man and woman must realize is of immeasurable long-range benefit to Newton."

Already hundreds of committee members, all over the city, are busily planning programs for the 240 neighborhood parties, functioning under the spirited leadership of Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, Supervisor of Recreation, who has, since the parties began eleven years ago, dynamically filled the chairmanship of the Program Committee. Mrs. Hovgaard announces that reports from Building Chairmen are now coming to her office, indicating that some committees have lost no time in getting their planning under way. The following are among the preliminary reports of progress:

Mr. John Ham, building chairman of the Oak Hill Memorial School parties, who is being assisted by Julian Rifkin, co-chairman, states children of grades 1 to 6 will participate, and that the programs include movies, judging of costumes, games, chamber of horrors, and refreshments. Committee members are Mrs. Jack Batten, Mrs. C. Farrell Galloway, Mrs. Charles Murphy and Mrs. Ernest D'Innocenzo.

The Carr School parties, Newtonville, under the chairmanship of William O'Connell, will be attended by some 300 children, from kindergarten through 6th grade. There will be a chamber of horrors for the 5th and 6th graders; other events comprise games with prizes, cartoons, movies, stunts of various kinds, possibly a magician or midget entertainer, and, of course, refreshments. Besides Mr. O'Connell, committee members are: Mrs. Winslow Auryansen, Mrs. Lermond Simonds, Mrs. William O'Connell, Mrs. William Baker, Mrs. George S. McManus, Mrs. Keith Smith, Mrs. Raymond Ilg, Mrs. Arthur H. Dexter, Mrs. Albert Porter, Mrs. Thomas Stuart, Mrs. William O'Mara, Mrs. Martin Edman, Mrs. Anthony Gatti, Mrs. J. Carey, Mrs. Francis Dahl, Mrs. Evald Swanson and Mrs. Ralph Scott.

Mrs. Lawrence V. Eaton, chairman, and Mrs. Clarence Drayton, co-chairman, who head up the Angier School celebrations, for kindergarteners through 6th graders, report that Mr. and Mrs. E. Uhlein have been appointed entertainment chairmen; Mrs. George Wile is candy chairman, and Dr. Frank Springer will be the first aider. The following are room chairmen: Kindergarten, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Marcus and Mrs. Thomas Bittenbender; Grade 1, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Margan, Dr. and Mrs. William Derreck, Mr. and Mrs. Allison Beebe, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Paul; Grade 2, Mr. and Mrs. William Meehan, Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hill; Grade 3, Mr. and Mrs. E. Gorfinkle, Mr. and Mrs. James Carven and Mr. and Mrs. E. Stephen; Grade 4, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farnham, Mrs. Walt Collins, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Pippitt, and Mr. and Mrs. James Bishop; Grade 5, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Young, Mr. and Mrs. John Curtin and Mr. and Mrs. C. Arnold; grade 6, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Horowitz and Dr. and Mrs. B. Jacobson. These committees are preparing for more than 600 children, aged 5 to 11. Included in the programs are movies, stunts, a clown, games, a magician, a chamber of horrors for the upper grades, and refreshments.

At least 350 children, from kindergarten through the 6th grade, are expected at the Cabot School, Newtonville, parties, according to Mrs. Sidney Wish, building chairman. Membership of the various committees is practically complete, and will be announced shortly. A busy program has already been outlined and movies, games and a parade will be included, besides many stunts which will make the parties something every youngster will long remember with the greatest delight.

this appalling waste of life and property."

The time to start, said the chief, is during Fire Prevention Week, which is sponsored throughout the country by the National Fire Protection Association. The program is aimed at the elimination of ordinary hazards, which, according to the NFPA, cause 9? per cent of all fires.

"Significantly," added Chief Corcoran, "a substantial drop in fire losses followed Fire Prevention Week last year. But then, as people lapsed back into careless living habits, losses again began to climb. This proves that fire losses can be reduced."

PARKING AREAS. Two off-street parking areas will be completed this week and do much to relieve traffic congestion. They are located on Richardson street, Newton, and on Cypress street, Newton Centre. Each area will accommodate about 70 automobiles.

WOMEN'S POST INSTALLATION. Mrs. Thelma Furbush Edwards of West Newton was installed as the fifth Commander of the Newton Women's Post, American Legion in ceremonies held in the Elks Hall, Newton, last Friday night. Other officers installed included: Josephine Michaelis of Brookline, senior vice commander; L. Jeanne Edson of Boston, junior vice commander; Betty Cunningham of Auburndale, adjutant, and Audra Saunders of Newton, judge advocate. Mrs. Jayne Driscoll of Newtonville, Americanism; Mrs. Mildred Block of Natick, child welfare; Mrs. Virginia MacCorkle of Natick, chaplain; Mrs. Barbara Scheenmele of Needham, finance; and Mrs. Helen Keefe of Newton Centre, sergeant-at-arms. Executive board: Marguerite Benson of West Newton, Marie Langley of Brookline, Genevieve Mulligan and junior past commander, Margaret Foley, both of Newton Centre.

POLICE LIEUTENANTS. The appointment of two Newton police lieutenants, required because of an underestimate of needs, reduced working hours and the assignment of one to Civil Defense training, was authorized by the Board of Aldermen Monday night following the unanimous recommendation by the Finance Committee. Before these appointments can be made an eligibility list must be secured from the Civil Service Commission.

—o—

HOLDUP SCARE. Consternation reigned at the Newton police station Monday when the burglar alarm for the Newton National Bank at Newton Corner began ringing. Mindful of recent bank robberies in Greater Boston, four prowl cars loaded with police sped to the bank and quickly surrounded the building. However, it turned out to be a short circuit in the alarm system.

—o—

VANDALISM. The largest number of windows ever broken in one day here by vandals was reported to police Monday. The superintendent of the construction job at 220 Needham street, Newton Highlands, reported that he found 146 panes of glass broken in the new factory building being erected. He estimated the damage at $255.50.

News In Brief

BOY TUMBLES DOWN. A quest for chestnuts which took David Wilbert, 12, of 146 Beaumont avenue, Newtonville, 25 feet up in a tree at 345 Crafts street, Newton, proved disastrous Monday, when the branch on which he was standing gave way and he fell to the ground, fracturing his left wrist.

POWER OFF. More than 150 families in the Centre street section here were without electricity for almost three hours last Sunday when an explosion in an underground main near 526 Centre street, blew a manhole cover 10 feet into the air and caused a short circuit in a nearby transformer. Nobody was injured in the explosion nor did the flying manhole cause any damage. manhole cover cause any damage. Firemen were summoned and remained on the scene until emergency crews of the Boston Edison Company completed repairs.

A LIVING EXAMPLE. Most of the sermons on Rosh Hashonah are calling for cooperation among all peoples. A living example exists in Newton. The congregation of Temple Shalom of Newton has no synagogue large enough to accommodate all the worshipers for the high holiday services. Members of the Unitarian Church of West Newton turned their large church over to the temple for its use during Rosh Hashonah. Rabbi Irving A. Mandel conducted two services there Sunday night and Monday morning.

Annabelle Stuart Directing Classes At Govone School

Annabelle Stuart, well known dance instructor, is now directing classes at the Govone School of Dance, 2001 Beacon street, Cleveland Circle, Brookline.

Miss Stuart has been heralded as an exciting young artist in the dance concert and lecture field, having appeared before numerous school assemblies and women's clubs.

Miss Stuart has also appeared as performer and choreographer with dramatic and operatic companies, as guest artist in the leading hotels, and as performer for the Armed Forces, during the war, both here and in the Pacific Area. Her extensive training includes years of serious study in ballet under famous ballet masters as well as in the modern dance and character dance field. She is a member of the Dance Teachers' Club of Boston.

Graded classes are now forming in ballet, modern and ballroom. Of particular interest to teen-age girls is a modern dance studio group designed for those who have outgrown the classical form of dance and yet desire to continue dance study for their college years.

Graded ballroom classes are offered for all ages. Individual attention is given for actual dance training along with social activities.

Miss Annabelle Stuart, Govone School of Dance, has found that the best time to start dance training is three years of age or as soon thereafter as possible, before shyness, self consciousness, or awkwardness become a fixed habit.

Correct training in dance is one of the best mediums for affording an educational adjustment of young children as well as presenting an excellent foundation for social activity in a fun fill fashion.

Dance develops physical and mental co-ordination and the grace, charm and personality that is derived from the rhythmic handling of oneself.

Appreciation of music and rhythm is cultural background beneficial for poise and self-confidence. Dance education presents an excellent opportunity to appreciate one's own accomplishments and the accomplishments of others.

Flexible Steel Re-Inforcing

Our own original method. The most vital part of your living room suite is the spring construction. Our new webbing and understructure prevents spring sagging.

WHY BRISTOL UPHOLSTERING IS DIFFERENT

(1) We don't tie springs just 4 or 6 ways—we tie them fully 8 ways and with special twine.
(2) We don't just glue loose frames—we take out old dowels, replace them with larger and new ones. We add brand new corner blocks.
(3) We don't tack seams at just the obvious spots—we hand sew seams throughout the piece.
(5) The seams on the sides and backs aren't blind-tacked — all the seams are hand-sewn.
(6) We don't use ordinary fibre or excelsior—we use the new, expensive moss fitling.
(7) We don't just repair your cushions—we make brand new cushions, springs and all.
(8) We don't put the fabric on carelessly—we make sure the pattern matches perfectly.
(9) We don't just cut from a pattern—we fit your cover as carefully as a tailor-made suit.

Check Now On Heat Equipment

—o—

Will your home heating equipment bring you comfort or calamity this fall and winter?

That's the end-of-summer question safety conscious fire insurance officials are asking as they advise home owners and householders on home heating practices and precautions for the coming cold weather of fall and winter.

Last year more than 100,000 home fires in the U. S. resulted from defective chimmeys and flues and faulty heating equipment, destroyed more than 103 million dollars worth of property and claimed thousands of lives.

Roger H. Wingate, vice-president of Liberty Mutual Fire Insurance Company, says, "Eighty-five percent of these fires resulted from carelessness and negligence and could have been prevented had the householder exercised simple precautions and practices."

Wingate, who heads his company's fire prevention department, lists the following suggestions for readying home heating equipment for safe, cold weather operation.

Have your oil or gas burner or coal stoker cleaned and lubricated and the safety controls and ignition checked. Don't try it yourself. It's no job for an amateur. Call in a qualified, heating serviceman. And remember, your heating unit may be the automatic type but it still needs periodic, expect checking to keep it running properly.

Oil stoves and kitchen ranges converted to oil cause a majority of the fatal home fires. They're "dynamite" if not working right. Have them checked by an expert and ask him the safest way to operate them.

Clean and overhaul chimmeys, flues, smoke pipes, stoves and furnace boilers. Replace rusted smoke pipes and leaking fuel pipes or see that they are adequately repaired. Cracked or loose chimmey bricks should be repaired or replaced.

Remove that summer collection of newspapers, cardboard cartons, etc. that has piled up around the furnace or oil burner.

Be sure that you have a covered, metal container for storage of furnace ashes. Hot ashes and coals caused 10,000 fires in U. S. homes last year.

Don't force your heating system. If it doesn't have sufficient capacity, get an expert's opinion on providing auxiliary heat.

"There's no place like home," says Wingate, "but faulty heating equipment can lead to fire and no place for a home."

Daily and Weekly Newspapers Prices Show Steady Increase

Daily and weekly newspapers prices are swinging upward all over the country as costs of publishing increase steadily.

This upward trend has been underway several months. Large and small newspapers alike have found a price boost necessary. It is not confined to any one section. It is country-wide.

Publishers say the higher costs of putting out a paper are responsible. They cite greater newsprint costs, higher salaries and larger bills for distributing their papers.

In Los Angeles the Times and the Examiner, both morning papers, have hiked daily newsstand prices from seven cents to a dime, effective Oct. 1.

In Memphis the Commercial Appeal and the Press-Scimitar raised subscription prices, effective Monday. The former's weekly rate for daily and Sunday editions goes from 40 to 45 cents. The latter's for daily editions only goes from 25 to 30 cents.

Sunday papers in many cities have gone from 10 cents to 15 cents and in some cases to 20 cents.

Such cost increases as distribution and salaries vary with different sections of the country. But hikes in newsprint costs are pretty well standardized.

Newsprint prices vary according to location, but the New York tag after an increase this year hit $116 a ton.

This is the highest in almost 30 years and compares with an all-time top of $120 in the 20's and about $40 in the depression years.

The latest hike in newsprint has added around $50,000,000 to the cost of publishing newspapers in the United States on the basis of last year's consumption.

The list of newspapers squeezed by these increasing costs to the point where price increases have become necessary is a long one. New ones are being added weekly.

Reports of increases received by the American Newspaper Publishers Association within the last month show the wide variations in size of papers affected and the widespread distribution of the dailies and weeklies.

Test Quilted Robe Before Washing It

While the sun still rides high and drying clothes is rapid, consider washing your quilted robe.

Whether it is cotton or rayon, silk or nylon, the best beginning is to test-wash the belt to determine if the colors will run; if quilting is sufficiently close to avoid "drifting". Test-wash the day before so you have a full day for drying the robe.

If the belt proves wash-worthy, dip garment up and down in a substantial tubful of lukewarm fluffy all-purpose detergent suds. Don't rub lest the cotton quilting mat. With a soft brush, spot-scrub the more soiled sections, such as collars, cuffs and front.

Rinse several times in clear, lukewarm water. Then hand-wring — not too strenuously. When you hang the robe, it should still be dripping water.

Hang from hem rather than shoulders so the breeze will balloon the garment and speed its drying. From time to time shake garment to fluff up the inner cotton quilting. Half way through drying, pull sleeves inside out to permit both sides to dry equally well.

If you hand-smooth the garment from time to time, you may not need to press it. In the final stage, rehang on a clothes hanger and pull robe into shape.

Campaign on Boys' Town Under Way

A $600,000 state-wide campaign for construction of a Boy's Town in Massachusetts opened officially this week as the vanguard of 150 college students began distribution of 75,000 envelopes telling the story of Boy's Town to business, civic and professional, as well as church leaders, in an unique effort to acquaint them on a personal basis with the purpose of the drive.

Students were recruited from Harvard, Boston University, Simmons, Boston College, Springfield College, Clark, Suffolk, and Brandeis Universities. They are instructed to hand the Boy's Town packet to the secretaries of prominent businessmen and civic leaders who in turn make a point of bringing Boy's Town to the attention of their bosses.

All contributions are sent to A. H. Parker Jr., vice-president, Old Colony Trust Company, 1 Federal street. Boston.

Chairman of the Boy's Town drive is Dr. Robert E. Desautels of Needham, who recently returned to civilian life after navy service to do research work at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Induct Scouts Into Order of the Arrow

The season's Scouting activities at Nobscot Reservation started with the Ordeal Weekend of the Order of the Arrow, held September 28 to 30, at which 12 Norumbega Scouts became Arrow Lodge members, including the following Newton Scouts: John Hobbs of Troop 4B; Gordon Christianson and Robert Forbes of Explorer Post 11; David French of Troop 7C; William McAndrews of Air Squadron 1; Toby Davis of Troop 15; and James Alvord of Explorer Post 21.

The Order of the Arrow was founded over 35 years ago as Scouting's Honor Camper Society. Its aim has been to encourage proficiency in Scouting skills and to foster glorification of Scouting principles. A Scout is elected to membership by his fellow Scouts, and to be chosen is the highest honor a Troop can confer on one of its members.

To be eligible for membership a boy must be a Scout Camper who is a First Class Scout or higher, and at least 13 years old. In addition, he must have satisfied his fellow Troop members of his ability and desire to give service in the Scout tradition. Each Spring, the executive board of the Lodge sends out applications to all Troops, and these are returned with the names of all eligible Scouts. A member of the Lodge then attends a Troop meeting and conducts an election. Since only one member may be elected from a Troop with 5 to 14 eligible Scouts, two from a Troop with 14 to 25 eligible Scouts, and three from a Trop with over 25 eligible Scouts, the membership is highly selective. That the Scouts themselves take the matter of election seriously is borne out by the fact that, while membership may total 10 per cent of the number of Scouts in the Council, the present membership is less than half the limit.

The general purpose of the Order of the Arrow is to render service to the community. The members serve as ushers at the Community Chest Kick-Off Dinner, and as aides at Scout functions such as Courts of Honor, Camporees, Campfires, the Council Annual Meeting, and the like. They assist with the Troop at the Peabody Home for Crippled Children, with Camp Quinapoxet promotional work, or with any project requested by the Scout Office. They are called upon to help in many community functions. This year, the Lodge has as a goal the contribution of 1,000 hours of service.

The Newton Y.M.C.A. has generously reserved a room for the use of the Lodge, where periodic meetings are held to plan future activities and make assignments. Between meetings, the executive board has the power to conduct all business transactions, and Chief Arthur Veinott Jr., if called upon for workers for a project, selects the members best suited for the job.

The members elected in the Spring go to Nobscot for the Ordeal Weekend, which is an initiation or induction period devoted to testing the member's ability as a camper and his willingness to work for the common good of Scouting. This year, work at the Ordeal consisted of repairing a road to Legion Cabin, building a fence around the cemetery, starting the repair of a foot bridge, starting another trail to Legion Cabin and helping to build the new quarters for the Fire Patrol.

The Lodge itself has a slogan which helps to explain why all this work is done: "He alone is worthy to wear the Arrow who will continue to serve his fellow men."

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
LAND COURT
Middlesex, ss.
To the honorable the Judges of the Land Court for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Respectfully represents Elizabeth C. Boyle of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth; that she is trustee for the owner of a certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situate in Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, bounded and described as follows:
A certain lot of land in Newton on the easterly side of Wildwood Avenue and numbered 75 on a plan made by William Bradford, Surveyor, April 15, 1889, and recorded with the Middlesex South District Deeds, Plan Book 62, bounded:
EASTERLY by land now or formerly of S. P. Cliff, forty (40) feet;
SOUTHERLY by lot #76 on said plan, eighty (80) feet;
WESTERLY by Wildwood Avenue, forty (40) feet;
NORTHERLY by lot #74, eighty (80) feet.
Containing 3,200 square feet of land.
That the record title to said lot of land is clouded by a mortgage given by Katherine Lyons of Newton to Mary A. Gavin of Watertown dated July 8, 1901, and duly recorded Book 2905, Page 102 purporting to secure a note for $1,450.00, payable three years after date July 8, 1904 with interest annually, which mortgage appears to be undischarged, unassigned and unforeclosed on and by the record—or not properly or legally discharged of record:
That for more than twenty years after the expiration of the time limited for the full performance of said condition no payment has been made and no other act done in recognition of said mortgage; and
That the mortgagor named in said mortgage and those claiming under her have been in uninterrupted possession of said land for more than twenty years after the expiration of time limited in said mortgage for the full performance of the condition thereof.
Wherefore your petitioner prays that after appropriate notices a decree may be entered on the foregoing allegations as authorized by Section 15, Chapter 240 of the General Laws as amended by Chapter 20, of the Acts of 1924.
ELIZABETH C. BOYLE.

Behind Scenes in American Business

By REYNOLDS KNIGHT

The government's favorite unsalaried tax collectors—the merchants who must add a federal excise tax to the selling price of their wares—are in for more headaches come November. Congress has not yet agreed on the final form of its new tax bill, but the handwriting is on the wall.

Here is the way the imposts probably will line up: Cigarettes, tax will go up 1 cent to 8 cents a pack; liquor, up 30 cents to $2.10 on a fifth of 100 proof; beer, up $1 to $9 a barrel, or about one-third of a cent a bottle; gasoline, up one-half cent to 2 cents a gallon; automobiles, up from 7 percent to 10 percent, auto repair parts, up from 5 percent to 8 percent.

A new 10 percent excise levy will go on electric mangles, dishwashers, clothes dryers, floor polishers and waxers, lawn mowers, hedge clippers, dehumidifiers, doorbell chimes, food choppers and meat grinders, ice cream freezers, motion picture slide projectors.

In addition there is a halfway chance that a 10 percent tax will also be slapped on vacuum cleaners, washing machines, garbage disposal units and electric razors.

There's one bright spot—the legislators have finally repealed the present 20 percent excise tax on baby oils, powders and lotions.

BRIGHT FUTURE—Led by the interior decorator's concept of modern interior beauty, consumer interest in polished floors has grown over the past months at a pace gratifying to flooring and polish manufacturers. This trend is being reflected also in increased sales of smaller rugs. Exposed borders surrounding such rugs have stimulated sales of waxes and polishes, as well as of such items as electric floor polishers. Many homeowners have reaped an additional dividend by discovering that floors which have been covered for years possess an unforeseen natural beauty when properly restored and refinished.

THINGS TO COME—A new golf club is adjusted by turning a dial on the clubhead, saves you the trouble of carrying a full bag, and is well-balanced, according to the Chicago maker . . . Now they are making a scrub brush with plastic bristles that is said to outlast ordinary scrub brushes five to one . . . A New York firm is importing a German-made kit that makes up into a completely transparent, working model four-cylinder engine for mechanically minded boys . . . The latest in umbrellas is an inexpensive paper model coated with a waterproof plastic finish. It comes in grown-up and children's sizes and in six colors.

WHO'S HANDICAPPED?—During and after World War II we heard quite a bit about firms which hired handicapped workers and disabled veterans. Now a group of 43 paraplegics in Chicago have got together and formed their own company to specialize in radar, radio and electrical assembly work. Currently, 28 of the paraplegics are steadily working at the factory, while one of its officers—the only non-paraplegic connected with the firm—scouts around for enough new business to extend employment to about 70 of the 150 paraplegics in the Chicago area.

BITS O' BUSINESS—Higher linseed oil prices are in the offing as a result of government price support on flaxseed, probably meaning a jump in paint prices . . . steel scrap experts expect this year's recovery from automobile graveyards to be about 30 per cent ahead of last year . . . Bureau of Labor Statistics reports the cost of living remained stationary between July 15 and August 15 . . . Census Bureau says that in 1948, 75 per cent of all money spent on women's and children's wear was spent in department and women's wear stores.

Don Thompson – and Newton Atom Bomb Melrose 46 to 6

Halfback Don Thompson. That's just about the whole story of last Saturday's game when Newton romped over Melrose High by a 46 to 6 score. Don scamvered to four touchdowns and nearly scored a fifth as the Orange and Black atom bombed Melrose before more than 3000 at Dickinson Stadium, and gave Newton its first victory of the season.

A fumble in the opening period cost Thompson his five touchdown performance. The 150-pound senior fumbled as he bucked over the goal line from the 4, but Tackle John Lee pounced on the ball in the end zone to open the scoring.

Thompson quickly atoned for this lapse, however, showing sensational broken field form as he turned the game into a route by registering four consecutive touchdowns. With the emphasis on end sweeps, he upped Newton's margin to 34 to 0 on a three-yard shot around right end, a 56-yard slant through left tackle, a six-yard scamper around left end and a 35-yard swing around left end.

The fourth Thompson touchdown trip came on the second play of the final half and reserves played the rest of the way.

Melrose was unable to prevent another brace of Newton scores. Ray Marcell swept 35 yards around right end and Don Kupersmith circled 61 yards around the same end.

With two minutes left, Melrose averted a shutout by parading 80 yards to its lone tally. Paul Dean erased the last 14 yards with a touchdown toss to Bob Hefford.

"Surprise in Iran" to Be Avery Lecture Subject

Miss Eunice Avery, who has just returned from three months in the Middle East, will open her twentieth lecture season in Wellesley on Wednesday, October 10 at the Community Playhouse at 10:30 o'clock. Her first lecture is called "Surprise in Iran" and promises to be extremely interesting for most of us know too little about this facinating part of the world. People who have followed the current newspapers and magazines know that Iranian oil is of utmost strategic importance and the recent nationalization of oil has brought with it considerable speculation as to the future political trends in the entire Middle East.

Miss Avery brings with her first hand information concerning the temper of the people and the conflicting forces which underlie conditions in Iran. She feels that in this present struggle between the western world and the Kremlin, there is no area needing greater understanding by the country than the Middle East.

Miss Avery is a popular and well-known lecturer throughout the East. The Wellesley League of Women Voters sponsors this series of lecturers as a community service in the firm belief that the strength of democracy rests on active concern for good government and an informed public opinion. In recent years, people have come from neighboring towns and as far away as Providence to listen to Miss Avery. Tickets may be bought at door or from Mrs. Clarence Hunter, chairman or any of her committee. The Newton committee being Mrs. Morgan L. Woodruff BI 4-5507, Mrs. Duane White LA 7-5608 and Mrs. E. M. Burdsall BI 4-6590.

Each year adds richness and depth to the background from which Miss Avery can draw her material, for each year she makes a point of travelling through some part of the world which seems of special importance.

Those for whom Wednesday mornings at the Community Playhouse has become "red letter" days know that Miss Avery is not a news analyst who adds cynicism and confusion to already bewildering headlines. She knows her facts and has the broad perspective that only a profound student of history can have; but, more than this she has talked with the people, has seen the countries, and often has been on the spot when major events have happened. She can give that warm, human understanding of peoples that helps very much to build an appreciation of their ways of living, their achievements, and their problems.

It is no wonder that people say to each other, "How better could you spend an hour Wednesday mornings than in attending Miss Avery's lectures?"

Edward B. Hanify To Be Speaker At Kick-off Dinner

AT BOY SCOUT DEDICATION ceremonies. A new addition to the general assembly at Nobscot Reservation, built with a grant from the George W. Magee Memorial Fund, was dedicated Sunday by Honorable Frederic W. Cook, a trustee of the Fund. The former Secretary of State is pictured showing the new wing to some of the Norumbega Council Scouts, who are, left to right: Daniel Fawcett of Newton's Troop 27, Thomas Lafflin of Weston's Troop 52, and Bud Lloyd of Wellesley's Troop 83.

Affair Will Be Held at High School Gymnasium Thursday, October 25th

Edward B. Hanify, prominent Boston lawyer and General Chairman of the Red Feather Campaign two years ago, will be the guest speaker for the 1952 United Red Feather Campaign in Newton at its "Kick-Off" Dinner at Newton High School Gymnasium Thursday evening, October 25, at 6:30 p.m.

Mr. Hanify is a member of the law firm of Ropes, Gray, Best, Coolidge & Rugg. He is President of the Boston Dispensary, a Red Feather Agency, and a member of the Board of Examiners of Boston Public Library, the Executive Committee of Massachusetts Committee of Catholics, Protestants, and Jews, and of the Executive Board of United Community Services. He is a graduate of Holy Cross College and Valedictorian of his class, and a graduate of Harvard Law School. In World War II Mr. Hanify was a lieutenant in the United States Navy, assigned as one of the Counsel to Admiral Kimmel in connection with Naval and Congressional Pearl Harbor Investigations.

Alan Steinart, General Chairman of the 1952 Campaign, will also be a featured speaker. Robert R. Walker, Newton Campaign Chairman, will preside at the meeting and greetings will be extended by Winslow H. Adams, President of the Newton Community Chest.

Included in the Campaign this year will be 14 Newton Red Feather services and 300 United Community Services, plus USO. It is interesting to note that more than 23,600 Newton people were served last year by Red Feather services, 18,636 by the Newton agencies and 5,039 by Metropolitan Boston agencies. In addition, USO is now being used by 1,716 Newton youths in the Armed Forces. For every two people served by Newton-Wellesley Hospital in 1950, another person received care last year at one of the 21 other Red Feather Hospitals in the United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston.

At Monday's Metropolitan Division luncheon, Winslow H. Adams, Chest President, was the speaker. He told the more than 100 Campaign leaders from Metropolitan cities and towns of Newton's method of handling Residential solicitation, and pointed out that to make the Campaign a success, it is necessary to get added gifts for USO services.

The final meeting of a series of four for Residential Captains was held last night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Franklin G. Balch, Jr., in Chestnut Hill, and starting next Sunday night a series of meetings will take place in the Residential areas for workers. At these meetings top leaders in the 1952 Campaign will speak.

City Humming With Preparations for Forthcoming Its Annual Hallowe'en Celebrations

Hallowe'en Committees in all neighborhoods through out the City are proceeding at full speed in shaping up programs for what will undoubtedly prove to be Newton's greatest Hallowe'en celebration since it had its inception, eleven years ago.

Around 1500 enthusiastic men and women are actively engaged in this all-village enterprise which has attracted the attention of innumerable communities in the country, and has made Newton's citizenship widely known as an example of what can be achieved by unselfish, collective cooperation.

Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, Chairman of the Program Committee —whose inspired leadership in the past eleven years has been such an important factor in the steering of the City's increasingly successful Hallowe'ens — states that gratifying progress is being made by the many hard-working committee members, and that reports from Building Chairmen indicate a determination to make this year's 240 separate parties for more than 12,000 school children far ahead of any previously held. Highlights of a few of these reports follow:

Mrs. Arthur R. Taylor, Building Chairman of the Hamilton School, Newton Lower Falls, parties, announces that about 100 kindergartners to 6th graders are expected to participate. Program details are not being revealed, but Mrs. Taylor says that the period from 7 to 8:30 p.m. will be a busy one for every child. The committee in charge includes: Mrs. Karl Ernst, Mrs. Hugo Marulli, Mrs. W. F. Malcolm, Mrs. Charles Day, Mrs. T. Graves, Mrs. Paul Hannon, and Mrs. J. Downing.

Plans have been completed for the two parties to be held for grades 1 to 6, at the Claflin School, Newtonville, according to Mrs. Charles C. O'Keefe, Building Chairman. The afternoon party, from 4 to 6 p.m., will feature movies, games, a puppet show and refreshments; the 7 to 9 o'clock party will have a similar program, without movies, but with various stunts and surprises that are being held secret. Committee members are: Mesdames

Rabbi Mandel Says Nation Faced With Confusion

In a sermon delivered at Temple Shalom Yom Kippur eve Tuesday, Rabbi Irving A. Mandel stated that "even the forces of law and order are suspect in America" and that "we are faced with a condition of a confused society twirling about in a kaleidoscopic age of distorted values. We have reached the point where we can no longer distinguish red from red, white and blue."

Following are excerpts taken from the sermon delivered by Rabbi Mandel:

"The late Franklin Delano Roosevelt was prophetically right in the early days of 1942 after the debacle of Pearl Harbor when in his address to Congress he said, "We are fighting to cleanse the world of Ancient Ills—Ancient Evils." We must rethink our moral position in the world. Moral decisions on a global scale are relatively secondary by contrast with the moral choices which individuals must make in our topsy turvy world.

"Even the forces of law and order are suspect in America—policemen are the violators of the law they are pledged to protect; income tax collectors are being investigated for income tax evasion; the subversive activities committees of Congress are being counter-investigated for the subversiveness of their individual members; and in New Orleans we are confronted with a sorry paradox of the crusaders indicted for defaming the reputation of the gamblers and the crooks. Thus we are faced with the condition of a confused society twirling about in a kaleidoscopic age of distorted values. We have reached the point where we can

Hams Needed By Newton Civil Defense

The Newton Department of Civil Defense has announced that it is facing a shortage of hams. They were speaking of the kind that operate their radio equipment in times of emergency. The situation is serious. If established communication lines were cut by saboteurs or the exchangers destroyed, all defense communication would have to be carried on by radio.

Needed are operators for fixed stations, such as the ones at the hospital, Red Cross headquarters and other key locations throughout the city, as well as operators for radio equipped automobiles which can be sent into the very heart of a disaster area. Newton is doing something about it.

In cooperation with the trade schools, classes are being formed to carry out a course of instruction which will lead to the procurement of an amateur radio license. The holder of such a license will be in an important position in the defense department as well as a member of the world-wide fraternity of amateur radio operators. In addition to

"Painting Picnic" To Be Held Sunday

Plans for a "Painting Picnic" this Sunday were discussed at a meeting of the Newton Art Association last Thursday at the Newtonville Public Library, attended by 65 members and 10 guests.

President Sherwood Blodgett announced that members will meet at 9:30 that Sunday at the Newtonville Library for an all-day session of painting, with members bringing their own luncheon. A professional motion-picture photographer has been engaged to record the day's activities. By a scientific process the pictures will be adapted to television, to be shown later on a scheduled TV program.

The speaker at last Thursday's meeting was Thomas Carleton O'Hara, an instructor at the Massachusetts School of Art, who demonstrated the use of color values and other fundamentals as applied to the modern approach to picture composition.

It was announced that Mrs. Elma Lind Goodwin had been appointed chairman of the Hospitality Committee, and Roy A. Randall as chairman of the publicity committee, to be assisted by Eugene Faucher. Attention was called to the exhibition of pencil drawings by Mrs. Aubrey Parker currently being shown at the Newtonville Public Library.

The next meeting will be on Thursday, October 18, when Esther Geller, well-known painter, will be the guest lecturer.

WEDDING PARTY at marriage of Lt. Col. Neill M. Michael and Mrs. Clarice L. Doliver (front). Others in the party included: middle row, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Richard D. Riddle and, back row left to right: Chaplain (Capt.) Henry M. Bartlett, Mrs. Cecil V. Broadaway, Mrs. George W. Shipley and Lt. Col. Shipley. (U. S. Air Force Photo).

Mrs. Clarice Doliver of W. Newton Weds Col. Michael in Philippines

The first September wedding of the year for Clark Air Force Base, Philippines, was solemnized at the base chapel when Mrs. Clarice I. Dolvier of West Newton became the bride of Lt. Col. Neill M. Michael of Wellesley.

The bride wore a street length linen dress with white accessories and carried red roses, while the matron of honor wore a green cotton dress with white accessories.

Colonel Michael, who has been stationed in the Philippine base for the past three months, heads the Central Civilian Personnel Office of Philippines Command (Air Force) and 13th Air Force.

A former student at the University of West Virginia, Colonel Michael first entered the service in 1942. During his service, he has served four separate times at Wright Patterson AFB, Ohio, and has been chief of the surplus property division at Springfield, Ill.

After a simple ceremony, the wedding party went to the Clark AFB Officers Club where an informal wedding luncheon was held.

Colonel and Mrs. Michael are now at home in quarters at Clark AFB.

Why Not Hire Them?

Social workers are now well aware that the ratio of old people to the body of the population is becoming more heavily weighed day by day. This is a tribute to the development of physical medicine in this country, but like the old law in physics, every action has a reaction. The increasing number of aged persons is bringing new problems, economic, family and psychological questions.

Let us look at some sociological aspects of this matter. Today in America the young people go to school for longer periods of time, with many college graduates continuing on to graduate work. Yet on the other hand many employers have a policy of not hiring anyone over 40 years, while retiring their workers at the age of sixty-five.

Well, the equation here is easily seen—if we go to school until we're 30, and then can't get a job after 40, this doesn't leave much of a workers army for the production that is needed and will be needed in this country.

It is thus seen that such a twin squeeze will force each productive worker to support an ever-growing number of consumers. Why not reverse this cycle and use more of the productive ability of the rapidly-growing army of oldsters?

With industry tooling up for a big defense effort, there will soon be an unlimited amount of work to be done. When our leaders are calling for maximum production, our nation can ill afford to leave virtually untapped this vast reservoir of potential manpower.

It not only would be the right thing to do but also, fortunately enough now, the expedient thing to do. And incidentally, we've seen many older men that could work us right into the ground. They were brought up that way—to give a good day's work for a day's pay.

Move to Restrict House Speaker's Power . . . Legislators Entitled to Salary Increase . . .

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., and Democratic House Leader Robert F. Murphy both have adopted the rather high-handed tactic of abruptly adjourning the day's session of their legislative body when they find they are facing defeat on an important issue.

The strategy of this action is that if they don't have the votes on one day they may be able to get them on another by rounding up missing members and putting pressure on those disposed to stray from the party reservation.

Early in the legislative year, when O'Neill was trying to push through a bill for an increase in the State gasoline tax and found that he didn't have the votes, he suddenly hammered down his gavel, announced that the House stood in recess until the following Monday and strode out of the chamber.

Last week, Murphy, while serving as Acting Speaker in O'Neill's absence, repeated the performance in order to save a bill calling for the appropriation of $450,000 to pay for preparing plans for a second traffic tunnel between East Boston and the city proper.

The House members, who were on hand and prepared to do a day's work, found that under the rules there was nothing they could do to prevent their presiding officer from calling off the session at his whim. The fact that it was contrary to the will of a majority of the members in attendance made no difference. They couldn't even get a vote on adjourning or staying in session.

The only justification offered by O'Neill and Murphy for their action is that Leverett Saltonstall once did the same thing while he was speaker of the House and that if it was all right when Saltonstall did it, it's all right now.

Their facts are correct in that Saltonstall did do the same thing during the Curley administration, but it also is a fact that Saltonstall was morally wrong and so are they. It might be pointed out that O'Neill and Murphy are abusing the legal loophole which enables them to become virtual dictators.

Representative Francis A. Harding of Dedham has decided to try to strip the Speaker of some of his autocratic powers and to give the House members the right to question any of his acts, whether it be adjournment or any other.

Harding's move presumably will get nowhere this session because of the difficulties he will encounter in getting the measure admitted for consideration, but it is quite possible that his order will be adopted early next year.

This legislative session will be by far the longest in the history of the Commonwealth, and each week that passes costs the State an additional $15,000. At least two days have been wasted because O'Neill and Murphy didn't feel like playing those particular days.

Because O'Neill and Murphy can't prevail upon certain of their party members to show up and perform the duties for which they were elected or because they can't control all those who do appear, is hardly any reason they should have the power to call everything off whenever it strikes their fancy to do so.

A good many sound and sensible Democrats realize that their party leaders are establishing some precedents which the Republicans may copy if and when they regain control of the House in the future. It's dangerous politics to allow any man to assume the role of dictator, regardless of the party to which he belongs.

Some controversy undoubtedly will develop during the next few days over the move by the members of the Legislature to vote themselves a salary increase.

People who look on and say nothing when the law-makers authorize the spending of millions will send up an outraged cry when they give themselves a wage boost, the total expense of which will be $210,000, assuming that the raise is $750 for each of the 280 members.

With that attitude we cant' agree. The fact is that a competent and conscientious legislator is worth a good deal more to the State than the $4500 a year he would get if the $750 increase is adopted.

Some of our readers are certain to write in and point out to us that many of the legislators are neither very conscientious or very competent. That's so, and we can't help but wonder how the voters happened to elect some of them in the first place.

But it is true that a great many of them are sincere, honest and work hard. A sizeable number of them serve in the Legislature at a financial sacrifice to themselves, particularly in a year such as this when the legislative session already is in its 10th month.

It doesn't seem to us that there should be any protest over the proposed $750 boost. Any legislator who is not worth $4500 a year should not have been elected in the first place.

* * * *

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., announced Monday night that eight bills now remain before legislative committees and that the adoption of a supplementary budget and the imposition of sufficient new taxes to cover the financial commitments which have been made.

Well, it will be interesting to see how much time will be consumed transacting that amount of business.

Only one member of the House, Republican Representative Adolph Johnson of Brockton, voted against a bill to give State employees a $360-a-year raise as of July 1 and an additional $60 boost on January 1.

But you will find that many of the legislators who voted for the raise will balk when the time comes to adopt the taxes to meet the bill. They're willing enough to approve the raise, but they prefer to leave to someone else the less pleasant task of passing taxes. You might watch how that works out.

It's Just LIKE THIS

QUOTE OF THE WEEK . . .
"Most of us can at best own only a small piece of earth but the vast skies are ours for a glance."

I suppose some of you have wondered what had happened to my good friend Bill Biggins and I. Well, to tell you the truth, Bill and I have just returned from a little fishing expedition and for my part I am glad I went. Bill did the fishing and I did some reading. Among the material I read, I came across a sermon preached recently by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Richard J. Quinlan of St. John the Evangelist Church, Winthrop, and it contains such sound advice that I hope every one of you read it. If you do the importance of the message which it conveys will impress you deeply. The text of his sermon was as follows:

"During the first few weeks of September, all of us are very much concerned about the welfare of the children committed to our care. The beginning of a new school year is of great importance in the lives of our boys and girls. It is a time when all of us who are responsible for the training of children should carefully examine our consciences to find out if we are doing all that we should to help our boys and girls became self-reliant, virtuous, God-fearing men and women. It is not my purpose to discuss in detail the problem of juvenile delinquency. We know that there is such a problem in America and that it is a very serious one. Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigatic of the United States Department of Justice effectively summarized this problem of juvenile delinquency when he said: 'The problem of juvenile delinquency hovers over practically every home in America. It is appalling to note the 12 per cent of our murderers, 28 per cent of our robbers, and 52 per cent of our automobile thieves are under 21 years of age.

"'Unfortunately, the responsibility for youthful law infraction today rests more upon the shoulders of the adult than it does upon that of youth. It exists largely because of a lack of discipline. Thirty million homes hold the solution. If the younger generation is properly trained and the proper examples set before it, the safety of tomorrow is assured. It is time for America to resurrect that standard of parental discipline and guidance which did so much to create law-abiding, successful and forward-looking citizens in the past. Criminals develop in our homes, through errors of commission and omission. Shirking responsibility seems to be one of the signs of the times. Though we live in a modern era, nothing is more important than that we insure for the future. The American home holds the ultimate solution of our crime problem.'

"Mr. Hoover tells us nothing new. He affirms what every thinking person knows—namely, that the responsibility for the character formation of children rests squarely on the shoulders of the parents in the home.

"Everyone who has any experience in education knows that no school can succeed in the difficult task of forming the right kind of characters in its pupils without the effective intelligent cooperation of the home. Every school needs the cooperation of the home. This means that fathers and mothers must work in close harmony with the teachers of the school.

"It is my personal conviction that too much is expected of the modern school. Our schools of today have taken over too many responsibilities that rightly belong in the home. After all, a child between the ages of six and 16 spends only 7 per cent of his time in school, while 93 per cent of his time is spent entirely outside of school.

"It stands to reason, therefore, that parents must be very much concerned with what their children do during the many hours spent outside of school. It means that conscientious parents will know what their children do and where they go during the many hours when they are not in school.

"Today, our young people are exposed to all kinds of morally dangerous temptations. I have simply to mention the media of entertainment to which our children are exposed, such as motion pictures, radio, television, cheap magazines and even some of the advertisements in our daily newspapers—media which glamorizes crime and sex and which give our children artificial and wrong standards of living.

"In recent years there have been revolutionary changes in our way of living. These changes are very harmful to children, especially those of junior and senior high school age. Virtuous and high standards of moral, social and civic conduct have been lowered and people today accept with apparent complacency types of behavior that never would be tolerated by decent, self-respecting people a generation ago.

"Conscientious parents find it most difficult to keep their children from moral harm during these days when they are exposed to such harmful and insidious temptations. Only by constant and prayerful supervision and by good personal example, can parents protect their children from the evil environments in which they live. Once again, we repeat that parents should know at all times what their children do outside of school, with whom they associate and where they go to find amusement.

"All of us who are responsible for the training of youth, must be on our guard lest we be influenced by the false modern educational theory that everything must be made easy and pleasant for children. True education fosters self-mastery, the ability to concentrate and the courage to meet and conquer the difficulties that must come into every life. All of this means that discipline has a very important function in the training of youth. Mr. Walter Lippman, the well-known columnist, writes: 'So-called progressive education is based on the notion that if we remove authority and discipline and tradition in the upbringing of young people, the unobstructed material goodness of their hearts and minds will by spontaneous creation bring them to good ideas.'

"Here, Mr. Lippman has pointed out, as did Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, the fundamental weakness in our modern methods of training children — namely that too many parents and too many of our modern schools — especially junior and senior high schools—are mitigating and in some cases disregarding the necessity of discipline in the educational process.

"In this connection, I would suggest that parents at all times stand back of the teachers of our schools. No teacher wants to discipline a boy or girl in school unless it is for his or her own good. To parents, I would say if you receive complaints about your son or daughter, don't blame the school or the teacher. In almost every case, the fault is the child's and the responsibility for his difficulty in school very likely rests upon your own shoulders. What is needed badly today in every community is obedient children and not obedient parents— parents who frequently confess they have no control over their children.

"Let all of us during these days when we are thinking of another school year earnestly examine our conscience and find out whether or not we are doing all that we should to help our children grow up to be the right kind of men and women.

"Pope Pius XI in his Encyclical 'The Christian Education of Youth' wrote 'The most effective and lasting education is received in a well-ordered and well-disciplined home where Almighty God is known, loved and served.'

"May all of us, who are engaged in the sublimest of all work — that of training the young—be blessed with success by Almighty God in our mutual endeavor to teach the children committed to our care to know, love and serve Him in order that one day they may live with Him in eternal love."

News In Brief

School Delay. The proposed addition to the Emerson School in Upper Falls received a slight setback Monday night when Supt. of Schools Harold B. Gores told a meeting of the School PTA that because of the current steel shortage it is extremely difficult to get authority from the federal government unless there is a pressing need for additional classroom space. The proposed addition to Emerson School, he stated, does not come into this category since Emerson is not as yet overcrowded.

Big Land Sale. The office of Reminton & Reid reports one of the largest sales of vacant land made in recent year in the Oak Hill section of Newton. There are about thirty-two acres on Greenwood street, near Dudley street, originally known as the William H. Wales property, but for many years owned by Arthur L. Lewis, who gave title to the Barney Realty Corporation.

Spotlight on the Newtons

By RALPH AND TUNNI COOLIDGE

When Mrs. Stanley J. Rosenbaum of Newton called to order a meeting of the New England Region of Women's American ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation through Training) at the Kenmore Hotel, recently, she faced a determined group. The women hadn't come to tea; they were there to help the homeless throughout the world.

An able leader, Marjorie Rosenbaum has something in common with her fellow members of Women's ORT. Though her duties as wife, mother and homemaker are many, she feels a personal responsibility in aiding unfortunates in the minority group, of which she is a member.

In this day, when everyone is conscious of the need of sponsoring democratic communities, wherever they may be, it is evident ORT's training program plays a significant part in this achievement. It shows what can be done to advance any special group of people.

"ORT is not a charity society," elucidates Marjorie Rosenbaum, "our program aids displaced persons by providing them with vocational training, guiding them to self-suffiency and good citizenship, wherever they may be."

She is untiring in her efforts to secure and maintain freedom of DP's, through vocational, as well as material aid. The record of this organization is an outstandstanding example of accomplishment in the humanitarian field.

ORT began in 1880, in the ghettos of Russia. To be skilled in a trade meant freedom from the ghetto; hence, an ORT diploma came to be known as a "passport to freedom."

Today, 71 years later, ORT students are trained in over 100 different trades. Among the trades are: Electronics, mechanics, dress designing, millinery and agriculture, with special courses for children.

Many children whose parents were annihilated by Hitler's regime were "adopted" by ORT. DP's of many European nations come under ORT's juristriction. Israel, the home of many DP's, is especially aided. The N. E. Region of Women's ORT recently equipped a complete watchmaking school in this new state.

North Africa is another focal point of aid. Today, over one-half million Jews are living in disease-ridden mellahs (ghettos). They are in desperate need; not only of training, but of the very necessities of life.

The warm hand of ODT is reaching out to them. There are over 1,000 students in ORT's Moroccan Schools. The N. E. Region sponsored and supported 235 of these students, last year.

MRS. STANLEY J. ROSENBAUM introduces Mrs. Joseph Sugarman of Tel Aviv (formerly of Boston) to ORT organization. Left to right: Mrs. Joseph B. Wolbarsht, of Newton; Mrs. Joseph Sugarman, and Mrs. Stanley J. Rosenbaum. (Photo by Ralph S. Coolidge).

Over 10,000 students now attend ORT schools in Europe. This organization maintains schools and workshops in 22 countries.

Many of these countries cooperate with ORT, and help to subsidize its work. ORT has agreements with the United Jewish Appeal and the International Refugee Organization. It is a member of the American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service, Inc.

ORT is also a member of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. It is registered with the State Department's Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid.

There are three special aid programs of Women's American ORT; M.O.T. (Materials for Overseas Training) assures ORT's schools of machinery and necessary equipment. GUARDIANSHIP provides food, shelter, medical care and clothing.

SCHOLARSHIP affords qualified students the opportunity to train at ORT's Institute at Anieres, near Geneva, Switzerland. Here, many learn, that they may teach their fellow countrymen.

To help defray expenses, Sept. 17 the Women's ORT opened a "Value Center" shop, in Cambridge. Each chapter takes its turn as volunteers in its management. They are faithful in their duties. They realize their failure to finance any of this organization's projects may mean the wasting of lives that are dependent upon them.

"Each member takes his duties to heart," says Mrs. Rosenbaum. "We all are proud to be a part of such great work. We are hoping to gain new members, particularly in the Newtons."

Her little girl, Peggy, was at school when we interviewed Mrs. Rosenbaum at her home, 18 Bellevue st., Newton. When her son, Robert, entered the room, she took the little "cowboy" into her arms. One had the feeling she so clasped all humanity to her heart.

Mrs. Rosenbaum first joined Women's American ORT five years ago. She was immediately recognized as a leader, and was rather startled to find herself not only as a new member, but M. O. T. chairman. She served two years as president of the Newton chapter.

President Truman and Israel's Ambassador Eban have lauded ORT's program. Eleanor Roosevelt visited ORT's school in Paris. Her impression was this: "To carry on work which actually helps a people to help themselves, as ORT is doing, seems one of the most far-sighted and constructive things that can be done!"

Letters to the Editor

COMMENDS GRAPHIC

Editor, Newton Graphic:

The anniversary of annual newspaper week seems to me to be a good occasion to commend you for the excellent job your paper has done during the past year in bringing current events and information on local issues to the public of your community. No one knows better than a banker of the gradual encroachments in all directions upon the many freedoms with which the people of this country have been so richly endowed. We sincerely hope that the time will never come when the freedom of the press will be abridged in any way and we are realistic enough to realize that the intelligent and vigilant manner in which you, yourself, guard this privilege has a lot to do with the retention of it.

May we take this opportunity to thank you for the cooperation and courtesy you have shown us during the past year.

Cordially,
B. F. LOUIS,

GASOLINE TAXES

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Now that we are forced to pay 1.3 cents more per gallon in gasoline taxes plus $1 more when we renew our driving licenses and plus 50 percent more when we register our cars for 1952, I would like to explain my position on the entire situation.

The original proposal of the Committee on Ways and Means was for a 2 cent increase in the gasoline tax. I moved rejection of this bill, denouncing it as an increase of the existing gasoline tax,—in reality a 23 percent sales tax on gasoline,—telling the House that if we were to have a sales tax on gasoline we should have a general sales tax to be consistent. My motion was defeated by a few votes, and the bill was passed along to the Senate.

When Senate Ways and Means held a hearing on the bill, I attacked it there and urged its rejection. On being asked there how I would suggest providing the necessary income to finance the highway bonds, my recommendation was that if the license fees on trucks were raised to the level of those of Connecticut and New York,—competing states,—only a ½ cent increase in the gas tax would be needed, but that did not strike home.

The Senate amended the bill to provide for a gasoline tax increase of 1.3 cents and the above mentioned increases in license and registration fees. After several fruitless attempts to arrive at a compromise the Democratic House leadership finally gave up the struggle, and the Senate amendments were adopted by a voice vote on motion of one of the Democratic leaders.

When the bill was returned to the House for enactment we attempted to amend it by reducing the increased tax to one cent and by striking out the increase in driving licenses and registration fees for private passenger cars, on the ground that an extra cent and the increased fees for trucks would provide all the needed revenue. We lost out by three votes on roll call. Thereupon we attempted to defeat enactment of the bill, but lost out by seventeen votes.

My vote against enactment of this bill was based upon the considered conviction that it would provide several millions of dollars more than is needed to meet the interest and amortization of the highway bonds. I am unalterably opposed to soaking the taxpayers,—in this case the motorists, to give government money to play with.

GEORGE E. RAWSON,
Representative
4th Middlesex District.

Improvement Association in Discussion of Civic Matters

The executive committee of the Newton Improvement Association met at the Hunnewell Club Tuesday evening, October 2. President William E. Powers called upon Representative George Rawson who discussed the present legislative program on Beacon Hill and gave some of the reasons for the prolonged session.

Ward Alderman Paul Rich reported on his efforts to have the eyesore, often referred to as poverty block, on Washington street in Newton, removed. The committee felt that everything should be done to help accomplish this result and that its removal certainly would improve Newton Corner. Mr. Rich also gave a report on the completion of the Richardson street parking lot.

Alderman Carlton Merrill of Ward 1 gave a report on Newton Corner street repairs and also on the opening of the Jackson Homestead.

Senator Richard Lee discussed the Home Rule Bill which has been passed by the Senate and is now in conference between House and Senate. He explained that this bill would give the cities and towns authority to handle many matters of an internal nature which they must now refer to the legislature.

Senator Lee also referred to the so-called Capital Outlay Bill and stated that if passed this would cost the city of Newton approximately $30,000. The question of the playground in the Hunnewell Hill section was discussed and it was decided to continue the Association's efforts to work out a feasible plan.

Mrs. Morris Adler suggested that the Association should encourage the planting of a number of maple trees in Newton each year to replace the elm trees and others that were dying. This suggestion was enthusiastically supported by Mr. William E. Hopkins, former president of the Association who said that this was just one of several ways in which Newton could continue to merit the name of "The Garden City."

The next open meeting of the Improvement Association is being planned by the program committe and will be announced shortly.

President William Powers appointed a committee consisting of Edward Pease and Kenneth Backman to draw up suitable resolutions explaining the Association's heartfelt appreciation to Mr. William E. Hopkins for the wonderful service which he rendered to the Association and to Newton when he was president. These resolutions are to be presented to Mr. Hopkins at a later date and copies to be sent to Newton papers.

Lucy Jackson Chapter Begins Season's Activities

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, began its 1951-52 activities Monday with the regular meeting and Fall Fair. The day was beautiful and the attendance good. The tables were filled with useful and beautiful articles and the committee may feel well repaid for their work. Committees in charge of the tables were: Mrs. J. Walter Allen, Mrs. Harold W. Knowlton, Mrs. Louis J. Vassalotti, household; Mrs. Frank S. Larkin, Mrs. Charles W. Blood, knitting; Mrs. Arthur S. Tucker, greeting cards; Mrs. Edward B. Parker, Mrs. William H. Zoller, food; Mrs. George F. Howland, Mrs. Edward J. Frost, Mrs. Peter M. Strang, Mrs. Arthur S. Tucker, Mrs. Harry D. Cabot, dolls; Mrs. Leslie P. Phinney, white elephants. Mrs. Frank S. Larkin, Mrs. Benjamin G. Rae, Mrs. Frederick J. Warren and Mrs. Willard A. Sampson were in charge of the noon luncheon. Much credit also goes to the many volunteer workers who gave generously of their time and effort.

The regular meeting of the Chapter was opened at 2 p.m. by the Regent, Mrs. Gustav Hagen. Mrs. George T. Howland led devotions after which all joined in giving the salute to the flag, and in repeating the American's Creed. Mrs. Frank S. Larkin, treasurer, read her report. Mrs. John E. Giles and Mrs. J. Walter Allen gave interesting highlights of the State Conference at Swampscott, October 3 and 4, after which Mrs. Strang introduced Mr. John K. Whittimore, director of the Hillside School for Boys in Marlborough, Mass. He gave a very adequate and impressive picture of the work being done at that school which was founded by Miss Charlotte Drinkwater, and carried on by her for seven years, then incorporated in 1907 under a Board of Trustees consisting of 20 members of the D.A.R. In 1927 this school was moved to Marlborough, Mass.—to a beautiful location consisting of 50 acres of land. The requirements for entrance which must be met by every boy are (1) that he has a real need for a school home; (2) that he has been in no serious difficulty; (3) that he has a normal mentality.

There is a three-fold program selected for the purpose of developing an all-round character for each boy (1) the academic program—grades 3-8; (2) extra-curricular—sports, music, practical arts, etc.; (3) work program—each boy has an assigned task in the general work of the school and must bring it up to the standard required by the supervisor. All the farm work, which provides vegetables, poultry, eggs, pork and some beef, is done by the boys themselves under supervision.

The 52 boys enrolled this year are very fortunate to be placed in a school where there is a real home atmosphere and where each boy is given personal love and consideration.

This school is one of the many philanthropic projects sponsored by the D.A.R. which is happy to send not only financial aid but to meet some of the many other needs by way of contributions of sweaters, mittens, books, etc.

Hospital Aid Directors Hold Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association was held Tuesday morning at 10:30 in the Nurses Home.

Following a social and coffee hour, Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr., presided at the business meeting. Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, director of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital spoke briefly, discussing the part which the local Hospital Aid Association should play in civil defense. Dr. Hamilton is an assistant deputy director of the local civil defense organization. Mrs. Moore, who was a delegate to the recent meeting of the American Hospital Association in St. Louis gave a detailed report to the Board of Directors stressing ideas which may be carried out by the senior and junior hospital auxiliaries in reducing public apathy toward civil defense, the theme of the St. Louis conference.

Mrs. Theron B. Walker gave the monthly report for the Coffee Shop committee and Mrs. Francis Munroe, chairman of the Gift Shop, which is operated by the Hospital Aid in connection with the Coffee Shop and sponsored by the same organization had on display many attractive Christmas gifts and wrapping items which are on sale in the shop.

Mrs. James Munroe reported for Mrs. George Prather, chairman of the Activities Committee on the progress being made on the fund-raising activity for this season which will be a "Review of Reviews," local amateur dramatic and musical talent under professional direction, to be given in the Auditorium of the Newton High School on the evenings of December fifth, sixth and seventh. There are many members already working on this project and many members of the recently organized Junior Aid Association will be active both as performers in the production and as committee workers.

Panel Discussion Held by PTA Council Associations

The first meeting of the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations was held last Thursday evening at the John W. Weeks Junior High School in Newton Center.

Horace U. Ransom Jr., president of the Council, welcomed the members and guests of the Council. In his greeting he said Newton was one of the cities that had the greatest parent interest in its schools, and that this interest was the greatest insurance against subversive methods in the schools.

Mrs. Frederic Huss, chairman of the Legislative committee, reported that the bill providing for the certification of new teachers in Massachusetts had been passed.

R. Casper Swaney reported on the school building program. Work on the new Claflin School is now in progress.

Mrs. Sylvester McGinn reported for the children's entertainment committee. The first children's concert will be November 3, at 10:30 a.m. in the high school auditorium. Twenty-five members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra will play a children's program. The Puppeteers will present Peter and the Wolf.

Mr. Ransom introduced Mr. Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, who acted as moderator for the panel discussion, Radio and Television as Educational Media.

Prof. Samuel B. Gould, assistant to the president in charge of public relations at Boston University, was the first speaker introduced. He stressed the point that we must realize the magnitude of the influence of the radio and television as a mass media, that TV is a commercial enterprise, and must operate at a profit, and that the public must be articulate, that poor programs are the fault of the listener rather than the broadcaster.

Mr. Wilmer C. Swartley, station manager of WBZ, gave a brief history of the development of commercial radio and television. He stated that there were more functions for TV than to educate, and that the vast majority of the public professed a greater desire for culture and education than they pursued. A program must satisfy both the listener and the sponsor.

Mrs. Mildred Buchanan Flagg, state radio and television chairman of the American Association of University Women, reported the results of a survey made in many Massachusetts cities and towns, to determine the influence of TV on children. Mrs. Flagg asserted that nothing since the advent of the printing press had had as great an impact on children as television. The survey revealed that children were watching on the average of three and four hours a day and that television preempts everything else. Mrs. Flagg challenged every parent to watch the programs with his children helping them to select programs and then to inform the stations of the programs that were enjoyed.

A most informative question period followed, closing with the answer that the future of television was everyone's responsibility.

Newton Scores 25-13 Hard Earned Victory Over Brockton

Romping for three touchdowns at Eldon Keith Field, Brockton, last Saturday, Don Thompson, fleet and shifty running halfback of the Orange and Black, paced Newton's undefeated eleven to a hard-earned 25-13 victory over a plucky but victoryless Brockton High team before 2500 spectators.

Thompson scored touchdowns in each of the first two periods as the Garden City invaders took a 12-0 lead in the first half, and after a Brockton third-period rally gave the Shoe City clan a 13-12 lead, Don was a factor leading to Newton's winning touchdown for the final six-pointer to ice the verdict in the closing minutes.

Featuring Newton's 67 yard touchdown march in the first period was a 45-yard aerial play, Thompson taking a pitchout from Quarterback Fred Daunten and tossing far down the field to end Don Flagg, who was forced out of bounds at the Brockton 10. Two plays later Thompson swept Brockton's right end for eight yards and the score. Thompson intercepted a Frank DiBari pass midway in the second period and dashed 53 yards through the entire Brockton team to the second touchdown. Both placement kicks by Jim Wiper for the extra point were blocked.

Brockton showed its best play of the season in the third quarter, staging a 55 yard march after receiving the kickoff, and DiBari scoring on a quarterback sneak from the one yard line with Capt. Ralph Chesnauskas place-kicking the extra point. The home club gaining on an exchange of kicks, staged a 51 yard march late in the third quarter, DiBari scoring from the 13 on a bootleg play for the lead. Chesnauskas' conversion attempt was wide.

A Brockton fumble at its own 37, recovered by halfback Thompson, led the way to Newton's winning touchdown, Thompson featuring with a 15 yard sweep after which Dauten pitched a short over the line pass from the 8 yard line to Flagg in the end zone. Wiper kicked the extra point. For the final score, Thompson flashed inside the Brockton right end, then cut for a sweep down the sidelines and 28 yards to pay dirt.

Financial Problems of Medical Schools Discussed

Dr. George P. Berry, Professor of Bacteriology and Dean of Harvard Medical School, addressed the Newton Medical Club at its meeting in Usen Auditorium of Newton-Wellesley Hospital Monday.

Speaking on financial problems of Medical Schools at Mid-Century Dr. Berry retraced his history of medical schools since 1900. In 1910, after the Flexner report proved that proprietary medical schools were no longer practical, the number of schools dropped from 160 to less than half. There are now 79 of which 38 are state or government and 41 "private" medical schools such as Harvard, Boston University and Tufts.

All are doing their best to increase the numbers of their students without sacrificing the quality of medical education. The present rate of increase in graduates is over three times that of the population as a whole. "Society," Dr. Berry said, "can't use even one more poorly trained doctor.

"We are now in the Golden Age of medicine but schools are faced with the dilemma of seeing so much more to be done in our schools and not having the funds with which to do it. They can get all sorts of grants for specific projects — the cake — but not enough for the bread of direct medical education."

Asked why the medical schools had opposed the recent Federal bill for medical education Dr. Berry explained that the philosophy of the bill was changed after it was written. It started out to support schools equally for old and new students but was changed to pay $100 for each student. This emphasis on quansstudent. This efphasis on quantity with utter disregard for quality the medical schools felt would be ruinous. They therefore opposed the bill.

In the discussion period Dr. Berry stressed the need on the part of the general public and especially of medical school alumni to appreciate that medical schools must be supported by a hard core of annual gifts to use for general education. He believes as well that, with our present tax structure, some Federal money must be funneled into the primary job of teaching medical students.

Members Enjoy Questionnaire

A unique True and False questionnaire about Newton District Nursing Association's policies and history was enjoyed by the large attendance of board members of the Nursing Association at their first board meeting Monday morning. Mrs. John F. Brown was in charge with all the members participating.

The business meeting which was conducted by the president, Mrs. Thomas Lanman proved the Association had had an unusually busy summer in spite of vacations. Miss Hilga S. Nelson reported that 6840 visits had been made during the last five months. Of this number 4994 were for bedside care. 150 prenatal care, and 797 health instruction. Ninety-seven new babies have been enrolled in the Well Baby Clinics. The board members had the pleasure of meeting Miss Vera B. Griffin, the new educational director and general supervisor who is Miss Nelson's assistant.

Martin P. Luthy, Jr., son of M. P. Luthy of Newton Highlands, Vice President and Manager of the New England Department of Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company, has completed a four week resident course at the Mutual Insurance Institute, Chicago, which affords professional training to insurance company employees and agents.

Richard F. Wagner of 25 Ridge road, and Ruth Langley of 170 Woodward street, were awarded the Chartered Life Underwriters designation at the conferment exercises held last Thursday, at New England Mutual Hall.

W. Newton Men's Club to Open Season Oct. 18

The Men's Club of West Newton will open its 44th season on October 18, with Alfred B. Cenedella, District Attorney of Worcester County, as its guest speaker.

Mr. Cenedella has been a public prosecutor for 16 years, 12 as an assistant district attorney and four as district attorney. He is now serving his second four-year term as district attorney of Worcester County.

His presence at the Club will guarantee an informative and entertaining evening.

Mr. Cenedella will be presented by Kenneth E. Prior, the Club's new president. Other officers elected for this year are: Ralph L. Chisholm, vice-president; Raymond P. Atwood, secretary; Donald Muirhead, assistant secretary; Francis C. Chase, treasurer; and Laurence M. Munroe, assistant treasurer.

"Art of Corsage Making to Be Discussed

The West Newton Educational Garden Club will hold its October 15 meeting at the home of Mrs. Sidney Williamson, 63 Southgate Park, West Newton, at 1 p. m.

The hostesses will be Mrs. Sidney Williamson and Mrs. Dudley Thernbury, who will serve dessert and coffee for the members and guests.

"The Art of Corsage Making" will be the topic of discussion for the meeting.

Local Models Appear in Chest Training Film

Currently being shown at Worker-Training Meetings and to club and service groups by members of the Speakers Bureau of the Newton Community Chest, is a full-color training film describing the activities of all 14 local agencies.

Based on an original idea first conceived by Lawrence B. Damon, former President of the Chest, and further developed by Mrs. Felix W. Knauth and others, the film follows the life course of an imaginary young couple through their contacts with all of the local agencies.

Models provided through the courtesy of the Roly Rogers Model Agency of Boston were Mrs. Mary Ward and Mr. David Bramhall. Both are Newton residents. The color films were taken by Mr. Harry Myers, a long-time Chest worker, and Mr. Myron Morse, a Newton resident who operates a well-established commercial photography business in Boston.

The film and the script are providing most effective in demonstrating to solicitors the fact that Red Feather agencies can serve in a wide variety of capacities.

The Men's Club of Newton Highlands met at the Congregational Church last Tuesday evening for a fine roast beef supper. An adjournment followed to the social room where a business meeting was held. The entertainment was a talk by Elie of the Boston Herald on his experiences during his recent summer's trip to Europe with Cartoonist Dahl, which was most interesting. As it was the first meeting of the season, a general hearty spirit of pleasure prevailed in renewing former ties and welcoming new members.

Kiwanians Hear Talk on Red Feather Needs

The feature of the regular weekly Kiwanis Club meeting, held Wednesday at The Hammondswood, was a Red Feather Information Please program, with Leo Barry, Assistant Principal of Newton High School, as Master of Ceremonies, and a panel of Red Feather Experts to answer his questions. The panel consisted of Mrs. L. Sumner Pruyne, President of the Newton Family Service Bureau, Mrs. Egon E. Kattwinkel, member of the Board of Directors of Newton District Nursing Association, Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, Director of Newton-Wellesley Hospital, and Robert R. Walker, 1952 Red Feather Campaign Chairman.

The program was sponsored by the Public Relations Division of the Newton Community Chest, of which Mr. Barry is Chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Miller of Newton Centre are spending a few days in the White Mountains at The Waumbek, Jefferson, N. H., and taking side trips to see the foliage at the beauty spots in the hills. Mr. and Mrs. Chester F. Perrine of Newton Centre and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Perrine of Weston are together at the Mountain View House, Whitefield, N. H., and Mr. and Mrs. Seward M. Paterson of W. Newton also are enjoying their annual stay at this resort. Mrs. Pennell F. Aborn of W. Newton, was noted this week at Peckett's-on-Sugar Hill, where she was hostess at a dinner party.

Growth of Church School Indicated

Twenty more young people from nursery to high school age have been registered this year at Church School of the First Unitarian Society in Newton at the West Newton Unitarian Church, Mrs. Fabian Bachrach, Jr., reported as chairman of the Religious Education Committee. This is an increase of 30 per cent and raises the total enrollment to ninety-five students. Mrs. Bachrach is also a church trustee.

"The growth of Church School shows the desire of our parents to give their children religious values—not merely as an individual experience, but in the setting of family and community life," Mrs. Bachrach states.

Families from every district of Newton participate in the program which is active from 10 to 12 o'clock every Sunday morning at the Parish Hall, 1326 Washington street. Five groups gathered according to age and interest and led by experienced teachers pursue different subjects, such as, "Miracles Abound," "History of Christianity," "Growing Up," "The Church Across the Street," and "Jesus the Carpenter's Son." Following interpretation and discussion, these topics are illustrated by the students in a manner appealing to their creative ability. Thoughts, pictures and actions lastly find religious expression in worship services for the older and younger age groups. The Reverend John Ogdon Fisher meets regularly with the parents of Church School children. Mrs. Bachrach emphasized that religious education cannot be a vital factor in the life of children unless home and church work together.

Letters Are Least Costly Measure

"So many people are engrossed in their own personal pleasures these days, that they completely ignore the pleasure a few minutes of their time would bring to others through a letter," a prominent Boston clergyman declared this week at a Boston convention. "Sports, radio, television, moving pictures and so many other attractions have taken the leisure time of the public that they cannot find time to write even a short note to a boy overseas, the parents back home, a neighbor in a hospital or to some other relative or friend to whom a letter would bring so much pleasure," he said.

The Post Office Department is again participating in the observance of National Letter Writing Week, October 14 to 20. Mr. Joseph P. W. Finn, Acting Postmaster, stated that the primary objective of this special Week was to revive the custom of sending little news notes to those in need of the pleasures brought only by a letter. "Our carriers could tell many pathetic stories of persons who wait each day for a letter from a boy or girl which never arrives; of the lonely individuals in rest homes who never are visited and rarely receive a letter from their own kin or friends," said Mr. Finn.

According to postal officials, there is a greater need for letters today than ever before and yet it is apparent that the volume of personal letters is not as high as it was some five or ten years ago.

Every member of the family is asked to write a letter to a brother, son or father in the armed forces during the coming week. School authorities have already assured their cooperation. Postal officials expressed the hope that some organization would actively promote the writing of letters, particularly to old folks alone in hospitals and homes. National Letter Writing Week serves to remind the public of the letters they meant to write and are now long overdue.

Cites Social Security Coverage

On the first of January, 1951, nearly five million self-employed people were brought under social security. While their earnings have been building towards old age and survivors' insurance since that date, their rights and responsibilities under this newly extended protection, in many cases, have not been apparent. In order to assist the self-employed in this area to better understand their new coverage, James T. Phelan, manager of the Social Security Administration's Cambridge office, has called attention to the following important facts.

1. The coverage is compulsory for all self-employed; however, several occupations are specifically excluded: Farm owners or operators are not covered. Neither are people who work for themselves as physicians, lawyers, dentists, osteopaths, chiropractors, naturopaths, veterinarians, Christian Science practitioners, public accountants, funeral directors, architects or professional engineers.

2. The self-employed person must have an account number card. If he has never had a card, or has lost his card, he should get in touch with the Cambridge social security office.

3. He must not report himself on the social security quarterly tax Form 941, with his employees.

4. He must report his 1951 income from self-employment on a special report attached to his regular income tax return during the first quarter of 1952. At that time he must report and pay a tax of 2¼ percent on his 1951 net earnings over $400 and up to $3,600. If the annual net earnings are less than $400—no tax will be levied and no credit will be given towards future Social Security benefits.

5. If, in addition, he has wage earnings from a job covered by social security, he reports only that part of his self-employment net earnings which, added to his wage earnings, total $3,600.

6. The self-employed beneficiary under age 75 may no longer receive benefits for all months if he is working and earning over $600 annually.

7. Benefits based solely on self-employment can first be paid for April, 1952, but in order to secure the maximum level of payments, the claimant should not file his application before 1953.

8. Benefits cannot be paid until a proper claims application is filed with the Social Secruity Administration.

9. The Cambridge office of the Social Security Administration has informational literature dealing with the self-employment provisions of the 1950 amendments which will be mailed free upon request.

WHY BRISTOL UPHOLSTERING IS DIFFERENT

(1) We don't tie springs just 4 or 6 ways—we tie them fully 8 ways and with special twine.
(2) We don't just glue loose frames—we take out old dowels, replace them with larger and new ones. We add brand new corner blocks.
(3) We don't tack seams at just the obvious spots—we hand sew seams throughout the piece.
(5) The seams on the sides and backs aren't blind-tacked — all the seams are hand-sewn.
(6) We don't use ordinary fibre or excelsior—we use the new, expensive moss filling.
(7) We don't just repair your cushions—we make brand new cushions, springs and all.
(8) We don't put the fabric on carelessly—we make sure the pattern matches perfectly.
(9) We don't just cut from a pattern—we fit your cover as carefully as a tailor-made suit.

Flexible Steel Re-Inforcing

Our own original method. The most vital part of your living room suite is the spring construction. Our new webbing and understructure prevents spring sagging.

and his later journalistic background.

As an eye-witness to China's struggle for world recognition as a great power, Father Maguire spoke not as a distant commentator or starry-eyed dreamer, but vividly and with conviction of his own pioneer days in Hunan. He lived through flood and famine, banditry and Communism in his work with the Miao tribesmen, which he has already described in his book, "Human Harvest."

Since his return from China, broken in health and with his life almost despaired of, Father Maguire has done distinguished work as a lecturer and radio speaker over WLWL, the Paulist Fathers' outlet, and over the Columbia Broadcasting System's "Church of the Air."

With the attention of the world focussed on China's struggle to establish herself as a unified nation, and with the inroads made on her national life by the doctrines of Moscow, Father Maguire's factual reports of his own experience have won hearings from Catholic and non-Catholic audiences alike.

serving his city and country in time of emergency, the holder is permitted to talk to the thousands of operators throughout the world or simply carry on a daily chat with sister Nell or cousin Minnie in Chicago. In either case the holder is eligible for one of the most interesting hobbies in existance. It is pointed out that no prior experience or knowledge of radio is required. All necessary details will be covered by the course at the Newton trade school.

Special appeal is being made to the women of the community to join the already thousands of women radio operators. Also badly needed are men who work in the vicinity of Newton and would be available for quick service if emergency demanded. The program is in charge of the communications department with headquarters at 430 Walnut street and complete details will be given to anyone wishing to call DEcatur 2-3330.

Taxpayers—

adult education was successful this week when Governor Dever signed the Taxpayers' Bill, now Chapter 680, of the Acts of 1951.

The enactment of the law, while not involving a great deal of money, reasserts two principles in democratic government, asserted Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., Executive Director of the Association. First, it reestablishes the principal that when grown men and women call upon the public schools to offer courses for adults of cultural but essentially non-economic value, they undertake to pay for most of it themselves without calling on their neighbors to pay for them.

Second, it allows the city or towns to be the judge of its citizens' desires, without shackling the municipalities so rigidly to state policy. Thus it encourages the Home Rule aspect of local government.

Rabbi Mandel—

no longer distinguish red from red, white and blue.

"We are worried by an invasion from without. Rightfully so, for during these Most Holy Days we are imformed that Russia has dropped her second atomic bomb. From the prophetic mandate of the synagogue, evasion of our ethical responsibilities is almost as culpable as invasion from without.

"Our guilt is not only the guilt of commission, but the sin of amoral permissiveness. In the face of the dirt and the filth which is daily uncovered in our press, our radio and television, too often we resort to the snort, the squirm, the shrug or the smirk. We have built up a whole series of defenses and psychological fortifications for our base indifference. With a whole series of infantile defense mechanisms we repeat the standard cliches of our time: 'It is fashionable to cheat the government; as long as you are not caught! I knew that racketeer; basically, he is a nice guy!'

"It would be a worse evasion if the synagogue and the church were to accept the futility of such a situation. We must concern ourselves with heightened seriousness about the individual behaviour as well as the social phenomena of our time. We must create islands of decency in every community; for the world is sick and every human being who walks into a sanctuary of God is confronted with the task to be God's agent and the world's healer. For such tasks does religion in our time have its greatest challenge!"

Things you'd like to know about your Railroad

THE CENTRAL IDEA

Lightening Your Tax Load

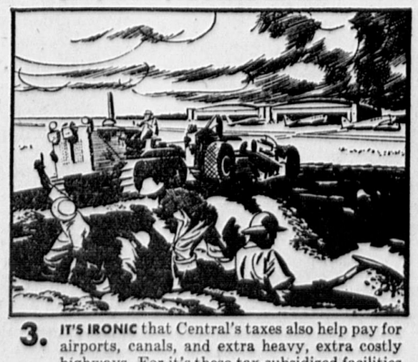

NEW YORK CENTRAL SYSTEM

1. LIKE YOUR HOME, plant or store, railroad property pays local taxes. In your own state—Massachusetts—New York Central paid taxes totaling more than $1,075,000 last year. And that sum was in addition to the $39,000,000 lift Central gave you with your Federal tax load!

2. CENTRAL HELPS local taxpayers foot the bill for some very important things. Fire departments that guard property and help keep down insurance rates. Schools for your youngsters. Police protection that makes the American hometown one of the world's safest places to live.

3. IT'S IRONIC that Central's taxes also help pay for airports, canals, and extra heavy, extra costly highways. For it's these tax-subsidized facilities that let airlines, barges, heavy trucks and intercity busses compete with your self-supporting Railroad . . . at the expense of all taxpayers!

4. BUT ANY WAY they are used, railroad tax dollars mean that much less for you and your neighbors to pay on tax day. Paying taxes is one more way in which New York Central forms a living part of every community along its 11,000 miles. And that's the CENTRAL IDEA!

Centre Woman's Club Hears Talks On Cerebral Palsy

A notable meeting was held by the Newton Centre Woman's Club September 24 when the joint Committees on Education, with Mrs. Charles W. Harvey, chairman, and Civics and Legislation, with Mrs. E. Lake Jones, chairman, voted their efforts in behalf of the Cerebral palsied youth of this area.

Mrs. R. Raymond Gorton, president of the Club, presented details of the great new "Build Freedom with Youth" contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Kroger Company of Ohio. Women's Clubs throughout the country have been invited and urged to enter the contest by bringing to a successful conclusion some project benefiting especially the youth of the community, with youth participating in the planning. With this in mind the Newton Centre Woman's Club is undertaking work with the cerebral palsied.

Mrs. Francis Flagg, Director of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Massachusetts and a member of the Education Committee, spoke feelingly on the subject of cerebral palsy; on how overwhelming is the need in our community for the awakening on this subject; on how great is the need right here in Newton for action on behalf of the afflicted children.

Mrs. George Eames and Mrs. Frank Smith, each the mother of a cerebral palsied child, spoke directly to the hearts of all in discussing frankly their problems and the need of their children for a better chance to develop their powers by intelligently administered community facilities.

October 10, at 1:30 in the Clubhouse, mothers of cerebral palsied children in the Newton-Wellesley area are invited to meet for tea and friendly interchange of ideas with members of the two committees.

Those interested should call Mrs. Harvey (LA 7-7753) for further details. Miss Kovalsky of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Massachusetts will attend, and further plans will be made at this time.

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
LAND COURT
Middlesex, ss.
To the honorable the Judges of the Land Court for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Respectfully represents Elizabeth C. Boyle of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth; that she is trustee for the owner of a certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situate in Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, bounded and described as follows:
A certain lot of land in Newton on the easterly side of Wildwood Avenue and numbered 75 on a plan made by William Bradford, Surveyor, April 15, 1889, and recorded with the Middlesex South District Deeds, Plan Book 62, bounded:
EASTERLY by land now or formerly of S. P. Cliff, forty (40) feet;
SOUTHERLY by lot #76 on said plan, eighty (80) feet;
WESTERLY by Wildwood Avenue, forty (40) feet;
NORTHERLY by lot #74, eighty (80) feet.
Containing 3,200 square feet of land.
That the record title to said lot of land is clouded by a mortgage given by Katherine Lyons of Newton to Mary A. Gavin of Watertown dated July 8, 1901, and duly recorded Book 2905, Page 102 purporting to secure a note for $1,450.00, payable three years after date July 8, 1904 with interest annually, which mortgage appears to be undischarged, unassigned and unforeclosed on and by the record—or not properly or legally discharged of record:
That for more than twenty years after the expiration of the time limited for the full performance of said condition no payment has been made and no other act done in recognition of said mortgage; and
That the mortgagor named in said mortgage and those claiming under her have been in uninterrupted possession of said land for more than twenty years after the expiration of time limited in said mortgage for the full performance of the condition thereof.
Wherefore your petitioner prays that after appropriate notices a decree may be entered on the foregoing allegations as authorized by Section 15, Chapter 240 of the General Laws as amended by Chapter 20, of the Acts of 1924.
ELIZABETH C. BOYLE.
JOHN J. FOSTER,

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court under Chapter 244, Section 15 G. L. by Brookline Federal Savings and Loan Association, a duly existing corporation having its usual place of business in Brookline, in the County of Norfolk and said Commonwealth, representing that it was the holder of a mortgage given by Domenico Sonsini, dated March 22, 1939, and recorded with Middlesex South Deeds, Book 6280, Page 185; that for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, the premises were sold at public auction; and that the affidavit which was recorded at the Registry of Deeds on April 10, 1940, in Book 6381, Page 274, contained an error or omission, namely, that the affidavit did not in effect state that the same was made by the Brookline Federal Savings and Loan Association; and praying that the Court authorize the recording of an affidavit amending and correcting the affidavit so recorded.

Stewart G. Orr Re-elected President of Newton Taxpayers' Association

Stewart G. Orr will serve again as president of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, it was decided at the annual meeting of the Association last night at the Newton Y.M.C.A.

STEWART G. ORR

Hailing the recent act of the Commonwealth in establishing a Department of American Citizenship in the State Department of Education, as giving Massachusetts the same kind of lead it had when this state was first to develop vocational education, Dr. John J. Mahoney underlined the need for the schools to meet the challenge presented by ten great weaknesses in American democratic life. He described the work of the Civic Education Project in developing teaching materials to meet these needs, and cited the item of the State as recognition of the problem.

John W. Agnew, manager of the municipal department of the First National Bank of Boston described the lack of knowledge concerning their own municipalities which is widespread among both business and political leaders. He described efforts to bridge the knowledge gap between business and government which is being done by the Institute of Municipal Management at Northeastern University of which he is an originator.

A taxpayers' town meeting gave the group of more than 100 some lively moments when the question of state legislators' salaries was raised. The Association is handling the question as part of a movement for legislature reform.

Great Need for Volunteers to Visit Sick, Aged

Court Our Lady, Catholic Daughters of America, held its regular business meeting in Our Lady's High School hall Monday night. Court Chaplain, Msgr. Michael Doherty was present and delivered a spiritual message to the members.

Grand Regent, Mildred Cavanaugh, introduced the guest speaker, Miss Madeline Bradley of Jamaica Plain, State Chairman of the Ladies of Nazareth, who pointed out the great need there is for girls and women who will offer their time to visit the sick and aged in hospitals and at home, and to work with hospitalized children, a minimum of once a month. The work of this volunteer group, which has the approval of Archbishop Cushing, is becoming increasingly significant, and although it was inaugurated only eight months ago there are now 900 women offering their services in the state and city hospitals.

Miss Bradley spoke also of a free course in occupational therapy being offered so that busy nurses may be relieved of some of this work.

She pointed out that all women are invited to join in this volunteer service.

New Aims of School of Liturgical Music Announced

In a letter to all the religious communities and to the pastors of the Archdiocese, Archbishop Cushing has announced the new aims of the School of Liturgical Music of Newton College of the Sacred Heart, which will begin classes this Saturday. The letter to the pastors requests that from each parish two boys and two girls of high school age be sent to take music classes at the College. These will constitute scholarships in Liturgical Music and will be assigned to boys and girls talented in music. From this group, the Archbishop says, it is hoped to form a special choir of the youth of the Archdiocese trained in Liturgical music.

The letter to pastors also announces the inauguration of a new work of training organists in choir directing and in Gregorian accompaniment for church music. These lessons will be given by noted organists in one of the prominent churches of the Archdiocese. More precise arrangements will be announced after organists interested in the project have been contacted. These lessons will be given without charge and the expense assumed by the Archbishop as an expression of his great interest in encouraging Liturgical Music throughout the Archdiocese.

The training of the boys and girls for the Liturgical Choir will be under the personal direction of Mother Dora Guerrieri, R.S.C.J., of the Newton College faculty. Mother Guerrieri, who has a Bachelor of Music degree from Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart and a Master's degree from Catholic University of America, studied Liturgical Music under the direction of Mother Georgia Stevens, R.S.C.J., pioneer worker for the teaching of Liturgical Music and founder of the Pius X School of Liturgical Music in New York City.

Besides these new ventures, the Newton College School of Liturgical Music will resume classes in elementary and advanced Gregorian Chant and conducting for religious and choir conductors of the Archdiocese. These classes are also offered free of charge at the expense of Archbishop Cushing. Classes will be held October 13 and 27, November 10, December 1 and 15, January 5 and 19, February 2, March 1 and 15, and 29, April 26 and May 10.

The teaching staff will include the Reverend Russell Davis and Reverend Edward W. Beucler, who taught in the 1950-1951 session. New on the faculty will be the Reverend Delphis O. Duquette of St. Mary's Church, 8 South Common street, Lynn. Father Duquette studied Liturgical Music at the Pius X School. Miss Anne Cullen of the Pius X School will also join the faculty.

Afternoon classes will be held from 1 to 2:40 and from 2:55 to 3:55 and will be followed by Benediction in the college chapel, sung by the music students.

Newton College of the Sacred Heart is situated at 885 Centre street. Classes will be held in the College Playhouse and Assembly Hall.

Christmas Stamps For Christmas Greetings

There is a definite, noticeable trend among postage stamp purchasers when mailing birth announcements and, in quantity, other mailings of personal or sentimental nature, to select stamps whose color scheme or the pictorial subject matter on the stamp is in keeping with the spirit of the occasion, season or event.

Many far-sighted folks are even now preparing their mailing lists for the sending of Christmas greeting cards, these card lists frequently running into the hundreds.

It is a task frequently put off until after the tiring period of Christmas shopping and the preparation of gift parcels for mailing has been completed.

The post office people have noted that the stamp that is being selected to be affixed to the carrying envelopes for Christmas greeting cards is the Nevada 3-cent stamp.

This is a most appropriate stamp for Christmas use as the stamp is green in color, depicts a pioneer cabin surrounded by stately fir trees, with a background of mountain scenery.

The main post office stamp windows and those in the branch post offices have a supply of Nevada stamps on hand in sufficient quantity to meet all reasonable requests. If your local post office is out of them, ask the stamp clerk to order some and reserve some for you.

An unusually high attainment scholastically for the two first college years' work is the basis for this award.

High School Plans Career Conferences

Series To Give Students Better Knowledge Of Careers and Education

The Guidance Department at Newton High School has arranged a series of Career Conferences for the junior and senior students. These conferences will provide the students with a better knowledge of further careers and education. The assemblies will be highlighted by guest speakers, who are well informed personalities in the field of education.

The meetings are scheduled for the months of October, January, February, April, and May at 8:30 a. m., Wednesday mornings in the Newton High School Assembly Hall.

Assisting in the presentation of this series will be a student committee. Mr. Roland Dapling of Northeastern University will serve as chairman of each meeting.

Half of the assembly will be devoted to questions from the student committee, and the remaining half will be given to questions from the audience.

Attendance throughout the series will be voluntary.

The first of these conferences took place on Thursday, October 11, 1951. The subject for discussion was, "Planning for Training beyond High School." The following five questions were given consideration during the first half of the meeting:

1. What types of training are offered by colleges, technical schools, and other educational institutions offering training to High School graduates?

2. What are the basic requirements for admission to such institutions?

3. What steps must a high school senior take to effect admission to such schools and colleges?

4. What is the tuition expense in the average degree-granting college, technical school, or business school? What types of scholarships are available?

5. On what facts should a high school senior base the choice of a school or college?

Order Block At Corner Condemned

Two alleged nuisances at Newton Corner are to be eliminated if action taken by the Board of Aldermen at its meeting Monday night are followed through.

The members adopted an order for the condemnation of the so-called "Poverty Block' on Washington street and passed a resolution calling on authorities to take steps to eliminate "obnoxious" odors coming from a plastic plant on Elmwood street.

As a result of this action, this block of buildings have been ordered razed on or before December 4, of this year. The vote on this measure was 19 to 1 with Alderman Leo M Cannon of Ward 1 opposed. Alderman Paul S. Rich filed a petition to have this block razed on March 1, 1951 and twice since that time has sought to have definite action taken in the matter with the support also of Alderman Carleton P. Merrill and the Newton Improvement Association

Chairman Ernest G. Angevine reported that owners of the property, at a public hearing held last April, has requested six months to dispose of the buildings. The six months expire on December 4, he pointed out.

Mayor Lockwood Also States That More Fire Stations Needed Here

Meeting Held by Mann Improvement Association Develops Into Lively And Interesting "Town Meeting"

Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood told the gathering of about 200 persons at the "old fashioned" town meeting held at the Horace Mann School in Newtonville last Thursday night, to discuss a proposed swimming pool at the Albemarle Playground, that he is in favor of such a project later, but that now the city needs schools and fire stations more than it needs a pool. The meeting was sponsored by the Horace Mann Improvement Association.

Although the attendance was not as large as had been anticipated, it made up for it in vocal dimensions.

It appeared that most of those in attendance favored the pool, but strong opposition arose, both from the administration and from persons located close to the proposed site.

In his remarks to the gathering, Mayor Lockwood stated:

"The main purpose of this meeting is stated to be to find out how people feel about the subject of a swimming, wading and diving pool on the Albemarle Playground. Our judgment, opinions and conclusions in this matter will only be so good as the facts and figures involved. It is reasonable to assume that all people will hold an open mind in this matter until they have the facts and figures.

"It is said that pollution of the Charles River is the overwhelming reason for pools. It is realized that for several years active devotion to elimination of this factor has been sustained, that repeatedly City and State officials have met and made considerable progress on remedying that problem.

"Special legislation was passed by which quantities of water were added to the flow of the river. The State Board of Health has never receded from compelling elimination of pollution and reports that 90 percent of its paper mill problem below Auburndale has been solved and by next spring it is confidently expected pollution will have been cured. The swimming at Ware's Cove on the Charles River in 1951 required three life guards and one instructor.

"Obviously this points to the reopening of Allison Beach, and arouses the question of an M.D.C. bath house. The floor of the

Residential Division of Red Feather Campaign to Launch Drive October 25

With 2,090 volunteer workers already enrolled, and with 200 to 300 more expected to be added to the lists this week, Newton is ready for its 1952 United Red Feather Campaign which will be launched in the Residential Division following the "Kick-Off" Dinner at Newton High School Thursday evening, October 25.

The total goal for United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston in the campaign is $7,275,000. Of this, $505,000 is for USO and the United Defense Fund which includes American Relief to Korea. The total amount raised last year in the campaign was $6,160,000 and it is estimated that approximately $200,000 of this will not be repeat gifts because of deaths or removals from the Metropolitan area. Consequently, to reach the campaign goal an additional 20% must be raised. Newton's share of the 1952 goal is $320,000.

Chairman Robert R. Walker has instituted this year a series of Worker-Information meetings. All villages are participating in this program, and already Waban, Oak Hill, Chestnut Hill, Upper Falls and Lower Falls have completed their meetings; Auburndale, West Newton, and Newtonville have held a portion of their meetings with more to come; and Newton Highlands, Newton, Newton Centre and Nonantum are launching on their programs beginning to night.

At these Worker Information meetings, Mr Walker, Felix W. Knauth, chairman of Residential Division, H Donald Norstrand and Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., assistant Residential Chairmen, Winslow H. Adams, Chest President, Edward C. Michaud, past Chest President, and H. J. Pettengill, Campaign Director are assisting, one or more attending each gathering and giving the workers the important facts about this year's campaign. In addition, members of the Speakers' Bureau are presenting the recently prepared Newton Red Feather Story with color slide films. Those representing the Speakers' Bureau for their part in the program are: Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Mrs. Matt B. Jones, Jr., Alex R. Asks U.N. Week Be Observed

In bringing to the attention of the Newton citizenry the fifth birthday of the United Nations, Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood stated that United Nations Day is October 24th and United Nations Week extends from October 21 to 27.

In a statement issued this week, Mayor Lockwood said:

This world-wide anniversary is of the greatest significance to all of us because the United Nations appears to be the single best human instrumentality available to secure our aims if the principles upon which this nation was founded are to survive. We must have a world at peace and the United Nations is the world's best hope for peace and security. Keeping the peace requires a United Nations organization made up of all the nations of the world who are willing to compromise to settle international disputes and suppress acts of aggression.

Want P'king Meters Put In Operation

Following a demand for prompt action for the installation of parking meters, the Board of Aldermen, by a vote of 15 to 5 Monday night, refused to appropriate $800 for the installation of bumper curbing at the Newtonville parking area.

Alderman Clyde S. Casady asserted that he would vote against any additional expenditures for off-street parking until meters are installed to help pay the expenses of such projects. He pointed out that the Board approved parking meters

Legislators Should Be Recorded

"Although the matter of legislators' salary increases can be a complex affair, most everyone will agree that the legislators who vote for or against a change in their compensation should at least stand up and be counted by roll call," asserted Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., Executive Director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association.

"When the last raise went through, on voice vote, the stock answer given by some Newton legislators who voted for it was, 'We had to go along with the boys or we would never have gotten anything we especially wanted through.'"

"It is my considered opinion," continued Muther, "that Newton voters appreciate the difficulties of the job with which their representatives at the State House are faced, but they also would like their men to record themselves and "the boys" this year on the salary increase question."

Students From Sixteen Towns at Junior College

The fact that sixteen towns outside of Newton are represented this year in the student body of Newton Junior College illustrates an important function of such institutions, according to James D. Laurits, Director of the College. In releasing data about this year's enrollment, Mr. Laurits emphasized that the public, non-profit junior colleges are meant to serve all young men and women within commuting distance, regardless of their towns of residence. Almost thirty per cent of the students at Newton Junior College live in neighboring communities.

The Auburndale area of Newton is the best represented with eighteen. Newton, West Newton, and Newton Centre have sent thirteen, eleven and ten students respectively. Eight come from Newtonville, seven from Waban, and six from Newton Highlands.

The men and women from the Newtons are as follows:

Auburndale — William Lynch, Herbert McGill, Richard Woodman, Philip Connor, William Cavanaugh, Robert Sparks, Lois Ufford, Arnold Van Leer, Margaret Weatherly, Philip Goulding, John Claffey, Roger Howlett, Walter Murphy, Allan Murray, Daniel Sullivan, Frank Downes, Robert Tuthill and Robert Valentine.

Newton — Theodore Kniznik, John Geagan, Owen McNamara, James McIsaac, Michael Proia, William Thomas, Curt Livingston, Tom Fahey, Jason Hochberg and Donald Smith.

West Newton — Salvatore Lechiaro, Richard Rycroft, Chester Wallace, William Foran, Arthur Wallace, Virginia Benson, Samuel Turner, Robert Hunter, Arthur Lasoff, Dodge Morgan, Aaron Harris and George Taylor.

Newton Centre — Leonard Kent, Francis Duggan, Donald Duguid, Robert Malton, Howard Du bar, David Blackall, Frank Axelrod, Richard Fitzpatrick, Virginia Nolan and Herbert Stepper.

Newtonville — Richard Shea, Arthur Roche, Charlotte Langone, Roy Buck, William Olsen, Charles Shaw, Walter Neville, Charles Roche, Richard Thatcher, and Paul Hopkins.

Newton Highlands — John Aldinger, Gretchen Maxted, Richard Perry, Jay LaGasse, John Morse and Robert Corbett.

Waban — Roger Cederlund, Monroe Carder, Lyman Mix, Donnell Carr, Walter Kett, John Rand and Kenneth Lyons.

"The distribution of students in the year's enrollment in itself tells us about other main functions of the junior college," says Mr. Laurits. "Approximately half of the students intend to complete this phase of their formal education with the Associate in Science or the Associate in Arts degree from Newton Junior College. The other fifty per cent intend to transfer eventually to various types of four-year colleges."

Security Council."

An all-day conference, to which the public is invited, will be held Saturday, Oct. 27, by the United World Federalists, Mass. Branch, at the Hotel Kenmore, Boston. Norman Cousins, a vice-president of the main organization, will speak at the evening banquet that night.

Following the Jaynes League's meeting Sunday evening, the group adjourned to the home of their advisors, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Carroll, Upland road, Waltham, for refreshments and further discussion.

A Hallowe'en party in the West Newton Unitarian parish house is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 28, with the Belmont AUY group as guests.

For service projects, the Jaynes League is continuing its collection of newspapers, magazines and cardboard.

Members of the Jaynes League will wait on table this Thursday evening at the parish harvest dinner to be held at the West Newton Unitarian parish house. Mrs. Julian C. Jaynes is chairman of the supper committee. Following the supper a white elephant auction will be conducted by John F. Carroll.

Miss Avery to Lecture on 'High News From the Middle East' Wednesday

The second lecture in the 1951-1952 series of Avery Lectures will be held at the Community Playhouse next Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The first three talks this year are planned to center around the strategic and little known Middle East which Miss Avery visited for the third time this summer. "High News from the Middle East," the topic for the next lecture, promises to be both challenging and fascinating.

The large audience which greeted Miss Eunice Avery when she returned for her 20th season in Wellesley was unanimous in its enthusiasm for the interesting and vital way in which she gave reality in Iran, its land, people, political concerns, and attitudes toward foreign countries.

The two basic needs of Iran as of the whole Middle East are water and health. This is a country where 90 per cent of the people are illiterate and where six out of every 10 children born die before they are six years old; a country where 80 per cent of the people are tenant farmers whose average annual earnings per family amounts to $70 to $100. But, warns Miss Avery, do not draw hasty conclusions from these figures. Iran is the bridge of the Middle East. It is a country rich in tradition and proud of its 6000 year old civilization. It is rapidly trying to bcome a modern nation. Its peasants are very competent and intelligent and with the aid of the Point Four Program which is concentrating on the village level in Iran, vast changes are in the making. Aviation and radios are tying the Middle East into a new relationship with the rest of the world.

The coffee houses are the centers of continual political discussion and Miss Avery found that the popular stations which booked all through the day were the Voice of India, the Voice of Azerbaidzhan, and the British Broadcasting Company. The Voice of America does not as yet speak with any real understanding of the area, its needs, and aspirations.

Everywhere throughout the Middle East, according to Miss Avery, there may be found three strong desires that should be understood and appreciated by the western world. The passion for independence is a powerful force; there is a great desire to exercise responsibility in collective efforts to effect world security; and there is everywhere a desire to improve the conditions of life. The recent nationalization of oil in Iran is in part a reflection of the keen desire to escape from any traces of colonialism.

The interests of the United States are closely linked with those of Europe. The Middle East is the crossroads of the world and Europe needs the friendly support of that critical area and the Mediterranean is not safe without their cooperation. It is time for us to know the Middle East.

Mrs. Clarence Hunter, chairman of the Avery Committee, says that in keeping with the custom of recent years, course tickets will still be available for sale at the second meeting next Wednesday morning.

Dr. Stearns is a Professor of Sociology and former Dean of Tufts College Medical School. He has held numerous staff positions, including Commissioner of Correction, State of Massachusetts, and is well qualified to speak on the subject of interest to all parents.

Also to be introduced are Mr. James J. Cahill and Mrs. J. L. Oncley, Ward 2, and Mr. Gordon B. Russell and Mrs. Henry Balos, Ward 7, opponents in the forthcoming School Committee election, who may be questioned during the social hour immediately following the meeting.

Ethics, not Expediency

When our community life runs smoothly, we naturally take all the conveniences and services for granted. It is only when the even tenor of our ways is disturbed, as something mechanical fails or some human agency errs, that we see that our smug self-sufficiency is really dependent upon many people.

The truth is that we are all dependent upon countless others for the protection of life, health and peaceful living, and our need of the services of others is constant and fundamental.

Our duties in turn are services that we owe others. These arise out of the very fabric of social life; and without this sense of duty there could be no organized society as we know it.

Carrying out our duties day by day is in fact the very best form of self-discipline. And when we are able to thus see duty as the foundation stone of our social world our sights are raised to the highest level of insight and understanding.

The safety of our institutions depends moreover on a high sense of duty on the part of those who occupy high places, as leadership in politics and finance, for example, carried with it constant temptation to be blind to the precepts of duty for personal gain.

It is certainly most necessary today that the philosophy of duty be reaffirmed since social betterment can only be achieved by responsible action and steady self-discipline.

Some of our national figures who have lately been making the headlines might then well consider these words of Woodrow Wilson: "Self-government is not a mere form of institution, to be had when desired . . . It is a form of character that follows on the long discipline which gives a people self-possession, self-mastery, a habit order and common counsel, a reverence for law which will not fail when they themselves become the makers of the law."

We could do with a great deal more of ethics and far less of expediency; more sense of duty in high places instead of devotion to the cause of self-advancement by ignoble means.

Southern Democrats Are Opposed to Truman: Sentiment in Middle West Strong for Taft . .

When President Truman defeated Governor Dewey in the tremendous 1948 upset, he won his surprise victory despite the fact that the Dixiecrats succeeded in taking away from him 39 electoral votes in Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee.

Latest reports on Southern sentiment indicate that if Mr. Truman seeks another term next year, he may have trouble getting electoral college votes in nearly all the 11 States which made up the Confederacy.

The Southern Democrats appear to be stronger and better organized than they were at the corresponding time four years ago. They know that they can't prevent the renomination of President Truman if he decides to run again, but they are convinced that they can retire him from office.

While Mr. Truman isn't likely to say so publicly, this situation may play an important part in shaping his decision for 1952, for if the South were to stand solidly against him, about the best he could hope for would be to throw the election into the House of Representatives.

There is a growing impression on the part of many professional politicians that the President will not be a candidate next year, and that when he considers the time strategic, he will pass his political mantle to Supreme Court Chief Justice Vinson who would be acceptable to the South.

A bitter fight at next year's Democratic national convention would be inevitable if Mr. Truman chooses to make the race, and it almost certainly would be followed by a walkout of many of the South's top Democratic figures.

Some Southern Democratic leaders privately concede that, with the wide split that looms in their party ranks if Mr. Truman is a candidate to succeed himself, General Eisenhower, if he were the Republican nominee, would have a real chance of walking off with the electoral votes in some of the former Confederate States.

The picture presenting itself to President Truman is hardly one likely to cause him to seek another four years at the White House, particularly at a time when his wife is understood to be attempting to prevail upon him to retire from politics.

It might also be pointed out that even if President Truman already has made up his mind not to run again, as is possible, he would delay his announcement as long as was feasible because of the damaging effect it would have upon his legislative program.

Some of General Eisenhower's supporters are becoming a little restless, and they now feel that if the General is to bid for the Republican nomination for President, he not only will be obliged to say so but also to make known his views and his platform well before the New Hampshire primaries to be held next March.

The backers of Senator Robert A. Taft add that Eisenhower also would have to explain what has happened to change his mind since he wrote the letter with which he removed himself from the Presidential race back in January, 1948.

There is a growing conviction that the General cannot maintain his silence very long in 1952 and have any real hope of capturing a majority of the votes at the G.O.P. national convention.

Strategists in Senator Taft's camp believe that since their man has now stepped forward and announced himself an official candidate for the Presidency, it will serve to put General Eisenhower on the spot and increase the mounting demand that he make known his political intentions.

Reports from the Middle West indicate that Taft sentiment is extremely strong in the farm belt States upon which any G.O.P. candidate for President must depend, and even the Eisenhower backers admit that it is there that they will face their stiffest opposition.

Governor Dever, from all indications, will veto the bill for the restoration of the old pre-primary State political conventions, when it reaches his desk. One of the year's bitterest battles on Beacon Hill then will be waged on the question of upholding or overriding his veto. The Governor undoubtedly will prevail although it is possible that the actual count will show more legislative sentiment against him than for him. There is little likelihood, however, that the supporters of the measure can muster the necessary two-thirds vote to pass it over his head.

The real issue involved in the battle over the pre-primary bill is the Governor's insistence that a provision be written into it that a State convention could endorse candidates for State-wide offices only if one-third of the enrolled voters in a political party turned out for the election of the convention delegates.

The main objective of the supporters of the move is to make it possible for the conventions to back slates of candidates. They know also that there is virtually no possibility that either party can get out a third of its voters for the election of delegates. They feel that the pre-primary law would be meaningless with the amendment Governor Dever wants, and they are disposed to go down fighting rather than give in on that point.

The Darkening Shadow

FEDERAL EXPENDITURES continue to mount. Budget outlays are estimated at $71.6 billion for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, and $87.3 billion for the following fiscal year. By June 30, 1953, the Federal Government will have spent about $402 billion since the end of World War II. This amount exceeds by $88 billion the total spent during that war and exceeds by $235 billion total Federal expenditures for the years from 1789 through 1940.

Estimated Federal expenditures for current fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, equal to estimated total income payments to all individuals in the blackened area, while total state and local expenditures equal aggregate income payments of states in crosshatched area.

We have been told that heavy Government al expenditures are of no real concern since the peak outlay for defense purposes will constitute only around 20 percent of the gross national product.

But this is a distorted and misleading yardstick of gros yard-our s1789 ltsequencepur-uatOto our ability to carry the load since the huge defense expenditures have been the most important factor in the expansion of the gross national product. Furthermore, the goods, equipment, and services provided by defense expenditures do not directly constitute real wealth.

The cardinal test of a nation's capacity to bear financial burdens is to be found in the willingness and ability of the taxpayers to pay the bills. For the current fiscal year, it is estimated that taxes of all kinds—Federal, state, and local—will take more than 30 percent of total national income. Based upon past experience of other countries, this high proportion of taxation for governmental purposes is perilous because of the strain imposed upon the economy and the living standards of the people.

The extent of the drain by government of the people's income is graphically presented on the accompanying map. In 1929, Federal expenditures were less than two thirds of the total income payments to the inhabitants of California. In 1938, Federal expenditures were equal to the income payments of the eleven Pacific and Mountain states. For the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, it is estimated that Federal expenditures will take the equivalent of the aggregate income payments of the Pacific and Mountain states and, in addition, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Minnesota, Iowa, and nearly three fourths of Missouri. This is shown by the blackened area on the accompanying map. If total state and local expenditures are added, the area would be extended to include the remaining portion of Missouri, plus Arkansas, Louisiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, and two thirds of Georgia, as is shown by the crosshatched section of the map. In other words, total governmental expenditures for the current fiscal year will take an amount equal to all of the income payments to individuals of states with a land area that covers nearly four fifths of the country and has an aggregate population of about 62 million persons and more than 22 million workers.

In order to meet its huge running expenses, the Government must collect revenue from all income groups in every nook and corner of the country, and every worker is compelled to spend an increasing amount of time working for the Government. In 1939, for instance, a married man with an income of $2,500 a year was exempt from Federal taxation and was able to keep all his earnings. In the current fiscal year, however, he is compelled to work twenty-two days to pay his Federal income tax. A married person with an income of $5,000 a year would work thirty-four days for the Federal Government; one with $10,000, forty-three days; and one with $50,000, eighty-seven days. A person in the $100,000 class works nearly one half of his time for the Government, or more than three personal incentives involved in looting the rich, the revenue that can be obtained from times as long as a person with a $5,000 income. Bradford B. Smith, Economist for the United States Steel Corporation, has pointed out: "There is no justification in morals or in the principles of individual liberty for progressive taxation. It is the simple looting through law of the more productive by the more numerous but less productive. Its appeal is demagogic, and its result is communism, which in turn is but a transitory stage in the evolution away from liberty into dictatorship . . . sincere endorsement of progressive taxation, motivated often by generosity, is unwittingly one of the worst forces undermining liberty in America."

But aside from the injustice and the impairment to this source is comparatively small. If all personal taxable income of $25,000 a year and over were confiscated by the Government, the amount would be sufficient to pay the current running expenses of the Federal Government for only about ten days. It stands to reason, therefore, that as our tax burdens expand, those in the lower income groups will not only have to spend an increasing number of days working for the Government, but also will be forced to bear the bulk of additional taxes.

In Great Britain, with a shriveling of income of the wealthy, the tax burden is being shifted to the lower income groups. Data compiled by the British Financial Secretary in a report to Parliament show that total taxes of those in the income group below 1,000 pounds a year increased by 615 percent from 1938 to 1949, while those receiving 1,000 pounds and over showed a gain of 170 percent. Whereas in 1938 only about 20 percent of total personal income taxes was contributed by the lower income group, in 1949 the proportion had sharply increased to 40 percent. On the other hand, the proportion of these taxes paid by those in the upper income groups declined during this period from 80 percent of the total to 60 percent. The most striking change is shown in the case of those with incomes of 10,000 pounds and over. This group contributed over 30 percent of total personal income taxes in 1939 but only 13 percent in 1949. During this period, however, the net income after taxes of this group dropped from 69 million pounds to 44 million pounds, or a reduction of more than 36 percent. On income of 10,000 pounds and over, 42 percent was retained after taxes in 1938 but only 23 percent in 1949.

The British experience should be a dire warning to us as we are traveling down the same road to insolvency, and we must make a detour before it is too late.

This country must, of course, spend whatever is necessary to bolster our national defense. But while we are spending staggering amounts for military purposes as a protection against aggression, the Administration is undermining our financial segment, the cornerstone of our nation's security, by condoning waste and extravagance that in the aggregate may approximate $10 billion annually. Furthermore, there is no apparent official concern over our financial plight, as is evidenced by the fact that pressure groups within the Government itself are busily drawing up blueprints and propagandizing for all sorts of projects that not only have no connection with national defense, but also have a Utopian tinge. It is to be hoped that the taxpayers of the country will be aroused from their lethargy and, while there is still time, realize that they are the victims of squandermaniacal public servants who are "selling them down the river." The crucial financial situation calls for a united front by those who pay the bills.

Letters to the Editor

THE PRE-PRIMARY BILL

Editor, The Newton Graphic:

The bill to restore the Pre-Primary Convention for selecting candidates for statewide office to be voted for in the September State Primary, was recently returned to the House with three amendments suggested by the Governor.

Instead of the provision in the bill that every town and every ward of a city should have one delegate and additional delegates for every 1500 votes, or major fraction thereof, exceeding the first 1500 votes cast therein for the party candidates for governor, he proposed two from each senatorial district and one additional for each 5000 votes exceeding the first 5000 cast therein, that would have disfranchised the voters of both parties in the small towns, and there are about 200 such towns. Also, in our own senatorial district, where the overwhelming Republican vote is here in Newton, and the large Democratic vote is in Ward 22 of Boston, the Newton Democrats and the Republicans in Ward 22 of Boston and Ward 5 of Cambridge, would be unrepresented by delegates.

He also offered an amendment to prevent buying of votes at the convention and other corruption. This is not necessary, because the bill itself provides for a fine of $5000 or imprisonment for a year, or both, such fine and imprisonment to cover the former, and the Corrupt Practices Act (G.L. Chapter 55 and 56) covers the rest of it already.

The real "joker," however, was an amendment to provide that unless 30 per cent of the enrolled voters of the party vote in the April Party Primary, which selects the delegates the party shall hold no convention. Now the Governor knows, or should know, that no such percentage was cast in 1934 and 1936 where we had the Primary Conventions. He also knows, or should know, that even in the September State Primary we often do not have more than 30 per cent of the vote cast. This amendment could not be interpreted otherwise than a deliberate attempt to sabotage the bill by making it unworkable. If His Excellency desires to kill the bill, and it is apparent to many that he does, let him have the moral courage to veto it, and not try and kick it out the back door.

I opposed these amendments in the House and they were defeated 123 to 86. The Senate will undoubtedly concur, and the bill will be back on the Governor's desk again, where he will have to either sign it or veto it.

George E. Rawson,
Representative,
4th Middlesex District.

Spotlight on the Newtons

LARRY SMITH PROUDLY shows some of his medals. (Photo by Arthur S. Coolidge)

At an age when most swimmers have met their last meet, 39 year old Larry Smith, of West Newton, still churns a powerful stroke. A winner of 75 medals, he continues to practice at Newton's YMCA, and is a member of its swimming team.

When a boy, Larry's "swimming pool" was the Charles river. He later became a familiar figure at L St., in Boston. When 18 years old, Larry swam across Dorchester Bay, a distance of about 1 mile.

That bright day in October, when Larry drew his big frame out of the water, a man walked from the group which had been watching Larry's progress. The man suggested he see Ray Millard, (who was then swimming director at the Boston YMCA). And so began Larry"s swimming career.

The future Champion went directly to see Mr. Millard. "I want to try out for your swimming team," he blurted out. After Larry had swum the length of the YMCA pool and back, Mr. Millard asked him to return to the pool that night. He not only swam again that night, but practiced faithfully for two weeks.

The Providence, R. I. YMCA team, (which had been undefeated for 8 years) was to meet Boston Y. Although the coach felt Larry wasn"t ready for the team at that time, Larry couldn't contain his enthusiasm.

The afternoon of the meet, Larry practiced at the Y pool. One of the members of the team asked him if he would swim backstroke with him, as practice for the evening meet. "Backstroke?" Larry was a free-style swimmer. Was all hopes for participating in the meet, gone? "Would you teach me backstroke?" queried Larry, his eye on future meets. He beat his new teacher by 2 yds.

The team lost no time in informing the coach of the new "discovery". The director could hold out no longer. Larry would get his chance.

When the meet began, Larry was unprepared for the opportunity. He hadn't brought a swim suit! When "Backstroke" was announced, one of the team members loaned him his suit. And so Larry swam his first meet in a wet bathing suit. "Get into the water," whispered his teammates. Larry, red-faced, lowered himself into the pol. He hadn't realized this was the procedure of starting backstroke.

On the opposing Providence team, was Russell Branch-Nat'l Champion, and member of the team in the All-American Event. Stiff competition! When the 100-yd. Backstroke meet was ended, Larry was one of the four men who broke the 2-state YMCA record.

In 1933, he joined the Marines. He became quarter-mile Champion of the U. S. Battle Force, in 1935. About 200 competed for this championship. In the All-Navy competition, Larry took second place in a 440 yards, free-style.

During World War II, Larry served in the Navy 3½ years. When on a fire-fighting rescue party, he volunteered to enter the hold of a burning ship, seal a gas leak, and recover bodies. Four men had died in this attempt.

He put on a rubber suit. He then covered with grease, his face, hands, and any part the rubber suit did not cover. He put a towel about his neck, and entered the hold of the ship. Larry rendered the gas leak safe by hosing steam into it.

For this action, he received the Navy Commendation Medal. Ten thousand men witnessed the presentation.

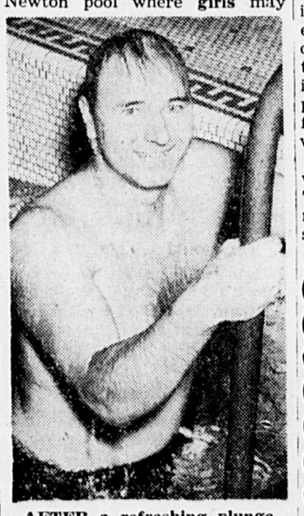

He served on the famous ship, the U. S. S. O'Bannon. This ship was credited with 17 bombardment missions. It sank 1 battleship, 3 cruisers, 6 destroyers, and about 5 submarines, while Larry was with it. The ship served in the South Pacific; received the Presidential Citation.

While in the Navy, Larry broke the Florida State Backstroke record, and won several gold medals. He was a member of the Naval Training Center Team, at Miami, Florida.

When 35 years of age, he won the New England Championship (100 yd. backstroke, time: 1 min. 2 seconds). When 38, an unusual age for a swimming champ, he won the Mass. State Championship. He also won about 6 Mass. and R. I. State Championships, in both free-style and backstroke.

He still holds records in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Plans for the future? He's eyeing the State Championship, and is practicing for a chance at it next year.

Larry has a question which consists of two parts: "Why is the Newton YMCA the only pool in this area? Why isn't there a Newton pool where girls may practice ofr Championships?" He isn't referring to an outdoor pool. Says Larry, "Why not build some indoor pools where young people may swim year round, rather than the 2 months that an outdoor pool allows?" Any answers?

Meeting Advocates Election of William A. Jackson

A public meeting in behalf of the candidacy of William A. Jackson for Ward 2 Alderman was held in the Newtonville Woman's Club House last week. Speakers included Jackson, Alan Duff, John W. Whittemore and Alderman Riley J. Hampton.

Jackson is New England Sales Manager of the Boston Office of a national chemical company, a resident of Newton for fifteen years and a leader in many civic affairs. He stated that he is a candidate because a number of responsible people had convinced him that his knowledge of the city, his ability and judgment were needed at City Hall. He urged every voter to examine the records of the candidates and elect the man best qualified.

Alan Duff stressed the importance of electing businessmen of Jackson's calibre with sound character, integrity, honesty and achievement, rather than perennial politicians. He stated that we can no longer take honesty for granted, but must work for men like Jackson, who are known to possess these qualifications.

John W. Whittemore urged all responsible voters to concentrate their efforts to elect Jackson to avoid splitting the votes between five candidates and possibly find after election that the least desirable candidate has won.

Alderman Hampton announced that he was endorsing Jackson's candidacy, for Ward 2 Alderman, and also candidates for the two contested seats on the School Committee, Genevive R. Oncley in Ward 2 and Gordon B. Russell in Ward 7. He stated that it is important for us to elect men and women to public office who are capable of directing the policies and expenditures of the city, and of the school department, in the best interests of the 85,000 residents of Newton.

Newton Goes After Fourth Win Following 38-19 Victory at Watertown

Newton High, currently riding the crest of a high victory wave with no defeats thus far in its 1951 season, appears a likely candidate for another triumph this Saturday against Arlington High, following last week's 38 to 19 overpowering of Watertown. The Columbus Day gridiron meeting against the Arsenal Towers from across the river proved, if nothing else, the scoring potential of the Orange.

Counting from the 13-13 opening game tie with Rindge, the Warren Huston-coached eleven has tallied 122 points in four tilts, emerging as a football force demanding attention in the schoolboy circuit. Individual recognition, although he did not take part in last week's affair, goes to halfback Don Thompson, standout star of the 25-13 belting of Brockton two weeks ago.

Sidelined because of a pulled leg muscle which occurred during the Brockton victory, the 150-pound scoring ace almost saw service against Watertown when the game became deadlocked at 19-all at the half, but relaxed as Newton thumped across for three TD's in the second half to wrap it up.

Lacking the strong, scoring ability of Thompson, the Orange more than made up for the loss in the person of left halfback Dan Coffey. The 140-pounder, who possesses both speed and drive, had a field day for himself by scoring three six-pointers. If that was not enough, Coffey turned in a fine performance backing up the line, usually emerging from the bottom of every pile.

Quarterbacking the Huston T-formation, Fred Dauten came in for a share of the Newton victory by tallying twice, first on a 14-yard end around and again when he kept for a sneak over center from the four-yard line.

While proving itself a capable machine once on the offence, witness the two touchdowns scored in the first four minutes of the Watertown game, the Orange can also lapse into moments of false security; less than five minutes later, Watertown roared back to even the count at 13-all.

Following the kickoff, with the Towners on their own 40-yard line, left halfback Ed McMahan swept around left end, cutback to shake off a host of Orange defenders, to bolt all the way for a touchdown. A pass interception set up the next Watertown TD, when tackle Larry Cafarella snagged a deflected aerial on the Newton 25 and carried to the 12. In four plays the host team scored, and tied the count when the conversion was good.

Dauten, who tallied the second Newton TD after Coffey posted the opening six-pointer on a five-yard end sweep, put the Orange back in the driver's seat in the second period when he engineered a quarterback sneak from the four-yard stripe. This climaxed a drive of 68 yards, starting from the Newton 32, with Coffey picking up gains of 12, 10 and 12 yards.

Yet, even this one touchdown edge evaporated as Coach Joe Zeno's boys found the air ways free and utilized a passing attack to deadlock the issue again.

The complexion changed considerably during the second half, and the Orange settled down to keep Watertown well over on its own side of the field while Newton entered touchdown territory three times to register a decisive win. A tighter defensive formation, alerted linesman and watchful line backers cancelled out any further Watertown threats.

This Saturday's opponent, Arlington High, should offer little resistance, it sporting a not-so-grand 1-3 record. But having lost its last three encounters, Arlington will pull out all stops to climb back on the victory trail. Right halfback Joe Eagan, Arlington's main scoring ace, will bear watching. Eagan tallied both TD's last week against Agawam High.

Newton will have the services of Thompson this Saturday, to bring its backfield up to full strength. And all indications point to the locals' fourth straight triumph.

Dora Balos Committee Is Formed

In the interest of electing Mrs. Dora Balos as School Committeewoman from Ward 7, to be voted for in all wards of the City of Newton November 6, the announcement of the committee to promote Mrs. Balos' candidacy has been made.

This committee of interested ladies, all of whom are mothers and/or educators, includes present and former teachers. They are: Mrs. Meyer Ritvo, Chairman; Mrs. Herbert H. Waterhouse, Vice-chairman; Mrs. Henry L. Ziegel, Secretary; Mrs. Paul S. Rich, Mrs. Edward S. Dangel, Mrs. Jay Gilfax, Miss Margaret F. Magoley, Mrs. Arthur S. Karol, Mrs. Lawrence B. Perlmutter, Mrs. William Mark and Mrs. Leonard M. Salter.

With the formation of the Steering Committee, it is announced that Mrs. Balos (Mrs. Henry H. Balos) a former teacher and the mother of daughters now attending the Underwood and Bigelow schools, has spoken before several groups within the past week, and has attended several house parties in her honor. Mrs. Balos is an active P.T.A. worker and a director of the Newton Improvement Association, as well as Vice-Chairman of the Mothers' Auxiliary of the All-Newton Music School. She has stated that the Newton School Committee, dealing as it does with the development of our future citizens, our precious children, is definitely not an all-male obligation, and should include a mother of young children in the lower grades of our public schools so that she may be an active and progressive link between the parents, the P.T.A. organizations and the School Committee. It is in the hope of this active coordination that she has accepted the candidacy for this important post.

Any Newton citizen, especially parents or P.T.A. workers who may wish to help Mrs. Balos in her candidacy, are requested to contact any member of her Steering Committee.

Rallies Held For Robinson

Several house parties and rallies have been held in the Newtonville area in benalf of William J. Robinson, candidate for Ward 2 Alderman in the coming city election. In addition, workers on the "Elect Robinson Committee" have already mailed over four thousand letters to residents of the ward, advising them of the candidate's qualifications for this important post.

In discussing his qualifications for this office, Mr. Robinson said, "My experience as an administrator and financial planner, being the purchasing agent for seven organizations grouped within the New England Medical Center, would certainly be put to valuable use as an alderman who, with other members of the board and the mayor, is responsible for the expenditure of over eleven million dollars of your money each year. It is more than being a good fellow to sit at City Hall. It requires capabilities to think out adequate solutions to our many problems and the courage to work unceasingly until the job is completed. To my way of thinking, every Newton citizen should feel it a high honor to be urged by his friends, neighbors and acquaintances to serve them at City Hall."

Pupils to Be Consecrated

New pupils of the Kindergarten and First Grades of the Sunday School of Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre, will be consecrated at a special service which will take place in the Temple this Sunday morning, at 10:45 a.m. Dr. Albert I. Gordon, spiritual leader of the Congregation, will pronounce the blessings over the new pupils.

The children of the School will participate in the Service and will bring baskets of fruits and vegetables in honor of Sukkot, and this harvest offering will be given to the Peabody Home for Crippled Children in Newton.

Black Top Streets At Newton Corner

Work on black topping streets in the Newton Corner area will be started shortly according to Director of Public Works Willard S. Pratt.

This work, it is estimated, will cost about $35,000 and is considerably less than would be the cost of concreting the streets which it is estimated would cost $118,000.

of every nation and every individual.

We will accept, when the other nations do likewise, the control and reduction of armaments and armed forces and the effective international control of atomic energy.

We believe in a better life for all people. We support a worldwide attack on hunger, poverty, disease, and illiteracy as a necessity for achieving lasting peace.

The things we believe in are also the goals of the United Nations. Any progress toward these objectives by the United Nations is progress toward achieving the American ideal. Already the United Nations has made long strides toward its goals.

What can we do to help the United Nations?

We can learn what the United Nations is and does by studying its charter.

We can urge our churches, our clubs, our schools to sponsor programs on United Nations achievements and current problems.

We can read the United Nations publications on display in our libraries.

We can take an active part in responsible organizations and suggest that they consult regularly with the Department of State. We can send our views to that Department.

We can have representatives from our organizations visit United Nations and report their findings.

Here are a few highlights—Sixty countries are pledged to act for peace, security, freedom, understanding prosperity, health and education. They are likewise pledged to act against war, aggression, enslavement, intolerance, poverty, disease and ignorance.

As Mayor of the City of Newton I urge the citizens to pause during United Nations Week and especially on United Nations Day, Wednesday, October 24th, by remembering to give thanks for this anniversary commemorating a landmark in the history of the human race, and that its significance should be cherished in our hearts.

Art Association Members Go on Painting Picnic

Among those making the trip were: Kenneth Blodgett, Miss Marietta McCarthy, Mrs. Elizabeth DeVic, Sherwood Blodgett, Roy Randall, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Whitney, Miss Grace Stone, Thomas Eaton, Mrs. Etta Ramsdell, Miss Priscilla Ordway, Mrs. Joseph Fisher, Chester Reed and Mrs. Helen Sandman.

river is in very poor shape for wading and bathing.

"Crystal Lake has not been used anywhere near capacity and use fell off greatly in August.

"It has been stated that the City is well able to finance construction of pools, and that details will be revealed here this evening. I welcome such information as I have not learned it from any City official.

"The Mayor's interest in public swimming facilities is well known as he has mentioned it on several occasions. Study and discussion has taken place as to location, cost and ability to finance, character and making use of the High School central heating plant so that year-round use might be made, and all children properly trained. When not used for children, such facilities could well serve many adults, operating under the Recreation Department. Where to provide such a project in a financial program has not been settled because of the great demand for school houses and fire houses. The number of children in the Boston Public Schools has shrunken greatly in recent years, while in Newton we had an increase of 650 pupils in 1951, expect an increase of 800 in 1952, an increase of 600 in 1953, and in a ten-year period the total will rise from 12,000 to 16,000 pupils.

"The current action of the National Production Authority warns us that we cannot expect to build the schools planned for construction in 1952, and recreations facilities receive no consideration comparable to schools.

"Everyone knows that the Metropolitan District Commission cannot go ahead with the Watertown swimming pool for similar reasons; and for the same reasons we cannot change over formerly used school buildings. It is imperative that those buildings must be held as stand-bys for class-room use.

"While it happens that this section of Newton has ample room in its schools, everyone knows the situation to be just the opposite elsewhere. This is not the simple question of new schools, but one of available class-rooms.

"When the question is asked how other places build swimming pools and Newton does not, let no one think that it is because Newton does not spend money, for we are already spending 70 percent more on recreation per capita than the average of the other 38 cities in the State.

"We have built and have in the process of completion three Recreation Buildings this year, besides considerable other outlay for grounds and appurtenances.

"Here are a few random facts and figures. The M.D.C. pool at Faneuil cost $300,000. It requires three men constantly for operation outside of clerks and guards. Four hundred gallons per bather are required daily. Recirculation and chlorine are expensive, but M.D.C. might not approve use of 100,000 to 200,000 gallons per day. It would cost at least $24 per day for 100,000 or about ten cents per bather. Thirty percent of the summer days are not good for swimming. When we urge the State to spend money, remember that the State debt today is about $400 per family which you and I must pay in the years just ahead of us, just as you will have to pay a figure already higher than that per family on present Newton City debt.

"There is a very pressing need of new fire houses. There are sections of the City without any playgrounds.

"In spite of all I have said to you I give everyone interested in this proposition much credit for developing the thought of better swimming facilities. The effect of the petition was good, but just as you and I cannot buy a new car, a new bathroom, a new kitchen and a new garage all at the same time, we have to program our needs accordingly to many existing conditions in National, State and City affairs."

Following Mayor Lockwood's talk, several persons rose to ask if any plans have been made at all for the pool, but were answered in the negative by Alderman Arthur S. Scipione, in whose district the pool would be built, and by Mayor Lockwood.

Both said plans had never been submitted before the Department of Public Works.

James P. Murphy, a member of the Newton Recreation Commission said the Commission had considered the pool a year ago and had decided to ask for $100,000 for such a pool. He said, however, that he did not know where this request had been forwarded.

A statement by Arthur J. Gallant, a sponsor of the pool, that there is a 12-inch water pipe line around the playground which could carry water to the proposed pool drew applause from many in the gathering.

The mayor, however, objected to this, saying that it would raise havoc with the area's water supply. To which Mr. Gallant expressed disbelief and added that water could run off into a nearby brook so as not to disturb the sewer system.

A spokesman for the Frank A. Day School P.T.A., said his group unanimously favored the project while a representative of the Franklin School P.T.A., stated that his organization is in favor of the pool, but doesn't think it proper to favor one section of the city above the others. He recommended small local pools throughout the city and this remark drew approval from other persons.

Mrs. Calvin M. Webber of 60 Fessenden street, said she lived only five houses from where the pool would be located and that she felt she spoke for her neighbors when she objected to the noise and traffic dangers that a pool would precipitate. To which this brought a retort from John D. Russo of 128 Edinbory street, who said he lived close enough to throw a stone in the proposed pool and that after considering it for a long time, he could not find it in his heart to object to "some fun for the kids."

A rapid exchange of words then followed from the floor and one man angrily asserted that the pool would be nothing but a cesspool and a woman spectator called such pools 'high school hangouts."

At this time, the moderator, Atty. George W. Cashman was forced to raise his voice several times to remind the gathering that the purpose of the meeting was to discuss if such a pool could and should be built and that many of the speakers were "putting the cart before the horse" in their arguments.

Others present who voiced approval of the pools were Aldermen John C. Beale and Winfield C. Anderson; and Mrs. Helen L. Ring, who read an article citing the value of swimming pools. Ernest L. Sullivan, president of the Association stated Representative Christian A. Herter Jr., was reported as favoring the project.

Mr. Sullivan further stated that "our purpose is now to convince the city fathers to formulate plans for the pool now and then submit formal plans to Washington for approval by the War Production Board." He added that the association will have a new petition for a public hearing on the pool drawn up and submitted to the Board of Aldermen as soon as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Martin have purchased the colonial type house of seven rooms at 82 Wyoming road, corner of California street, from the Rev. Hollis R. Upson.

John Griffin of Newton served as toastmaster at the first fall luncheon meeting of the Aeronautics Association of Boston at the Bradford Hotel, Tuesday.

two years ago and said that they should have been installed by now.

The $800 appropriation was approved by the Public Works Committee, but was not approved by the Finance Committee. Acting chairman Earle D. Wood reported that the Finance Committee felt the city has had insufficient experience with off-street parking areas to vote the $800 expenditure and also felt that it should be a budget item for next year, instead of being taken from the surplus this year. Chairman Kenneth E. Prior of the Public Works Committee said that the installation of the bumpers would increase the capacity of the area.

Dinner invitations have been sent out to all workers in the campaign and this year's "Kick-Off" Dinner is again expected to be the largest dinner gathering in Newton for the year. Last year 650 workers and guests were in attendance.

The Boy Scouts in Newton are again participating in the campaign, distributing the general leaflet to 22 000 homes beginning Saturday, October 20 and continuing through October 25.

At the Metropolitan luncheon on Monday, Newton was awarded the prize for the largest percentage of workers enrolled among the larger towns and cities. Murray E. Sholkin, president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, formerly chairman of the Manufacturing Division in the Newton Red Feather Campaign, and vice chairman of the North and Central Metropolitan Division for Industry in the UCS campaign this year, was the speaker. Mr. Sholkin told the more than 100 leaders of the Metropolitan Division present the approved methods of soliciting manufacturing concerns and their employees.

Active Group Seeks Election of William E. Hopkins

William E. Hopkins, experienced professional engineer and able business administrator with 27 years activity in planning industrial and business development, is conducting a city-wide contest for election as alderman-at-large from Ward 7. Mr. Edward J.

WILLIAM HOPKINS

Pease is campaign chairman. Mr. Julius W. A. Kohler, Mr. John McCarthy, Mr. G. Kendrick Bringhurst, Mr. Frank J. Broadhurst, Mr. Charles Olton, and Mrs. William C. Waugh are co-chairmen. Mr. Ralph Sanguinetti is treasurer and Miss Margaret Magoley is secretary.

A resident of Newton for 15 years, Mr. Hopkins has served the community in many capacities. He is a hard worker and able administrator, having been captain and major in Community Chest campaigns; president of the Newton Improvement Association for 2 years; deputy Village Air Raid Warden, and leader of a professional engineering group acting as advisors to the Mayor and the City of Newton.

Mr. Hopkins is keenly interested in Newton's future and is now a member of the Boys Work Committee of the Newton YMCA. He is presently building chairman of the Halloween Party to be held at the Underwood School which is attended by two of his four children.

Upon receiving an engineering degree at Johns Hopkins University, Mr. Hopkins studied Business Administration and Industrial Engineering at Columbia and New York University. He has served the engineering profession in many ways, having been chairman of the Metropolitan Chapter and numerous committees. He is now Mechanical Engineer of Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation with whom he has been associated for 15 years.

In his talks before home rallies, Hopkins has stressed the need for considering municipal management as a large business with annual income of $11,000,000 and larger expenditures including capital investments in schools, sewers and other long term improvements.

It is important that Ward 7 be represented by Aldermen-At-Large who make it a point to understand the problems and who will attend not only the stated meetings of the Board of Aldermen but also their committee meetings. An active interest should be taken in community organizations and problems concerned with maintenance of property values, traffic on streets, railroad commutation facilities, school facilities, control of industrial development and enlargement of recreational facilities.

Mr. Hopkins proposes to cooperate with other members of the Board of Aldermen in applying constructive business and engineering practices, in analyzing Newton's problems, establishing essential facts and encouraging proper solution, all on the basis of what does Newton really need and what can we afford.

Girl Scout Work Is Explained at Rotary Club Meeting

Mrs. Gerald P. deWestfelt, a member of the Girl Scouts National Staff, was the speaker at the Monday meeting of the Newton Rotary Club.

Her topic was "American Youth—1951 Edition." Girl Scouting, Mrs. deWestfelt said is more than girls in uniform, or saluting the flag. It is an activity program and supplies certain needs such as home making, arts and crafts, international friendship etc., and the way these activities are carried out is the core of the Girl Scout Program.

"The present generation," Mrs. deWestfelt said, "lives in an atmosphere of 'Easy Ethics,' yet it is trying to strengthen our democracy. Statistics show, that only one out of eight children live with both parents, and eight million children have moved from one place to another, thus losing their sense of security. The need of youth is love, security, opportunity to learn, grow, develop, and be happy. Youth needs to learn how to get along with people, how to become leaders as well as followers, and to develop self confidence. They should become citizens who are able to choose and act."

New Teaching Facilities Completed At Newton-Wellesley Hospital

MISS MARY SHAUGHNESSY, Assistant Instructor in Science, School of Nursing, Newton-Wellesley Hospital, helps some students with their problems in newly re-furnished chemistry laboratory at the hospital.

This week marked completion of new teaching facilities and modern class-room installations at Newton-Wellesley Hospital. The entering class of pre-clinical students, the largest single class in the history of the hospital's school of nursing, has already begun to make use of the new installations.

Says Miss Myrtice L. Fuller, Director of the School of Nursing, "With our newly refurbished laboratories and class-rooms we are now in a better position to bring the most advanced teaching techniques to our student nurses. The pre-clinical group, which is now embarking on a twenty-four week program intended to integrate them into our professional instruction curriculum, will be the first to make full use of the new arrangements. This pre-clinical period is a critical one during the course of which we can best determine whether or not the student has made the right choice of career selection and whether or not we have made the correct selection of students. Fortunately we usually find that we have both been right and those who leave the course at this stage in the game are relatively few in number."

It is the primary aim of the school to prepare young women professionally, academically and culturally to participate in the community as well as in hospitals, in the prevention of disease and in the skillful care of the sick. The school also endeavors to provide a sound foundation for advanced preparation in the major fields of nursing as well as to guide the stuent's development in social attitudes and habits which are essential to good citizenship.

Although the orientation process continues almost throughout the whole twenty-four weeks of the pre-clinical period, it is particularly intensive during the first week. At this time, the new student is given a thorough physical examination so that she and the hospital may be sure that she is physically equipped to carry on the strenuous routine which is to follow. She is taken on a tour of the hospital and its grounds. She and her relatives are entertained at a tea given by the Student Council, where she meets the upperclassmen and members of the faculty. She first comes under the protective wing of her "Big Sister," an upperclass student who is assigned to help each freshman learn the ropes and who assists her in making many adjustments to a new way of living and thinking. For many of these girls, whose average is 18, this is the first experience at group living away from home and the stabilizing factor of the "Big Sister" program long ago proved its worth.

The new student receives instruction on the history of her own school of nursing and on the history of the nursing profession in general and becomes familiar with its many noble traditions. She is also taught how to care for her own health and person under the direction of Mrs. Joan Woodward, who, among her other duties is responsible for the student's hygiene.

Regular class work starts during the second week of training and covers such subjects as anatomy and physiology, chemistry and micro-biology,, the nursing arts and psychology, the history of nursing and professional adjustments, nutrition and dietetics. Nursing arts instruction follows classroom periods with practical demonstrations that are closely related so that practice can follow theory. Lectures by staff physicians are also woven into the course of instruction so that the student nurse can understand the medical significance of what she is learning about in class-room and laboratory. For example: a demonstration on how to give back cares may be followed by a lecture by the staff dermatologist on the skin and its functions.

There are frequent tours to related departments during the course of instruction and the student is able to observe at first hand what goes on in the X-Ray department, the laboratory, the diet kitchen and the laundry. The group visits the local waterworks and sewage disposal plant when studying sanitation and go on field trips to a local milk plant or food processing factory when learning about public health.

Before the student is taught how to administer a hypodermic injection she must first complete a course in nursing pharmacology, during which she becomes familiary with drugs and the methods of administering them.

During her fifth week, the pre-clinical student starts her work on the wards and during the remaining weeks of her preliminary period the number of ward hours increases as she works up to more complex procedures during the last couple of weeks before her capping ceremony, she has a more concentrated experience which is pointed towards total nursing. Even though the profession of nursing has become enormously more complex during the last fifteen years, at a hospital which serves the community, as does the Newton-Wellesley, there is a constant emphasis on the importance of the patient as an individual and on the value of good bedside care.

Finally the great day comes when the pre-clinical student learns that she is to be "capped" and that she will be accepted as one who can reasonably look forward to entering one of the noblest professions. At a candlelight ceremony she receives her cap from her "Big Sister," breathes a sigh of relief at having successfully passed her first milestone and takes an eager look into that seemingly distant future when she will be a full-fledged graduate, entitled to place the magic initials R.N. after her name.

During her pre-clinical training she has benefitted by the teaching skills of such talented instructors as Miss Fuller, herself and Miss Hilda Batchelder, assistant director of the school of nursing. She has had instruction in the nursing arts from Miss Charlotte Howard and her assistants, Miss Elizabeth Adams and Miss M. Priscilla Donlan. Her science studies have been furthered by Miss Dorothy Cotter who is assisted by Miss Myrtle Polley and Miss Mary Shaughnessy. Miss Elizabeth Porter teaches Public Health, the History of Nursing and psychology. Miss Margaret Phillips teaches nutrition and dietetics. It is unnecessary to say that the above are graduate nurses and among them a number hold bachelor's and master's degrees as well.

With the fresh, light, well equipped classrooms and laboratories just completed the hospital now has the most modern type of installation for the vital function which it fulfills through its school of nursing—another step in maintaining the good health of the community.

Rexall One Cent Sale Under Way

A heavy concentration on local newspaper advertising and circular distribution coupled with a national advertising program will make the annual Fall Rexall Original One Cent Sale, one of the most heavily-promoted events in the history of the Liggett Drug Company. The sale runs Thursday, October 18, through Monday, October 22.

Most Liggett Rexall Drug Stores, here and elsewhere, are scheduling an expanded program of local newspaper advertising. In addition, substantial quantities of the colorful four-page circulars will be distributed house-to-house in most communities.

Nationally, Rexall has placed two-page spreads in five magazines which will reach an estimated 80 million people. The ads are appearing in issues on news stands in Life, Look, Saturday Evening Post, Collier's and Farm Journal. The Amos 'n Andy Rexall radio show on CBS is devoting commercials to the sale on two broadcasts.

Pre-sale forecasts points to one of the most sucessful One Cent Sales since their inception in 1913. The merchandising basis for the sale is to offer two nationally-advertised Rexall items for the price of one plus one cent.

Says Shortage of Mortgage Money Is Disappearing

Fears that home building in Newton and Middlesex County would be discouraged during the next few months by a shortage of mortgage money are rapidly disappearing, according to Roy S. Edwards, local lumber and building materials dealer and member of the Public Affairs committee of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

"Some parts of the country, including Newton and Middlesex County, experienced difficulty in arranging mortgages until recently, but additional funds have become available as a result of payments made on outstanding mortgages and increased personal savings in the hands of leading institutions," Mr. Edwards said.

"Actually, unless building products containing steel, copper and aluminum become more scarce than appears likely now, home building should continue at an above-average rate during the next year.

"Legislation recently passed by Congress permits smaller down-payments on lower-priced houses, thus making it possible for more families to purchase a new home.

"Defense agencies in Washington say that at the present time, they have no intention of discouraging construction of small and medium-sized homes, although they are issuing very few permits for so-called luxury housing.

"Under existing regulations, anyone wishing to build a home requiring no more than 1800 pounds of steel and 35 pounds of copper, or 1450 pounds of steel and 160 pounds of copper, automatically qualifies for an allotment of critical materials and may start building without having to submit an application to Washington.

"This self-certification plan was adopted by the National Production Authority so that red tape would not delay construction of homes in the modest price range."

He discussed at length the important problem of zoning in Newton and its influences on the future development of the city. Mr. Hopkins is an authority on zoning because of his many years experience in planning as an engineer. Mr. Hopkins also said that the reason many people had been insistent on his running was because the people, particularly of Ward 7, felt that they were not being adequately represented by the present Aldermen at large in Ward 7. People have often referred to the fact that the present Aldermen are missing a large percentage of the meetings of the Board of Aldermen as well as committee meetings and are not energetically working for the people who elected them. Mr. Hopkins said that if he was elected he would devote a lot of time to the work and would attempt to honestly and energetically represent the people of the Ward. He also said that he wanted them to feel free to talk with him at any time on any matters of interest and that he would appreciate their suggestions.

This notification is in accordance with Chapter 132, General Laws, Section 18, and the amendments hereto, which require cities and towns to destroy the eggs, caterpillars, pupae and nests of the gypsy and brown-tail moths under heavy penalty for failure to comply with the provisions of the law.

If a property owner fails to destroy such eggs, pupae and nests, then the city or town is required to destroy the same, and the cost of the work in whole or in part, according to the value of the land, is assessed upon and becomes a lien on the land. The City Will Perform All Winter Work Unless Otherwise Notified by Property Owners.

Full instruction as to the best methods of work against the moths may be obtained from the Forestry Division, City Hall, or from the State Forester, State House, Boston, Mass.

Work done by contractors should be inspected and approved by the local Superintendent before payment for same is made.

Santa Claus Sending His Son to Take Part in Antique Show Oct. 25, 26, 27

Santa Claus is sending his son to take part in the Antique Show that is to be held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club October 25, 26 and 27, from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. The following telegram was received by Mrs. R. Raymond Gorton, Club president, and read at the opening meeting of the season:

North Pole—October 5, 1951

Just heard of your big Antique Show October 25, 26, and 27 Stop Am sending my son to play carols on pipe organ Stop Also huge stocking filled with grabs for children Stop My helpers will be there with Christmas cards and wrappings and a preview of gifts Stop My wife thinks antique idea terrific Stop Since each member is bringing a treasure she is sending a few rare ones as a contribution Stop My son quite looking forward to the journey and three day visit Stop

Santa Claus

The tiny pipe organ which will play during each of the days is presided over by Santa's son, who plays twelve different Christmas carols. The movement of his hands and feet is most fasc ting, and he smiles at the children through the little mirror in front of him. The carols will be broadcast through the square when he gives his daily concert.

Another unique feature of the Show will be a rare collection of Chinese antiques on exhibition for the first time. There are old bowls and bronze evil spirit disks that have been removed from the graves of ancestors; prehistoric vases and valuable scrolls, together with snuff bottles, lacquer, and embroideries. And from the other side of the world come old silver, Venetian glass, and figurines brought from Europe this year.

The Santa Claus Shop will appeal greatly to young and old. In it will be found a most unusual assortment of Christmas cards and wrappings and a collection of Christmas tree ornaments that are delicately beautiful. There will be Madonnas in different sizes and colors, tiny creches, sleighs, and reindeer. A huge stocking will be filled to the top with 10 cent gifts for children.

In the main hall the New England Antique Dealers will exhibit their treasures gathered throughout the world, and the Club will have its own Treasure House of gifts collected from homes in Newton. The Snack Bar will be open from 11 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., and a food table will hold treasures from pantry and kitchen. Tea will be served each afternoon while the organ concert is being given, and a punch bowl will be a center of attraction each evening.

In charge of general arrangements are Mrs. Howard M. LeSourd of Newton and Mrs. Orville P. Carter of Newton Centre, who will be assisted by every member of the Club.

Kris Kringle Bazaar to Be Held at Newton Highlands November 2

For the fifth consecutive year the Kris Kringle Bazaar displays its wealth of gifts and gadgets in the Newton Highlands Congregational Church on November 2 at 10 a.m. Enthusiastic chairmen and workers have been preparing for the great event ever since last May in order that the Bazaar might come early to help smart Christmas shoppers. Mrs. Luther W. Piper and Mrs. A. Ralph Tailby are co-chairmen of the Bazaar, directing and inspiring the hundreds of women working for the success of this annual money-raising event for the benefit of the church.

Not only are the women knitting, sewing, canning and baking, but the men also, under the chairmenship of Mr. J. Ralph Stout and Mr. Albert N. Walker are planning a Garden Booth which will transform one corner of the Parish Hall into a bower of green fragrance. Home cooked foods of all kinds coming from real home kitchens will be on sale at the Food Table of Mrs. Albert Genaske and Mrs. Norman Greene.

Sparkling Christmas decorations by Mrs. Dana Sylvester and Mrs. Russell Clark will enhance the Parish Hall and highlight the tempting wares of every booth. Coming in the door the eye is caught first with the colorful display of hand knit articles at the booth of Mrs. Francis L. Searway and Mrs. Herbert Federhen. Many will linger at the Attic Treasures of Mrs. Thomas Goodwin and Miss Mabel Perry and the "This and That" Booth of Mrs. B. Walter Godsoe and Mrs. Donald D. McKay. Aprons, handkerchiefs, and books are on sale by Mrs. J. H. McCready, Mrs. John Ewart, Mrs. C. Ernest Hill, Mrs. Allen G. Brailey, Mrs. Allston T. Budgell and Mrs. Frederic Groetsema.

Printed Christmas cards by Rust, Jr., may be ordered at the Gift Table and many unusual and delightful gifts made and purchased by Mrs. Henry Nelson and Mrs. Arthur Marden will solve the Christmas shopping problem.

The children have not been forgotten by Mrs. Beale Upchurch and Mrs. Winthrop Fletcher, who are managing Santa's Workshop. Then there are Grabs by Mrs. Charles J. Brown and Mrs. Richard F. Chapple, Movies by Mrs. Spencer Deming and Mrs. Donald Bishop and a Nursery by Mrs. Francis T. Gowen.

For those who love a surprise, the Post Office with its foreign and domestic marked packages will have inexpensive and exciting gifts, all planned and executed by Mrs. Paul Williams and Mrs. Lorenz Muther. Opportunities to eat all day abound in tempting aromas. The Snack Bar opens at 11 o'clock and Mrs. James Zimmer and Mrs. Stephen Hung will supervise luncheon until 1 o'clock. Candy made by the most expert cooks in Newton will be on sale at the Candy Table of Mrs. Edwin Terkelsen and Mrs. Arnold Rood. Tea in the middle of the afternoon to refresh the busy shoppers will be offered by Mrs. Martin Luthy. The Highlanders will sell cokes and check wraps. Then the fitting climax to precede the evening of light music will be the Turkey Supper for 99c with all home cooked food served cafeteria style from 5 to 7 by Mrs. Stanley MacMillan and Mrs. F. A. Trcie.

An All-Church Orchestra under the capable direction of Mrs. Catherine Abele will entertain those remaining in the evening and around 8:30 the Highlanders, complete with soloists, will sing light operatic numbers directed by Mr. Morris L. Brown.

Newton Republican Club To Hold Candidates Rally

The Newton Republican Club will hold its second biennial open rally for all candidates to Newton elective offices at 7:30 p.m., Friday, November 2, at the Day Junior High School, Walnut street, Newtonville. This is the first fall event for the Garden City political club.

Candidates for Mayor, Aldermen, and School Committee, in the coming election on Nov. 6, have been invited to speak. Rep. Christian A. Herter, Jr., will act as moderator, and the general meeting will be opened by L. Johnson Callas, President of the club.

Newton this year will have contests for Aldermen-at-Large in Wards 2, 3, 5, 6 and 7; for Ward Aldermen in Wards 2 and 4; and for School Committee in Wards 2 and 7. The fight for the Mayoralty is between Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood and Walter A. Hodgdon.

Although the city election is non-partisan, the Republican Club feels that the rally serves a public interest by providing a forum for local aspirants of both parties.

In addition to Mr. Callas, club officials are: Mrs. Helen Stetson, first vice president; W. Brooks Baker, second vice president; Frederick G. Fisher, Jr., administrative vice-president; Harris A. Reynolds, corresponding secretary; Nancy Moore, recording secretary; Mrs. Edith B. Deming, treasurer; and Mrs. Mabel Mattson, City Committee Representative.

Union Reformation Day Services to Be Held Sunday

The speaker at this service will be the Rev. Dr. Emory Stevens Bucke, editor of the Methodist weekly, Zion's Herald. Dr. Bucke is an outstanding figure in New England Protestantism. Ordained to the Methodist ministry in 1939, he served churches in Oxford and Hyde Park, Massachusetts before assuming the editorship of Zion's Herald in 1934. He served as a member of the Protestant Delegation to Yugoslavia during the summer of 1947 and has recently been elected a delegate from the New England Conference to the General Conference of the Methodist Church, to be held in San Francisco in April, 1952. Since January of 1949 Dr. Bueke has also served as Instructor in Religious Journalism at the Boston University School of Public Relations. His sermon on Sunday will be entitled "Like A Tree Planted."

Music for this union service will be furnished by the combined choirs of the three churches. The ministers of all thre churches will also participate in the service. The public is cordially invited to this union service marking another anniversary of the Protestant Reformation.

William F. Brosnan of 41 Chatham road, Newton Highlands, has been named a trustee of the Lowell Textile Institute by Governor Paul A. Dever, it was announced last week.

Jackson Homestead to Hold Open House Sun.

Invitations have gone out from the Board of Trustees of the Jackson Homestead to city officials and other special guests for a reception at the Homestead this Sunday afternoon. This will be followed by extended visiting hours for the general public on Monday, the 29th. On that day from 10 to 12 and from one to five, all interested citizens will be welcome.

For the past year, the Jackson Homestead, a historic property presented to the City of Newton by Mrs. Harry S. Middendorf, has been in process of restoration. Much progress has been made.

The seven Garden Clubs of Newton have cooperated with city departments in improvement of the grounds and the establishment of a period garden. The beautiful curved fence, for many years an outstanding feature of this property, has been restored and put back in place. A patterned brick walk, flanked by flower beds of plant materials such as were used at least a hundred years ago, gives a welcoming approach to the porch with its rambling wisteria vine and the main doorway.

The house itself, built in 1809 and a fine example of the Federal period of architecture, is a brick-ended structure with four corner chimneys. It is painted white with black shutters.

The entire first floor has now been redecorated with appropriate papers and color schemes. Of special interest is the old kitchen with its red-brown woodwork and white plastered walls. The fireplace and oven, carefully unsealed after ninety years of disuse, were found to be in excellent condition.

Oak Hill School PTA Hosts To School Committee

The Oak Hill P.T.A. were hosts to the School Committee of Newton last Tuesday evening in the Memorial School auditorium, Oak Hill Park, Newton Centre. Present were Messrs. Francis P. Frazier, James J. Cahill, Gordon B. Russell, Haskell C. Freedman, Henry W. Keyes and Guernsey Camp, Jr., of the school committee, together with Mrs. Dora Balos and Mrs. Genevieve R. Oncley, candidates for the school committee in the forthcoming elections.

Open to the public, the occasion offered an opportunity for the community to know the individuals who serve on its school committee. Each member and candidate spoke upon the responsibilities and aims of the group, and the speeches were followed by a lively question period, when the audience made up in keen interest what it lacked in numbers. Questions such as the position of the school committee in the city government, and its coordination with the other departments, were discussed; and the audience asked for general information concerning teachers' salaries in relation to other communities, progress of the building program, and what part the committee plays in the selection of text books.

The school committee members emphasized the importance of being kept informed on the community's viewpoint so that they may best be represented in dealing with the problems which arise, and it was the general feeling that such gatherings as the present one afforded the best possible means of attaining mutual understanding for the benefit of all.

Former W. Newton Resident Weds Miss Joan Bradshaw at Fairfield, Ia.

An altar banked with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and greenery in Barhydt chapel, Fairfield, Iowa, was the setting October 5 for the beautiful fall wedding of Joan Bradshaw and Calvin Scovel, Jr., of Des Moines. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Bradshaw of Fairfield, Iowa, and the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Scovel, Sr., of Holliston, Mass., formerly of West Newton. The double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. L. L. Weis, pastor of the Methodist Church, before a large number of members of the immediate families, relatives and invited guests. Cathedral tapers in branched candelabra were placed at the altar and on both sides of the white carpeted center aisle for the candlelight service. White satin bows marked the rows of seats.

MRS. CALVIN SCOVEL, JR.

The honor attendant to the bride was Mrs. Katharyn Scovel Fordyce of Middletown, N. Y., sister of the bridegroom. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard E. Smith of Ottumwa, Iowa, and Charlotte Enyart of Okron, O., cousins of the bride.

Calvin Scovel, Sr., attended his son as best man and Henry Williamson of Fairfield, William Hunt, Chester Danielson and Donald Tew of Des Moines, acted as ushers.

The couple departed on a wedding trip to Lake Minocqua, Wis., following the reception. For travelling the bride chose a dressmaker suit of gay wool crepe with accents of deep red. The same shade of red was carried out in the hat and shoes.

After her graduation from Fairfield high school, the bride attended Iowa State College and was graduated with a B.S. degree. The bridegroom was graduated from Dean Academy and Boston University. He is employed in the home office of the Employer's Mutual Casualty Company in Des Moines, where the couple will make their home at 333 Grand avenue.

The Right to Vote

In less than two weeks, registered voters of Newton will have the opportunity of going to the polls and casting ballots for candidates seeking city offices.

How many voters will take advantage of this opportunity is problematical and the indifference shown by many eligible to vote is a sad commentary on the patriotic motives of those who refrain from exercising their franchise privilege.

In recent years it has become apparent that a marked decadance in government, particularly state and national, has set in. One does not have to be a crystal gazer to realize this, and we have been well informed of the system of patronage which is being carried on to the detriment of the American public.

This country is sorely in need of leadership, not only nationally but at every level. There is a tendency of many office holders to perpetuate themselves in office regardless of the methods used to obtain that desired personal end. As a result, conditions today are alarming and everyone who gives this matter a thought must surely realize it.

But bad as some individuals holding office are concerned, the public, and the voting public in particular, are more responsible for conditions as they are than any one else. Too little thought is given to the qualifications of the individual seeking office More often he is elected because he is a "good fellow." Such reasoning is hard to understand. There are many "good fellows" but they are not all qualified to make laws for us nor to make decisions for us.

But most deplorable of all are those individuals, with the right to vote, who constantly and consistently never cast their ballot. They, in the last instance, are the ones mainly responsible for the type of government which is prevailing.

Every citizen who has the right to cast a ballot should cast that ballot at all elections. To do otherwise will greatly aid to perpetuate the type of government which is all too prevalent today.

The Wood Frog

When a Wood Frog is resting quietly under a tree or near a puddle of water, it's almost impossible to see him. He's small, and the shades of brown on his back and sides make him seem to be a part of the ground. The only mark on him that stands out is a black patch behind each eye.

If he were not such an athlete, the little fellow would never attract any attention. But when there is a disturbance near him, and he thinks that he might be in danger, he gives himself away by leaping about. Though small, he is a powerful jumper.

An unusual thing about his leaps is the way in which he lands. The National Wildlife Federation says that he can twist around while in the air. When he comes down, he is facing the direction from which he came. This enables him to keep an eye on the enemy or disturbance which caused him to jump.

Because he is so alert, the Wood Frog usually manages to avoid capture. If, by chance, he makes a slip and gets caught, he often manages to get away by squirming his strong, slippery body.

The lively Wood Frogs live in the woodlands of the northeastern United States—from South Carolina and Arkansas, north to Canada. In the winter, they hide away under stones, stumps, logs, and thick piles of leaves and brush. Their long rest ends early in the spring, when the first sunshiny days bring them out.

Not long afterward, the female Wood Frogs lay masses of eggs in the woodland pools. Each tiny cluster contains from a thousand to three thousand eggs. While these are being laid, the males croak hoarsely, as if to announce that their families are about to gain new members. It is the only time of year that they make much noise.

If it is a mild spring, and the water is warm, the eggs hatch in nine or ten days. But in cold water, they may wait as long as 24 days before turning into tiny black tadpoles.

The tadpoles stay in the water until summer, when they begin to grow the legs that will give them the shape of frogs. Soon they are ready to leave the water and join the thousands of Wood Frogs which are hopping about in the shady forests. There they spend much of their time hunting insects to eat.

Current Comment

Taft Has Best Chance to Win Nomination

The principal objection a great many Republicans have to Senator Robert A. Taft is that they don't think he can be elected President.

That was why they by-passed him for Wendell Willkie in 1940 and for Thomas E. Dewey in 1948.

President Truman has the same idea because he has made it very clear that Taft is the man he'd like to see the G.O.P. nominate for the Presidency in 1952.

The party-line Republicans distrusted Willkie, and they were never very enthusiastic about Dewey. Given their choice, they would have preferred Taft to either.

Taft has been the man who has carried the ball for their political party, who has mapped its policies and put them into operation. But when the blue chips were down and the highest office in the land was at stake they felt he couldn't get the necessary liberal and independent votes to win election.

A good many shrewd political observers think Taft would have come closer to winning than Dewey did in 1948 and that he wouldn't have done any worse than Dewey in 1944, Willkie in 1940 or Landon in 1936.

But a large segment of the Republican party has got into the habit of looking for someone else as soon as Taft offers them his candidacy, and they're doing that right now.

As matters stand today, Taft appears to have a stronger chance of landing his party's Presidential endorsement than he did in either 1948 or 1940, both years when he went down fighting at the convention. In 1944 he bowed out of the picture for Senator John W. Bricker.

Taft's official announcement of his candidacy last week may have the effect of forcing the hand of the Eisenhower boosters who realize that if their man remains silent too long, the Ohio Senator conceivably could line up enough delegates to sew up next July's convention.

The Eisenhower supporters recognize that to hold the line against Taft they must have some pronouncement from the General that he is, at least, in a receptive mood and is willing to run if he can have the nomination.

Senator Taft holds several political cards in his hand at the moment. For example, he already has agreed to allow a slate of candidates pledged to him to run for election as delegates in the Wisconsin pre-Presidential primary.

Under Wisconsin law, as here in Massachusetts, a Presidential candidate must give his official consent before the names of would-be-delegates can appear on the ballot as pledged to him. The lists for the Wisconsin primary close the middle of January. If Eisenhower does not give the authority for a slate in that State to run pledged to him, the likelihood is that Taft will make a start by tieing up the Wisconsin convention vote.

Taft's drive could become difficult to stop if the politicians get the idea that his bandwagon is rolling, and that could happen if Eisenhower declines to make known his position.

Such influential Massachusetts Republicans as Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., and Congressman Christian A. Herter are anti-Taft and pro-Eisenhower because they differ with some of the Ohio Senator's political theories and because they privately believe he would stand much less chance of achieving election than would Eisenhower.

In the event of a fight here in Massachusetts, Lodge and Herter along with such other G.O.P. figures as Senator Leverett Saltonstall and ex-Governor Robert F. Bradford probably could halt a swing to Taft on the strength of their own personal influence, although they may not be able to prevent the election of Taft delegates in some districts, and Minority Congressional Leader Joe Martin probably will be found in Taft's corner when the battle begins.

For all practical purposes the Presidential skirmishing was opened with Taft's official announcement last week. The Taft supporters are now working industriously. The Eisenhower men are fighting a delaying action, hoping that they can get some move from their choice before Taft has piled up too great an advantage.

Privately, the Taft forces also are relying on the influence of General Douglas MacArthur when the time comes to use it. They think MacArthur will be with Taft, and they believe he will carry a good deal of weight. Some of them visualize a MacArthur speech as stopping an Eisenhower stampede at the Chicago convention. It looms as a very interesting battle.

MR. GREELEY displays smallest and largest coin of his collection. (Photo by Ralph S. Coolidge).

Most of us don't give any more thought to coins beyond what they can buy, but to John W. Greeley, 61 St. James street, Newton, the markings of coins have particular meaning; he is a Numismatist.

Before someone thinks we've called green eyed Mr. Greeley a nasty name (for we had to look this one up ourselves), we hasten to explain—he collects coins, specializing in American mintage.

What intrigues the coin collector? One aspect is, coins denote interesting periods in a nation's growth. Mr. Greeley has one of the first American coins, minted in this country when America was English territory. His favorites of later periods are the commemorative silver half-dollars such as, Delaware Tercentenary, Pilgrim, Lincoln Centennial, and epitome of the spirit of freedom, the Concord Minute Man.

Keen competition in obtaining rare coins also exhilarates this hobby. What makes a coin rarer? In 1913, an instant occurred in the change-over of the nickel, from the Liberty head, to the Buffalo. Six nickels had already gone through. Machinery was stopped. There would be no more 1913 Liberty head nickels! The Smithsonian Institute has one of these six coins.

Unusual markings, such as the worded edging on the 1820 half-dollar, a mint mark, or the lack of it, may make a coin valuable or rare. In 1925, Mr. Greeley obtained a 1922 Lincoln head penny, which did not bear a mint mark. Any Lincoln head penny of that year is an unusual find, but one that has no mint mark (because of a defect in coinage), is rare.

This coin is often referred to as the "Broken D" (Denver Mint). Mr. Greeley said of this coin, "A man named Elmer (who owned a coin shop) denied the authenticity of this coin. I'll never forget the look on his face when I showed it to him." And his own face lighted up with glee at the memory.

His coins, which often have been exhibited, number over a thousand. The smallest coin is one of the few foreign coins in his collection. One-third the size of our dime, it pictures King Alfred, of Belgium; was minted in 1841. His largest coin measures 2 inches in diameter. It's a token coin, which one is eligible to buy after completing a tour of the Mint.

Mr. Greeley's interest in coins received its first impetus when he received the coveted coin collection of an old Fire Captain (for whom he ran errands). Only 10 years old at the time, he reacted like a real boy. The collection soon dwindled, in favor of jackknives, snakes, and even a bicycle. Then he found an 1828 penny in his own back yard. Once again, he became interested in coins; this time, for good.

His collection contains coins of all shapes, sizes, and various metals. There are rolled, oval-shaped pennies, rare pink-tinted nickels (1939), half-dimes, silver 3-cent pieces, and nickel 3-cent coins—about the size of a dime.

The 1883 nickel bears the mark of V. In the day of the five-dollar gold piece, "sharpies" used to guild this nickel and make themselves a profit.

There are also Eagle-faced pennies, made of copper and nickel, minted in 1857; also, Indian head pennies, 1859-1863 period. In 1909, six different pennies were issued, examples of which are in the collection.

An Army-Navy token coin has often been exhibited. This was issued previous to the California gold rush. Mr. Greeley's collection boasts a 1799 Trade Dollar, of the type that later was minted by Wells Fargo.

Coins minted in San Francisco bear an "S" mark. "D" stands for Denver Mint. If coin bears no mint mark, the Philadelphia Mint was its origin.

After the Civil War, about 1883, small change was issued as small paper bills. Mr. Greeley has some of these bills in denominations of .10, .25, and .50. The 1923 dollar bill wouldn't fit into today's wallet; it is about ½ inch larger than those now issued. Bills, stamps and bonds are engraved in Washington.

Is coin collecting an expensive hobby? "There isn't much Yankee swapping done," said Mr. Greeley, "one must buy to build a collection." He would like his sons to become interested in his hobby, but he looked doubtfully at his wife, Kay, as he said: "We have three sons, Robert, John and Kevin. Can you imagine five collectors in one family?"

The next time you're handed change over a counter, you may become possessor of a rare coin. Will you un-knowingly pass it on, or will you too develop a "nose for numismatics," to coin a phrase.

Dr. Gezork To Lecture At Tufts Col.

Dr. Herbert Gezork, president of Andover Newton Theological School, will give the annual Russell Lecture at Tufts College Sunday, 4 p.m., in Goddard Chapel on the Tufts campus. His subject will be "The Fate of Religion under Totalitarianism." The lecture is open to the public without charge.

Since the end of World War II Dr. Gezork has gone to Europe three times on missions for the U. S. Government. From 1946 to 1948 he served as Chief of Protestant Affairs in the U. S. Military Government of Germany.

Born and educated in Germany, he is a graduate of the University of Berlin and the Baptist Divinity School in Hamburg. He was an exchange student to America from 1928-1930. He has traveled around the world studying social and religious conditions, particularly in Asia, and was general secretary of the German Baptist Youth Movement until it was dissolved under the Hitler regime. Two of his books, written in German, were banned by the Nazis, and in 1936 he came to this country as a voluntary exile becoming an American citizen in 1943.

He joined the faculty of the Andover Newton Theological School as Professor of Social Ethics in 1939 and was elected its president last year. He is a lecturer and trustee of Wheaton College, and president of the American Foreign Mission Society.

The Russell Lectures, which are considered one of the most outstanding annual events on the Tufts lecture calendar, have been given at the College for more than three-quarters of a century, through the bequest of the late James Russell of Arlington, by liberal, philosophically-minded religious and lay leaders of American thought.

Dr. Leonard Carmichael, Tufts president, will introduce Dr. Gezork and Dean John R. Ratcliff of the School of Religion will deliver the invocation. The Odikons, led by Dr. Thompson Stone, chairman of the College music department, will sing.

It has been reported that the Salvation Army fund drive in Newton is 98 per cent subscribed and every effort will be made to secure a 100 per cent quota this week.

It has not been possible to secure workers for about 25 streets in the Newton Corner area and it is hoped that those houses not covered will send their donations either to the Newton-Waltham Bank & Trust Company or to the Fund Headquarters at 25 Chestnut street, West Newton.

Just a little more effort will put this drive over the top.

World Order Sunday Is Observed

—o—

World Order Sunday was observed Sunday by the First Unitarian Society in Newton at the morning service at the West Newton Unitarian Church.

Using the history of the American frontier as a parallel, the Rev. John Ogden Fisher declared that the world must advance through the United Nations from "Colt's law" to law and order through sheriffs and deputies. The title of his sermon was "A Happy World Is Possible!"

This Sunday, Mr. Fisher will preach on "Social Reform vs. Socialism."

November is set aside as "sermon request month." Parishioners are invited to suggest sermon topics from which the minister will select his Sunday morning subjects.

For October, ushers at Sunday morning services include Willard B. Weissblatt, head usher; Clarence G. Haskell, assistant; H. Carleton Moore, A. Bela Sziklas, Maynard Sears and William L. Tisdel.

Mrs. Edward P. Gwillim is chairman of the church welcoming committee which comprises Miss Eleanor L. Cox, Mrs. John C. Olen and Mrs. Morton W. Haddock.

Businessman Lauds Value Of Papers

—o—

Increased newspaper advertising will be the backbone of an extensive campaign planned for 1952 by the producers of Jolly Time Pop Corn, Howard C. Smith, company president, announced this week.

"We want to reach as many families as possible," Mr. Smith said, "and we believe that newspapers are ideal for this."

"Jolly Time Pop Corn has been on the market for over 36 years. During this time many new methods of advertising have been devised, but I sincerely believe newspapers are still the greatest service to the community, the individual, and the advertiser.

This decision to increase newspaper schedules for the coming year is based on more than 35 years of advertising experience, during which time Mr. Smith has built an enviable reputation for his product.

Sends Out Tax Checks For $650,000

—o—

Checks totalling nearly $650,000 have recently gone out from the Newton Savings Bank to the Tax Collectors of Newton, Needham, Wellesley and surrounding communities. This amount represents taxes collected with mortgage payments in monthly installments for 2,934 mortgage borrowers.

In making this announcement, Joseph Earl Parry, president of the bank, commented, "We have always considered that our services to both the home owner and to the tax collector are important. Equally important is the fact that prompt collection of taxes on a regular installment basis certainly helps in the financing of the residential areas where our offices are located and where we make the majority of our loans for the purpose of home financing. Inasmuch as we are a Mutual Savings Bank, this triple benefit to home owners, to the bank, and to the community, is typical of our philosophy of service."

The Newton Savings Bank, with over 122 years of service behind its present organization is by far the largest mutual institution financing home loans in Newton.

Want More Speed On Parking Areas

—o—

Monday night the Newton Corner Business Men's Association met, with President Fred Mayer, presiding.

A discussion about the parking problem at the Corner developed and steps were adopted for the purpose of trying to effect more speedy action by the City. It was stated that the parking area recently opened up at the Corner was being used to a large extent by persons going to business in Boston and leaving their cars parked in that area all day. The consensus of opinion was that the parking area should be used for those who desire to go shopping in the Newton Corner area.

Herbert Cohne, of Coleman Supply Company, was named chairman of the decorations at the Corner prior to Christmas and it was voted to again erect the huge Christmas tree in the square, and undertake other forms of Christmas decorations.

A suggestion was made that the merchants in the Newton Corner area should illuminate their stores during the evening hours.

and building of a swimming, diving and wading pool at the Albemarle playground demonstrated at their old-fashioned "town meeting." President Ernest L. Sullivan is proceeding to take action on behalf of the membership and citizens on the north side of the city, stretching from Auburndale to Nonantum, under the Newton city charter which allows for such a public hearing, by way of petition and the necessary acceptance by the "city fathers."

In order that such pool plans may be made by the city authorities, Mr. Sullivan is requesting a public hearing previous to December 1.

"Our 'town meeting' at the Horace Mann School demonstrated a definite want and need on the part of Newton citizens on the north side of the city for swimming, diving and wading pool facilities at Albemarle playground," said Mr. Sullivan. He continued, "Mayor Lockwood was the only one to appear officially against the proposal in spite of the many civic organizations who endorsed it. We propose to give him answer at the public hearing we are petitioning for, which under the city charter we are entitled to. Definitely, this is not a political issue. That is the reason why we are giving the board of aldermen until December 1 to decide the date of the hearing which will probably be before the Public Works Committee of which Alderman Kenneth Prior is chairman. On that committee there is a member from each ward in the city. All we ask for is fair treatment from a representative group on the north side of the city. If the south side prefers to present their case that is their privilege."

Hopkins' Speech Is Applauded

—o—

In the shortest speech of the evening and one which stood out for its clarity and emphaticness, William E. Hopkins, candidate for Alderman-at-Large from Ward 7 stated before the meeting held by the League of Women Voters Tuesday night:

"I am William E. Hopkins, candidate for Alterman-at-Large for Ward 7 and I want to bring before you two things.

"First, my job as mechanical engineer for Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation is to spend other people's money for materials, labor and services and getting value received for every dollar spent! If I had not been successful in doing just that efficiently for well over the past fifteen years I would not be continued in their employ. It is my intention to bring to the government of the city of Newton the same principles and practices employed in a large scale co-operative business, and believe me with an annual budget of approximately $11,000,000 running the government of the city of Newton is a big business.

"Second, my endorsement by many leading citizens of Newton such as General Daniel Needham, Senator Richard Lee, Sayford F. Bacon, Israel Friedlander, Mrs. Newell Trask, and many others is a strong indication of the fact that a change in the representation from our Ward is desirable."

In reply to a question from the floor, Mr. Hopkins stated that the present incumbent from Ward 7 had missed about 25 percent of the Aldermanic meetings.

JAMES V. TONER

Several hundred persons prominent in church, civic and business affairs as well as associates at the Boston Edison Company, gathered in St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, Monday morning to pay final tribute to James V. Toner, president of the Boston Edison Company since 1941.

Offices of the company were closed throughout Monday morning during services for Mr. Toner, which were attended by leaders in the public utilities and bank fields, businessmen and representatives of numerous clubs and charitable organizations.

Presiding at the solemn requiem mass was Bishop Eric F. MacKenzie, who represented Archbishop Cushing at the services. The mass was celebrated by the Right Rev. John J. Crane. The Rev. Francis P. Sullivan, served as deacon and the Rev. Robert E. Brennan as subdeacon.

Seated within the sanctuary at the solemn funeral services was Bishop Thomas F. Markham of St. Peter's Church, Lowell, and 34 other priests from throughout the State.

Mr. Toner died at 3:45 o'clock last Friday morning at his home, 14 Lockwood road, West Newton. He had worked all day at his office Thursday, and until late Thursday night in the library of his home on Company papers. He was apparently in good health, as there was no indication of any illness. He awoke in severe pain, and died within a very few minutes after being stricken.

Mr. Toner became a part of Boston Edison organization in April, 1937, when he was elected auditor of the company. In May of that year he was named assistant treasurer and one month later became treasurer. In September, 1937, he was elected Vice President, Director and a member of the Executive Committee and continued to serve as treasurer. In October, 1938, he was designated Executive Vice President of the Boston Edison Company. On December 5, 1941 he was elected president, as successor to the late Frank D. Comerford.

A native of North Attleboro, Mr. Toner was in hiis sixty-fourth year. He prepared for college at LaSalle Academy, received his AB from Holy Cross in 1912 and an MA in 1937. He received a BBA from Boston University in 1921, in the same year was qualified as a Certified Public Accountant and joined the staff of Boston University as an instructor in business subjects.

For many year prior to his association with Boston University, Mr. Toner had established a reputation in the reorganization and rebuilding of many types of business, notably in Boston, Providence and Attleboro.

The sixth president of Boston Edison Company, prior to 1937 Mr. Toner was a nationally known leader in the manufacturing jewelers' business and had served as president of the New England Manufacturing Jewelers and Silversmiths Association.

In the accounting field, Mr. Toner built up a national reputation as author and co-author of several books on accounting and finance. In 1927 he spent several months in Porto Rico establishing a school of business administration at the University of Porto Rico.

In 1927 he moved from Boston to Attleboro where he became a driving force in the revitalizing of a number of industries in that region. He served as President of the Attleboro Chamber of Commerce and as Councillor in the City government. In 1933 he was named a member of the Code Committee for Manufacturing Jewelers and Silversmiths. For some years before joining Boston Edison Company, he was a director of the Attleboro Steam and Electric Company, a subsidiary of New England Power Association.

His tenure as President of Boston Edison, the largest electric operating company in New England, began with the difficult war period. Company growth since 1941 under his leadership was the most rapid in Boston's Edison's sixty-five year history.

On May 18, 1950 he received a special citation and individual award for outstanding statesmanship in industry, being one of 50 individual presidents and board chairmen throughout the nation so honored by the Boston Jubilee committee.

In addition to his duties as President of Boston Edison Company he served as Director or Trustee of the First National Bank of Boston, John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, Attleboro Trust Company, American Optical Company, Union Savings Bank, American Enka Corporation, National Industrial Conference Board, The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and other prominent business establishments. His philanthropic services included membership on the board of the Children's Hospital and the Home for Catholic Children, and he was active in the affairs of United Community Services of Greater Boston. IF you've ever built a house...

YOU KNOW WHAT WE MEAN!

Building costs have more than doubled since 1940 . . . so you can judge the accomplishment of the electric companies in financing 72 new generating units of the most advanced design . . . to keep New England supplied with plenty of economically produced, low-priced electric power.

These new plants and equipment are big guns in the fight to hold down electric rates. It takes wise planning, skilled manpower and super-efficient machinery to help combat constantly rising costs. And that's what New England's business-managed electric companies are providing — with new construction alone running to HALF A BILLION DOLLARS. It takes strong healthy companies to swing such a gigantic program . . . companies permitted at all times to earn a fair return on plant investment.

A FEW TYPICAL ILLUSTRATIONS OF THE SPIRIT OF SERVICE EXEMPLIFIED BY TELEPHONE PEOPLE BEYOND THE CALL OF DUTY

Two telephone men on their way to a construction job saw a painter fall from the top of a ladder. They gave prompt and expert first aid to the seriously injured man, and stood by until a doctor and an ambulance arrived.

A crew of four telephone linemen, at work near the ocean, noticed two small boys clinging to an overturned rowboat, drifting helplessly in perilous seas. One of the men put out in another small boat and rescued them.

In a Massachusetts town, a telephone maintenance man chanced upon the scene of an accident. He quickly applied artificial respiration, and saved the life of a victim of asphyxiation.

In a New England city, four telephone construction men saved many lives by repeatedly entering a burning building and rescuing the trapped occupants.

A telephone maintenance man in a large industrial city saw a man rush from a building, jump into a car and speed off. Suspecting something wrong, he copied down the license number and gave it to the police. They quickly captured the man, who had attempted a holdup.

A cable splicer, on his way for a swim with his family, leaped into a pond, carried a struggling three-year-old to safety, then brought out a second and apparently lifeless tot. His expert use of artificial respiration saved the little girl's life.

It happens every day

Telephone employees are trained to think fast, and act fast, in emergencies — to stay on the job as long as there's need — to help save lives and property. In the records of our company there are many other stirring examples of this spirit of service besides those cited here. Not all telephone people are faced with such perils and emergencies, but every one is ready always to contribute, be it heroically or humbly, to the welfare of the public and the community.

Adult Education Courses to Be Held at Temple Emanuel

The Adult Education Committee of Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre, under the direction of Rabbi Albert I. Gordon, has organized the following courses for the first semester of the coming season. These are scheduled for six consecutive Wednesday evenings from November 7, 1951, through December 12, 1951.

From 8-9 p.m., there will be a lecture course with a question period on "What Has Religion to Say in an Age of Crisis?" The following outstanding leaders in the field of religion will participate: November 7th: Dr. Ira Eisenstein, leader of the Society for the Advancement of Judaism (Reconstructionist Movement), of New York City, will lecture on "An Abiding Faith for our Times"; On November 14th, Dr. Eisenstein will lecture again on "Religion and Social Action"; Dr. Raymond B. Bragg of Boston, Executive Director of the Unitarian Service Committee, will speak on November 21st; on November 28th, Dr. Walter Wurzburger, Rabbi of Congregation Chai Odom of Boston will be presented; Dr. Herbert Gezork, President of Andover-Newton Theological Seminary will be the guest speaker on December 5th, and on December 12th, Rev. Russell H. Bishop, Minister of the First Baptist Church in Newton, will speak.

Hebrew language courses will be offered concurrently from 8-9 p.m. on the same dates. The elementary course for beginners will be given by Cantor Gabriel Hochberg. The intermediate course will be given by Dr. Martin Goldstein, Educational Director, and the advanced course will be taught by Mr. Carl Cohen, an outstanding member of the Religious School teaching staff.

On these same dates as well, Rabbi Albert I. Gordon will conduct a new course entitled, "The Romance of the People," a survey of Jewish history from 586 BC to 70 CE. This period, covering the era of the Second Commonwealth from the end of the Babylonian Exile to the Roman Conquest of Palestine, is of very special current interest and significance. It points up many comparisons and contrasts with the problems of both American Jewry and the State of Israel today.

Registration will take place from 7 to 8 p.m. Wednesday, November 7.

Members of the Adult Education Committee include Clarence Jacobson, Chairman; Mr. Sol Rotenberg, Dr. I. A. Finkelstein, Mr. Abraham Karff, Mrs. Meyer Armet, Mr. Leonard Matthews, Dr. Nathan L. Fineberg, Mr. Frank Metcalf, Mrs. David A. Rose, Mr. Arthur Rosenberg, Dr. Lawrence Perlmutter, Mr. Elmer Gorn, Mr. Louis Marcus and Mr. Louis Hellmann.

Gath Emphasizes 2 Campaign Issues

—o—

At his house rallies throughout the Newtonville-Newton area, Harry Gath, Jr. emphisized two aspects that have entered the Ward 2 campaign during the past few days, namely, his endorsement for Ward Alderman from the United Italo-American organization, comprising some 3,000 members in Newton and the subjects of issues being raised by his opponents.

Mr. Gath said: "My true appreciation of gratitude to the United Italo-American Organization representing all of the Newtons can be best expressed by my letter of thanks to their organization which read, 'Accept my sincere congratulations upon the impartial manner and the able conduct of the rally held by your organization at Columbus hall, Thursday night. It was a definite demonstration of what is needed in Newton in order to inspire independent, free-thinking men to seek office in Newton.

"Naturally, I am most grateful to your organization for their endorsement of my candidacy for Alderman from Ward 2.

"As a resident of Ward 2 for nigh 30 years, as a business and property owner in the Ward, I believe I am fully conversant with the municipal needs in the area. Toward the accomplishment of solving such needs I pledge your members 100% cooperation."

On the subject of issues, Mr. Gath said, "Without evading the question show me a candidate or his sponsor for elective office in Newton who hasn't an issue. It may be a personality who he chooses to succeed himself by hand-picked methods. That is an issue I am positively against. Let every man in Ward 2 running for Alderman stand on his own two feet rather than being leashled.

"For years the improvement of the land facing Washington street was an "issue" until the Newtonville Improvement Association solved the "issue." The Newton Taxpayers Association, representing some 1500 property-owner taxpayers in all the Newtons favor the building of the Albemarle pools. Of course it is an "issue" if the opposition chooses to make it such. To me it is definitely a civic betterment, a recreational need, a definite start toward the solution of the entire swimming and bathing problem in the entire city. "Issues!" Why the rezoning plan was one, the adoption of the 48 hours for the firemen was another. In my book such matters become an "issue' when the opposition chooses to make it such. All I can say in closing is that I am in favor of any "issue" that will benefit the citizens of Newton and especially those who pay taxes or rent in Ward 2."

Rep. Howard Whitmore, Jr., Is Guest Speaker at Selectmen's Meeting

Representative Howard Whitmore Jr. of Newton was the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Norfolk County Selectmen's Association held Monday evening at the Westwood Town Hall. He was introduced by Representative Charles F. Holman of Norwood.

He described the Home Rule legislation which he introduced this year for the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Associations and the work of the Commission on the Structure of State Government of which he is a member.

Representative Whitmore stated that although the Home Rule bill had been engrossed by both branches of the General Court, it had recently been recalled in the Senate at the request of Governor Dever. He expressed the hope that with possible minor changes the Governor would eventually sign it thereby giving to cities and towns proper control over many of their own affairs.

Referring to the work of the "Baby Hoover" Commission he discussed the progress being made toward streamlining and reducing state governmental agencies which will lead to greater efficiency and economy in operation. Twenty or more study unit reports will be filed, of which five have already been sent to the House. It is not expected, however, that any action on the recommendations will be taken during the current session. Representative Whitmore urged the selectmen to familiarize themselves with the reports and to advise the Commission of any suggestions or ideas they might have concerning them.
